George K.
Diary of A Punatic
2024

Life in Puna, Hawaii Island

Some names and details have been changed to protect the mischief-makers.

January Ianuali

01,02

Puna! One of Hawaii's remotest areas, where everything is conceivable. Spirit lovers. UFO invasions. Lizard wizards. Runaway trees. Loveable witches. Breaking a paddle on the King's head. This is my account how the turns of the US Empire reverberate in this sweet surreal corner.

I enjoy rural Hawaii with my wife Lou and 50 pet ducks. Lou always wanted a pair of pet ducks. So we ended up with 50. Lou always wanted a husband too, I'm glad she didn't make a sanctuary with 50 of us too. It would require a much bigger house.

A day in retirement begins by crawling out of bed before sunrise, when grandma duck, Chocolate starts to honk "Quackfast!" outside my yard door. She is my alarm clock that lays eggs. As I carry the duck food outside, 25 excited ladies throw themselves at my feet. I got my adolescent age daydream of a busload of fawning groupies fulfilled except that these have feathers. At 60 one starts to go more after eggs anyway. You realize that you desire a good meal more often than a good whatever you figured I'll say. (But I like how your think!)

Note: for image zooms, etc. to work correctly, I recommend reading this in the newest (free) Adobe Acrobat Reader. I'm not affiliated with Adobe.

January Ianuali

03,04

Living on Hawaii island, January means stepping out into a verdant yard, sugarcane or banana plants taller than your house, and sunshine so strong its reflection off the leaves almost blinds you. Possibly also 3-4 car wrecks around the house if you are born here. I believe the Genuine Local Authentication Society will reject your application unless you can show at least 3 dead cars and 2 broken appliances scattered around the lot, with plant outgrowth from them measuring at least 1 foot high. If you can show chickens nesting in them too, you get a knight's title. If there are pickup trucks you only find when you mow the bush, they make you a honorary chief. I think.

The US national debt has passed $34 trillion; each citizen now "owes" over $100,000 of imaginary debt. People protest in several cities against the Jan. 6th entrapment of Capitol protesters.

Cupid and Nupid, the two kids with the most angelic face on my block specialize in chicken thievery. They carry a rooster, and case out the yards, who has a nice fighting age roo'. If they spot a candidate, they drop their scrawny boybird by the fence, which makes the target rooster fly out and fight it. They grab both distracted birds, and sell the new catch to an uncle in rooster breeding. I heard their father is in politics. Hey, as Aunt Marcie said, no one is perfect, even a chicken thief family can have a black sheep.

January Ianuali

05,06

My corner of rural Hawaii is a mosaic of 0.3 acre house lots and same sized patches of 50ft tall exuberant jungle. Amelia Earhart could be in that jungle, playing hopskotch with dinosaurs, you wouldn't see it. On the 2-lane main drag of our Pahoa town sometimes you can still spot a group of black pigs strolling by the road. Or hot lava oozing through in psychedelic red and yellow swirls, making astounded hippies mutter, "Dude, what Kimo put on my Sativa?"

Joe Biden's budget proposal today lists 4 times as much tax as last year. Half of the reported adjusted gross income of everyone. During settler times, if you needed a house, a few neighbors got busy, and 4 weeks later, there was your house, free and clear. Economic progress turned these 4 weeks into a lifetime of work that doesn't even guarantee that you'll have a house. Half of the homeless surveyed recently are employed. Economists who prefer to distribute our resources to themselves call this the "optimum distribution of resources". Relax, just a dishonest mistake. When we settled America, it had 7 acres of land for everybody, With modern economics they found a way for you to not afford yours.

Our corner of the Big Island of Hawaii contains a majority of Woodstock flower seniors (antique "children") and military vets. My friend the Colonel is a prime example. He could hotwire a toaster to communicate with NASA but he rather hypnotizes his chickens (or vice versa? Hard to tell) in his cabin.

January Ianuali

07,08

There used to be a human sacrifice temple called Wahaula on this island. Lava goddess Pele didn't like it, so Kilauea erupted and covered the site with lava 700 years ago. There was also a resort development project in Kalapana, recently. A large swath of land was bought up, the dozers stood ready to tear into land. Lava goddess Pele didn't like that either, so Kilauea volcano erupted and covered that site with lava too. You gotta hand it to Pele, she has good taste. Dear Pele, have you considered visiting Anthony Fauci?

There are reportedly 8 foot tall aliens in Miami. Why panic, are they yelling "IRS!"? Just bus them to New York with all the other aliens. Once they see the Big Apple, they'll blaze a trail of fire back to their home galaxy. The priciest New York real estate are residences that make it seem that one is not in New York. Why settle for imitation absence, when I can just genuinely not be in New York and save millions of dollars?

The Colonel is a fine connoisseur of mind altering substances. All of them plus maybe 20 more. He could go to a volcanic eruption, inhale the smoke, and yell down the crater, "Needs more sulphur!" Occasionally he picks up a lady like Kee at the Saturday night naked drumming circle at the beach. Nominally no one in Puna knows anything about this circle. It's quite a sight, 'allegedly'. I never went there, put down that broom honey. It bothers me when you read what I type.

January Ianuali

09,10

Most people have no idea that Polynesian oral history has at least 3 levels to it.
1. Surface meaning. "Mo'o (pronounced "mo-oh") are shape-shifting lizard spirits, often appear as monstrous reptiles, tiny geckos, or humans. Hills resembling a giant petrified lizard may be an inspiration."
2 Deeper meaning. A Mo'o legend might exist to teach, or chronicle history. Or have a hidden meaning as an euphemism.
3. Moonlight meaning. Oh, hi Mo'o! You came to see me?…

In today's news, the FBI leaked that it had been investigating a high-class $25,000 a night brothel in Virginia used by several members of Congress. They didn't name any names. The message seems to be, "deny us a new FBI HQ building and your name will appear on the brothel list." Iraq's prime minister announced on TV that U.S. military presence in Iraq is coming to an end. It's a bad year for bordellos of every sort.

So I'll be able to share one consciousness with anything I pick, Mo'o? My ducks, a tree, or even something inanimate, like the Federal Election Commission? Wow! Thank you, lizard wizard. (Maybe the geckos to whom I'm always nice are his family?) Just out of curiousity, how did you pick me, of all people? The one guy on the block who doesn't even use the funny stuff. Whaddaya mean "to stop spoiling the statistic"?

January Ianuali

11,12

A 50 cent summary of Hawaii
Kimo was on the beach, when a Mesoamerican raft came in.
-We're a modern culture. Let us show you the modern ways.
- Aloha, go ahead, use that empty valley by the river…
The foreigners created huge plantations, where you could do backbreaking labor all day instead of just fishing for 10 minutes to eat like a primitive. And advanced governance which did cause mass famines, but solved them too with human sacrifice. Then they had to scram home because their advanced culture hit an advanced crash. Since fat lots all that modernity did for them, the valley was left to the jungle to reclaim.

Kimo's great grandkid was on the same beach, when Anglo-American boats came in.
-We're a modern culture. Let us show you the modern ways.
- Sure sure, use that empty valley by the river…
The foreigners built buildings and ships that get hot like a mofo on the sun. Then got flying machines to blow those heat traps up. (And I, stupid, would have just opened a window...) They even built a Hospital where you could go in with sniffles, get jabbed and die fast - stuff to make all the faith healers pale with envy. Then they had to scram home because their modern culture hit a modern crash too. Since fat lots all that modernity did for them, the valley was left to the jungle again.
Kimo's great grandkid's great grandkid was on the same beach, when a UFO hovered near.
-We come from Planet Horkmork…
- The valley is thattaway.

January Ianuali

13,14

Hawaii island is surrounded by ocean, the world's biggest food pantry. What stops any tourist from just walking into the Pacific and picking dinner? Well, safe places to enter the ocean are on average 10 miles apart in Puna. OK brave warrior, you barreled into the 200 ft long shallow water zone between two big waves. Next thing to consider, in this pantry you are food too. About 40 species of sharks live here, some up to 50 feet long… hey, that's so cool how you walk on water to scram to the shore. Relax, the lifeguard won't tease you. There's none. If the strong coastal current washes one out to the sea here, we just float like men. To Chile.

The US attacked Yemen. There is a massive crowd chanting "Fk Joe Biden!" outside the White House. Maybe Joe is one of them. According to the latest survey, every single US Senator is taking money from Israel. I suspect we are only finding this out because China started to offer them more.

I met Kee the first time on a walk.
'Hi neighbor.' - She appeared - 'I'm Kee'

'Hi Kee, I'm George. Your banana plants look lovely."
'Did you know, if you wear underpants, you're tracked?'
'I see. So that's how the government got JFK.' - I played along. When in Rome...
'No, his head was li'that. The government is here to help us.'
'OK Kee, see ya later. I'll make sure not to wear underpants.'
T-shirt: "Punatics. We're all here because we're not all there."

January Ianuali

15,16

You might be from the Big Island if your Roomba is a chicken. As I type this, my hen is staring at me from the door, in an OK Corral pose. Her glance says, "Someone took the eggs from my nest. It wasn't you. Someone pooped in your shoe and scratched your wife's flower out. That wasn't me. Gimme corn now, or I poop."

The world's richest bankers are partying in Davos again since yesterday, while Germany begins to get paralyzed by protests. Farmers are rolling into Berlin on harvesters on the 8th day of their protest, joined by foreign farmers, truckers, and German people. The whole dystopian WEF theatre feels like a psyop to elect Trump. Even the various parties suing Trump all overplay undemocratic vainglory so far past believable that the theatre just doesn't feel genuine.

Consciousness hopping is pretty neat, actually. I saw an upright, oval rock, the size of a phone booth and I decided to confer with it.

-Hi, rock!
- Sorry I'm busy. Can you hold? You can listen to some funky rock
- I am, already. You look so young, not a day over 1000 years old.
- Thank you. And thanks for not walking a dog.
- Why, what's with dogs?
- They pee on the smartest thing around them
- (Thinking back) Danngggg it, Fido.

January Ianuali

17,18

People drive slowly on the way to Hilo just to make the island feel like a large continent. Life is full of unexpected turns; one day you're here, and the next day, boom! also. Especially if you are headed to Hilo.

A new bill in Maine says the government can take a child if the parents oppose the kid's sex change surgery. My hunch is there's some product out there that makes more & more sex-ambiguous. But it's so profitable that instead of yanking it, they just want us to pretend all is well as long as possible.

I know Lou is miffed at me when she begins flyswatting bugs on the floor next to me with the boom of a gun shot. "Oh sorry, did I wake you up?" she chimes innocently as I jump up. "Sweetie, it's enough if you hit the bugs. You don't have to hammer them into the floor." – I remark, but she can't hear me. She's listening to a monk's sermon about the sanctity of all life. "We are all one consciousness flowing through different bodies that should receive equal love…" SPLATTTCH! (OK, maybe this bug didn't…) "…Each life is priceless in its fulfilling of a purpose…" PRRANNNNG! (this roach is going to be much less fulfilled,…) "Life energy flows through all of us…" THONKKK! (not through this bug, I'm sure…) She feeds the bugs to a gecko, which eats them ("I better eat this before she slaps my head too …") as I watch. Then she makes dinner for me next and I eat it as the gecko grins at me. ("He he, your turn!")

January Ianuali

19,20

I do use one mind altering substance in fact, it's coffee. (It's stumped when it finds nothing to alter.) They grow coffee here in Kona, it's quite famous. So, thinking about the grandzillion of dollars we will save by growing our own coffee instead of spending 10 cents a cup twice a day on ground monkey poop, we bought a coffee seedling. Planted it by the road, and bzzzzinggg! it grew 10 feet tall before you could say cheesecake. Yay, the bajillion red berries look lovely. Now one has to pick and peel each, grind them and roast them too? Wait a second, dangit.

So I enjoy our homegrown coffee by telepathy. I walk by the plant, its branch slaps my face from the wind, and boy does this make me alert and jumpy. With all the little bity ants that fall on me.

You know the US is in trouble when a pillow salesman drops more proof of 2020 election fraud than the DOJ, FBI, CIA, NSA, DHS, USPIS, and Congress combined. 353 counties in 29 states had voter registration exceeding 100%. PA mailed 1.8 million absentee ballots and got 2.5 million back. The good part is that then we taxpayers are not liable for the public debt. It was borrowed by impostors, acting without our authorization, aka vote. Bill THEM! How's that for a Great Reset, Joe Biden washing dishes till eternity to repay $20 Trillion.

Shopping in an antique bookstore, I asked the salesgirl if she has a Music Minus One CD of Beethoven's Moonlight Sonata. She said sure, and gave me a drink coaster. 1:1.

January Ianuali

21,22

Over 10% of Puna has been covered by fresh lava in the last 35 years. Yet local lore deems it a major transgression to use lava for something. No worries, I'll just walk in the air. Sometimes I ponder, I live 15 miles from the volcano and I feel still cold at night. How close should I have moved to, into it?

J. Alex Halderman demonstrated in court how Dominion machines were hacked and altered their tabulations using only a ballpoint pen. John Kerry wants to remove 1.6 trillion tons of carbon dioxide from the atmosphere for $1.6 quadrillion. I wonder if his wife screams every morning when she finds his face in the bed. New revelation: in 2017 the CIA and NSC plotted to remove Donald Trump from power for messing with their Ukraine child trafficking. Is this why the Romans nailed down Jesus Christ? "Hurry, the CIA is coming!..."

My first visit to a lava tube… a little smily face spider lowered from the ceiling on a thread to my face height:

- Hi, you are in my living room. Are you my lunch delivery from Omino's Fly?
- No, sorry, I just came to see what's here.
- Dark. It's a revolutionary new thing. You don't have that in Pahoa, huh.
- So what you guys do here all day?
- Watch tourists bump their heads into a ceiling sag with a 'DONKKKK!'. It shortens the sag.
- I see. And what you do when there's no tourist?
- We lengthen the sag back for the next one.

January Ianuali

23,24

Hawaii island is a continent developing from lava flows at roughly ten times the speed of Australia. On average it grows 42 acres a year. Where the lava flowed once? Everywhere you have land now. Without lava, you'd be in 4 miles deep ocean, playing dominos with sharks. And you would be the dominos.

Wikileaks released moon landing cut scenes filmed in the Nevada desert. Google's AI deemed most of the US Moon landing photos fake. So now either those are fake, or AI can commit huge mistakes. Or maybe both. Sometimes I honestly wonder if Russia hacked the Pentagon's AI, and all AI answers are typed live by some guffawing Russian cyber soldier. "Buy from China the bioweapon to fight China." "Jab your whole army with the mickey China sells you." "For world domination, cut off your boys' schlong"…

The US has Superman. Puna has Koa. The man who foils crime. He can dribble a bowling ball. He keeps skydiving until it works. He can hear sign language. Koa can unscramble an egg. He can have sex in the back of the car while he drives. Heights are afraid of him. He can touch MC Hammer. He can do the same thing over and over again and get a different result. He gets stronger from whatever kills him too. He can make Klaus Schwab own nothing and be happy.
"Is there any evil force in the world that could stop you?" I asked Koa once. He reflected: "Only my mother-in-law."

January Ianuali

25,26

I'm sitting on top of an active volcano, with hot lava flowing mere steps under my butt. Circling at half a million mph around a nuclear bomb we use for a lamp. In a social hierarchy based on who squirted his penis into whose orifice. And I worry about expired yogurt?

The border showdown between the Biden administration and Texas is intensifying in media reports, but in reality just a mile down from Eagle Pass the gate is open. It's not a showdown just a show.

I ran into Kai and Jimmy on a dirt road, near a palm tree full of car wrecks. They cooked okolehao booze from ti leaves. They also sell car parts. I asked how's the tonic coming along.
'We're halfway there, Kai's only seeing circles yet' Jimmy said, tossing wood on the fire. A huge cloud of smoke rose up. 'I see, I see!' Kai pulled his glasses off, displaying two clear eye circles on his blackened face like a reverse panda. "I see good and evil fight! Bicycling dolphins! Plaid rigatoni! Grandpa with a wall clock lower body!
'Aha, the moonshine is ready.' Jimmy said, expertly. I bought a ready bottle just to support them. They gave me a 4Runner rear view mirror for change.
'Don't you guys worry that some driver might hit that palm tree after this strong medicine?' I joked.
'Doh. How you think we get the car parts?'

January Ianuali

27,28

There is a cow sanctuary near Keaau that's a home to 200 old cows. I can't believe they didn't name it the Mooseum. Names are not always our forte. I bet half of the tourists who see the sign for Hilo, mumble, "make up your mind". I drove past a Hilo outfit that says "Poke to your taste" for years, getting naughty ideas, until I learned that it sells sushi.

News of the day: Federal agencies are looking to use AI to fight crime. I can soo picture the test:
Government: Super AI, what criminal at large killed the most people recently?
Super AI: You, with your Covid jabs.
Government: Ooops! We can't have AI that actually works. Let's try Chat GPT, instead. ChatGPT, 16:0=?
ChatGPT: 16
Government: I like it.
ChatGPT: Oh, this is what you like? OK. There are 723 genders, yogurt is racist, and climate causes blood clots.
Government: Love it, love it! Gimme 20 of this

We had a guest who forgot her mildly alcoholic cocktail on the lawn. I gave it no thought until I saw 2 of my drakes stagger in the grass with a goofy grin.
Me: What's happening, ducks?
Drakes: The juice by the lawn chair? Your Shuh Tzi... Your Schitz... Your Tzutzu.. the cat drank it, hee hee hee...

January Ianuali

29,30

Sometimes we don't get rain for a couple of days and the grass begins to turn yellowish. How do you make rain fall the Puna way? (No silver iodide please, we're Punatics.) Here are some reliable local methods to bring about abundant rain:

- Paint the house
- Hang the laundry to dry outside
- Say "I'm going to walk to lose weight" and open the door
- Run out of gas on a highway
- Boast loudly that the tsunami can't reach your house … and if all else fails
- Have the WEF announce Global Drought

A Hong Kong court ordered Evergrande Inc., China's biggest developer, which owes $300 billion, to liquidate. Among the largest buyers of its debt are BlackRock, HSBC and UBS. An expert is someone who makes bigger mistakes than you for more money.

On my town's main street, right next to the homeless who sells good luck charms, is the main local advertising board. Its ads depict a thriving entrepreneurial environment. "For sale shark repellent, used only once"… "Palmistry over the phone, $70" … "Sofa with stuck cat, cheap" … "Learn to spot scams, $100" … "For sale: bulldozer, driven only by a little old lady to church" … "$600 dog. Make it look like you have something worth stealing" … I think most of us work in show business. Some just don't realize.

January Ianuali

31

One thing about Hawaii is that it's visited by hurricanes. As soon as any of these swirlies comes anywhere near, Civil Defense puts out warnings, close beaches… Me? The last time someone noted, "Hurricane Fred is on track to hit Hawaii", I just replied "Great, let me see what I need it to do around the house." You could almost hear the "Screeeech!" braking as the hurricane turned an abrupt 90 back to the open sea.

Smoking gun emails released to Attorney Edward Berkovich prove that Biden White House knew that Covid vaccines would kill millions. The state apparently works by turning statists into a statistic.

The Sage is a local legend. It took me weeks to find him.
-Most people would expect a lonely man, high up on the mountain, who sits in a cloud of smoke and talks to animals.
-That's a meth head. Leilani, a drink for my friend, please.

-I thought I'm the one expected to offer you something?
-Whoever needs your money doesn't know dookie from nookie.
-(Laughing) Yeah, mankind seems a bit slow. They didn't grasp this in 2000 years.
-That's what the media is for. To keep it that way.
- Well, at least we descended from the trees?
- Most of us still live in the trees. We just diced them into lumber.
- My view of evolution just faceplanted.
- Nothing wrong with faceplanting. That's all what rain does.

February Pepeluali

01,02

Our ti plant (Cordyline) has many uses. You can make a skirt for the wife from it, or distill a brandy for the husband. Now there's a dilemma... News title after the eruption: "Volcano in Hawaii may spew fridge-sized refrigerators". Unless it's Photoshop, someone had too much ti…

An FOIA request shows both the FBI and Department of Justice knew there's fraud during the 2020 election but covered it up.

Fritzie, the 3-year old grandkid of Grandpa Kurt, the German realtor is visibly smitten by Honie, the 3-year old dark-skinned granddaughter of neighbor, Auntie Latasha. A whole girl made out of chocolate? What more could a young boy want. The two kids ran behind the tall Hawaiian ferns, spying Kurt and Latasha sweet talk.
Latasha: It's hard to find the right answer to life's questions…
Kurt: Plus, if the correct answer makes one unhappy, how is it the correct answer? So the answer is not what is correct but what makes one happy. (Both smile at each other.)
Fritzie: (whispers to Honie) My drandpa is a little tuttoo.
Honie: (whispers back) That's otay, so is my drandma.
Kurt: The best part about our age is that it doesn't count much what we do. (Puts his arms around Latasha.)
Fritzie: (hugs Honie, imitating Kurt) The betht part about our athe that it doesn't tount much what we do (they giggle)
There is hope for mankind.

February Pepeluali

03,04

As Hawaii's lava travels underground, it often leaves behind a tunnel called "lava tube", as big as a train tunnel. The longest lava tube yet discovered, the 42 mile long Kazumura stretches from Kilauea's misty flanks to the sunny palm groves of the ocean shore. Lava tubes are everywhere on this island. During the last eruption 5 years ago, steam would erupt from them on both sides of Kalapana Road. Officers would watch if people really closed their car windows to drive through the section. They could tell who didn't from his wide, 'deer in the headlights' grin.

Former Pharma insider Calley Means confessed that the true goal of pharma ads on TV is not to sell drugs but to buy off the news media. The Senate's new spending bill includes $60 billion in funding for Ukraine. Because when Ukraine falls, the Deep State's money-laundering racket falls with it.

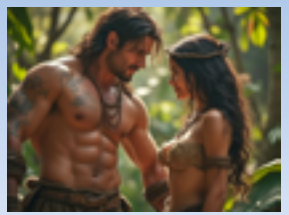

Ever since "Just say no" and tougher drug sentencing laws came about, they sell twice as much narcotics as before. Why they even print on eg, shampoo what it contains, then? Like anyone is going to look up what "plutonium-eboladioxin" is, anyway. Just write "Nothing good" and done, 20% more will buy a bottle. If you put, "stuff that makes your butt fall off" too, 40% more. "Crap so toxic that Belzebub will come over to snort up what you spilled"probably doubles the sales.

February Pepeluali

05,06

In pre-missionary Polynesia, for a man and a woman to have a roll in the hay was considered just a game. Only a man and a woman eating together was considered a sin. Now, I don't know which makes you happier, but … hmmm. Imagine if they brought back that ancient law. Half of our public representatives would be from the restaurant business.

US Senate Leader Schumer just threatened to send US soldiers to fight Russia in Ukraine if the border bill (with $60 Billion for Ukraine) isn't passed. We don't have a king, huh.

One of my handsomest drakes is Quackistotle, the philosopher duck. Shyish in demeanor, he never fights. The flock was sitting in the grass watching something leave a line in the sky
'What bird is that?' quacked up Michelle, a young female.
(The Mo'o's consciousness gift works great!)
'Looks like an object reaching the orbital velocity needed to balance gravity's pull and inertia, approximately 17,000 mph at 150 miles' answered Quackistotle.
'That's why no girl will date you when you babble crazy conspiracy shit.' quacked Jill, Michelle's friend.
'I'm sorry, dear. It's an ostrich then.'
'See, if you talk normally, it's much better. What's an oystrich?'
'A bird that's up to 300 lbs in weight. Their large eyes also act as binoculars, as the epithelium of the lens is cuboidal and the ciliary body is supported by a hyaline cartilage.
'Mo-om! He is talking crazy to me again!'

February Pepeluali

07,08

From the centre of Pahoa, you can follow a semi-marked road up into the mountains if the 1000 ft climb and the rocks don't deter you. The shaky section begins by a field of cows who leisurely watched me bonkytonk past. A gray cow looked at me, "Ten alfalfas says that you'll be flying down." On this road, cow? Deal. An hour later, way up in a tree fern clearing, a boar the size of a sofa began to trot towards me from a hundred yards. Yikes! I turned around, and zipped down, more flying than biking. I only stopped at the end of road. To pick ten alfalfas and feed them to the grinning grey cow.

A Counsel found that Joe Biden willfully kept classified information, yet declined to push charges. Joe's only too senile to be sued, but not to run the US. A national toxicology program report declared that Fluoride makes children dumber. No word about what the media does yet.

One of the families on our street came from an exotic remote archipelago in the Pacific. The father complained to me that his son just wouldn't study

Him: I am at a loss what to do with the kid.
Me: I have a recipe book you can borrow…
Him: Meh, let's not be too hard on the kid.
Me: Why, chefs earn good money…
Him: Oh, that's what you meant the recipe book for?
Me: What?
Him: What?

February Pepeluali

09,10

A fading memory: I was driving near where Pu'u O'o's hot lava flows into the ocean when the Hawaii State Warning System pinged my cell. "Incoming Nuclear Missile. This is not a test."

These guys, anything excites them. Look at this lava eruption here. Big flash of flight? Check. Mushroom cloud? Check. Melted rock oozing by me? Check. This is a typical day at the office, dudes. Did you SMS me so I notice there's an atomic bomb today too? Thanks for the warning, I'd have missed it. ... Except there wasn't a nuke. I think? I can't remember.

On the US continent, squatting is becoming a nationwide industry. In Atlanta alone 1200 homes are taken over by squatters. One company is running ads on Instagram offering the keys to a prime squatter home for a one time $1400 fee.

Mollee began her career by offering future telling in bikini by the Murtamurti mini shrine. For a small fee the shapely young voyant would predict for lonely tourist boys with uncanny precision if a cute local girl will sit onto their lap or not. Medium and client would proceed to the bush behind Murtamurti to find out, and the wooden idol would soon come to life! It'd begin to sensually wave with its shrine, in sync with the bush the shrine was tied to. An absolute miracle!

February Pepeluali

11,12

A fitting illustration to how much traffic our street has, the boys are playing badmington on the asphalt since hours. And my ducks are watching it from the yard.
- What are they doing? - whispered Musco, a young drake
- Trying to impress the girls - answered an elder.
- Like when you old drakes let the girls eat first - said Musco
- That's not impressing, dummy. When their stomachs are full, they can't run away fast when we try to hump them.

Since the Covid pandemic started, workers around the world lost $3.7 trillion, while billionaires gained $3.9 trillion. One downside of having an Empire run by a single trillionaire (or toaster if it's BlackRock's Aladdin) is that when it goes moon bat, the whole Empire goes moon bat in lockstep with full marching band and float parade.

My wife won't let me enter the ocean at the nearby shark's cove. Even though I keep reassuring her that I won't harm the sharks. The 3 sharks spend most of the day away by a beach anyway, ogling shapely tourist butts. (Kinda like tourists.)
- Sharkley, you are giggling. What's up?
- It just hit me, if you are what you eat, we are the only real humans.
- No human meat for me, lest I start to work 9 to 5 too.
- Even if they all come to you wrapped in a submarine?
- Nah, I don't have a can opener.

February Pepeluali

13,14

About 90% of the homes in Puna aren't on the water grid. We catch rain. At my home, rain falls every night, I never got a bill for it yet.
Sophisticated city folks will deem this appallingly backward. Then they'll pay a monthly $150+ water bill with a $50 minimum charge, and grumble why it rains. Don't mind us Punatics not doing this. Everybody knows we are crazy.

Four out of five Americans are being exposed to chlormequat, a chemical found in popular oat-based foods — including Cheerios and Quaker Oats — that is linked to reduced fertility, altered fetal growth and delayed puberty. Since chlormequat typically leaves the body within 24 hours, such a high concentration of positive tests indicates that we are regularly being exposed to it. Maybe the FDA is just trying to breed unpoisonable Americans.

My wife, talking to our duck Lucky instead of me. "You will have little kids that are just as dingaling as you, ha."
Me answering in Lucky's voice, "Who chases her lil feathered son around with a broom?"
My wife, to Lucky, "Who pinches my butt with his bill every time I interrupt my husband on his laptop?"
Me, giving Lucky a treat as we beam at each other, "Lucky, sonny, here's another treat to NOT do this."

February Pepeluali

15,16

The reason why we don't have a commercial airport in Puna are those FOLLOW ME trucks that airports use. Any Puna airplane would reply, "Don't tell me what to do" We are the proud and the indomitable. Once upon a time the third prize of a local competition was a handshake with a top local official. One of the contestants asked:

- If I place second, can I kick him in the butt?
- No way. That's the first prize.

If you think this is only a joke, Pāpa`i Bay, the only place where a commoner hit untouchable King Kamehameha 1 so hard on the head with a paddle that the paddle broke in two, is in Puna. And he was pardoned by the King, who became much wiser afterwards. Sayy, it makes one wonder...

Epstein victims sued U.S. government, accusing the FBI of allowing and enabling his sex trafficking for two decades. France passed a law that could punish anti-vaxxers with 3 years in prison and a fine of 45,000 euros. The House just impeached Homeland Security Secretary Alejandro Mayorkas.

I was told a native witch named Mona may be living near my street. I never considered the prospect very seriously, but I haven't seen Cupid and Nupid for two weeks. And now there are two new toads at my lily pond that look strangely like them. Did she really …? Nah, if she could, the Legislature would be just toads. But the way those two frogs dive head first into the pond in panic when my rooster struts by - hmm.

February Pepeluali

17,18

Every time there is a bigger rain, Hilo's promenade turns into a 1-foot deep lake. We should make the most of it. Hold a walk on water contest, duck races, a lawn boat parade, a wet muumuu competition, a bicycle drawn water ski run...

A study found exercise twice as effective at treating depression than anti-depressant drugs. Mike Benz's interview with Tucker Carlon revealed that the Military Industrial Complex knew they'll steal the 2020 election to get a war going. Both Covid, the election fraud, and the war(s) are their doing.

It's interesting how trees chat as you walk into their jungle.
- Mmm, food. Not ripe yet, it's still moving.
- Oh, it's one of those critters who think they're the pinnacle of evolution. And that cow farts cause an apocalypse.
- Evolution cracks me up. They didn't "descend" from the trees, they got drunk from fermented fruit and fell off.
- So you don't believe in natural selection, Barkybark?
- Well, I could as well. My grandpa ate Charles Darwin. Show me a doctor who lives as long as us.
- Isn't evolution about reproductive advantage? Like us having both female and male organs, so you're never stuck for a date?
- Yeah. They'll pick a whole bouquet of our schlongs, bring it to a date and still not get laid with all of that. Unreal.
- Yup, they cut off Louis XVI's head, and he didn't grow a new one in 250 years. We'd sprout one in a week.

February Pepeluali

19,20

Hawaii island's only freshwater lake is Lake Waiau, located at 13,020 ft. above sea level on Mauna Kea. It is heart shaped. Goddess Pele, the deity of lava and rain must be trying to tell us something. During the 2018 lava eruption the darker lava lake sported a bright yellow smiley face too. Lake Waiau is an anomaly in the peak region of Mauna Kea as everywhere else the ground is unable to retain water. The exact nature of the impermeable ground layer of the lake is still unknown. Between 2010 and 2013 the 100 yd lake shrank to a width of 10 yd. It subsequently returned to its normal size. Originally a sacred site, the lake was occasionally visited by members of the royal family.

Russia and China have announced they will completely stop using the US Dollar in their commercial transactions. One wonders how much of this chaos is intentionally caused to distract the world from the fact that the "everything bubble" including US National Debt is inflating exponentially towards a scary dive.

I just saw an ad about a runaway turtle. See, that's why I prefer chameleons. No pet is more trouble-free than a chameleon. You don't even have to get one. You just wave to your tree when you talk with someone. "Hi Louie! It's my chameleon. Don't see it? Yeah, it's really good, ha."
It saves a fortune in pet food. And vet costs.

February Pepeluali

21,22

Pu'ukoholā National Historic Site is Hawai'i's largest heiau (temple) and was built under the order of Kamehameha I. Once it was complete, Kamehameha sacrificed a rival chief on its altar and set sail to unify all the Hawaiian Islands under his rule. The founding of the Hawaiian Kingdom can be directly associated with this temple.

Less mentioned detail: the rival chief, who knew that he will be sacrificed, cut his family jewels off before his arrival. "So much for your sacrifice."

Interest payments on $34 trillion US national debt will exceed defense spending this year, $870 billion. Bill Gates sold 100% of his stocks in 50 major companies and only kept three firms' shares.China's foreign direct investment plummeted in two years to $33 billion from $350 billion. The illegal alien gangs pouring into New York City are unstoppable, says police. They steal phones and jewelry and rob bodegas.

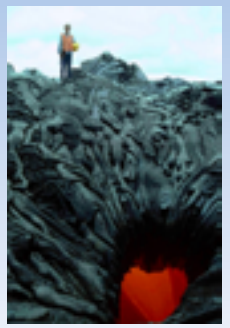

Ever since my wife bought a talking mynah bird she mostly tells it to shut up. To hear her berate it for not listening is karmic hilarity but I hide it. She asked me to teach her mynah a phrase. I tried to get it to say "Birds are not real!" for weeks but the bird only looks at me with a "did you cook with an open microwave?" stare. It thinks I'm a people brain.

February Pepeluali

23,24

The West Kamokuna Skylight, also known as the lava portal to hell, was a natural wonder located in Hawaii. Looking like a mass of twisted bodies sliding into a pit, it was a lava tube collapse that lead down to the depths of the earth. Subsequent lava flows covered this one up but another may open whenever lava flows. So if Paradise is not your cup of tea, don't worry, we got something for everyone's taste.

There are 91 electric vehicle carmakers in China. Only one is making a profit. A new whistleblower revealed that, at the heart of Biden family influence peddling was an effort by China to control U.S. oil and gas resources. The FDA has just removed the informed consent requirement from anything they deem "Minimum Risk". Which includes Covid vaccines. Customers probably began to realize that the secret of long lasting health is to not buy anything approved by the FDA...

They say the dragons of the legends are actually dinosaurs. It's also claimed that the nearest surviving relative of the Tyrannosaurus Rex is poultry. So Lucky, my pet duck is a pet dragon then? He loves to walk up to me and ask for a piece of whatever I'm eating. This time I was eating an apple.
Me: Here, have a slice. Want another?
Lucky: (Tries it, shakes head) No, this is too healthy for me.
Me: What do you mean, too healthy?
Lucky: I'm afraid if I eat this I might live forever. Got sausage?

February Pepeluali

25,26

If you live in a richer country, you can afford to buy pricier things to fail on you. Our things aren't becoming more useable just more shiny. Eventually everything around us will be a mirror, and that's when we'll realize, most of us don't even care much to look at ourselves. We only stare into shiny gizmos to ignore each other. They are means of self-lobotomy like alcohol, drugs, ideology or media.

NATO announced they will make Ukraine part of NATO. Jacob Rothschild died aged 87. If the Rothschilds are truly worth $500 Trillion, that divides to $40,000 average taken from every human since 1760 thru fronts called "government", "banking", etc. Politics is organized corruption.

Brainstorm sesh at the Puna Progress party HQ (aka tavern):
- For some reason, the PeePee Party name is not attracting voters, gang. Can you guys think of a good, honest name?
- Mafia Public Relations is honest. What you think, boss?
- Oh, forget it. Let's identify instead a cause that electrifies people. What local residents hate the most?
- Politicians.
- Dang, that's us. What they hate second most?
- Thieves
- Dang, that's still us. What they hate the third most?
- Liars.
- Dang, that's also us. OK, let's just advertise "change". If we win, we'll mandate that everyone must commute by canoe.

February Pepeluali

27,28

Garage sales are loads of fun in Puna. The most unique item I ever found was a set of White House towels.
I know these towels, there's a White House souvenir shop at Washington Dulles airport. But it just seemed surreal to happen across another set here. So I asked the seller lady:
- Aren't these made in China?
- Probably. Everything in my room is made in China. Except me.
- So how can I be sure that these are real White House towels?
- I stole them myself!

Everyone erupted in laughter. OK, she won the leg pulling.

Google's Gemini AI program was caught declaring that communism is the future for humanity. Hundreds of farmers descended upon Brussels, clashing with police and spraying officers with manure, protesting the EU green agenda. Edward Dowd, ex-BlackRock analyst stated that for the central banking system to survive, they're going to need a war so big it's going to have to be World War 3 without nukes and / or an alien invasion to justify the spending it requires,

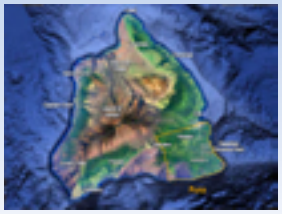

Every time I get up at night, I steal around in the pitch dark like a ninja to not wake up my wife. As long as ninjas slam into doorposts with a thud. Even the geckos fall off the walls. I can't fathom why women have this bizarre aversion towards geckos falling on them. They are as terrified of these tiny lizards as we men are of dishwashing.

February Pepeluali

29

The Big Island of Hawaii is the largest island in the United States. It's nearly twice as large as all the other Hawaiian Islands combined. Almost all of the world's climate zones are represented on it. There are freezing temperatures at the Mauna Kea summit, around 30 degrees Fahrenheit (-1°C) at night. Proper attire like winter jackets, gloves and hats are a must. Average temperatures at the coast start at 75°F (23°C) - beach weather. The island is the youngest of the chain, only 800,000 years old. It's the first Hawaiian island discovered by the Polynesian settlers. My corner of it, Puna is slightly smaller than the island of Kauai. But not for long.

A top Canadian pension fund sold a Manhattan office tower on Park Avenue for $1, sparkling firesale panic. Red Cross now refuses blood from vaccinated people. We never before had so much media and so little information. 1) Who spiked the Covid jab to foil whose world takeover? 2) The Bidens play King Richard and lose wars to clobber whom? How this relates to the jab spiking? 3) Why government bi-partisanly lied us since 9/11 just to build up to this mess?

I wonder if my pet ducks have a happy face all the time because they react differently. A car drives by, they mate. I paint a board, they mate. The neighbor shaves, they mate. As if semiotic and multimodal representations of existential conflict in fictional discourse about Etruscan skeletal biology didn't even matter.

March Malaki

01,02

Ka Lae, the windswept southernmost part of the island and of the US, is where Polynesians first arrived in Hawaii and settled as early as 124 A.D. The peninsula is grasslands pock-marked by kiawe trees bent into fascinating near-horizontal positions due to constant wind. From here there's no land due south for more than 7,000 miles until Antarctica. If you need a place to practice walking on water, this is it.

Major US entitlement programs such as Social Security are moving toward insolvency faster than anticipated because the birth rate is so low, says E.J. Antoni. There is a strong correlation between higher incomes and lower birth rates, with countries where GDP per capita is below $1,000 per year usually seeing women give birth to more than 3 children, while women in countries with $10,000 per year tend to have no more than 2 children. BRICS countries have begun creating a new digital payment platform.

My wife got philosophical today.
- We are getting old…
- No worries baby, we'll live to be 200.
- 200? How? Even reaching 80 is hard.
- It's because people are doing it wrong. Trees live hundreds of years. Did you ever see a tree jog?
- So what is the secret of long life?
- Just check whatever the CDC says. Then do the opposite.

March Malaki

03,04

Hawaii island has the lowest average cost of living of all the main islands. It has the lowest fair market rents, and the lowest typical yearly expenses, including food. Maybe this is why the only reliable dieter in our house is our Buddha statue. Whenever my wife leaves a dessert offering in front of him, it remains untouched for 3 days. Buddha is our designated dieter.

The Supreme Court ruled by a 9-0 decision that President Trump can appear on all state ballots for the 2024 election. New "encrypted RNA" vaccines are being developed where the RNA would piggyback onto a wild virus and spread from person to person without knowledge or consent. Vaccinating everyone, whether they like it or not; unimaginable horrors lie ahead.

I still remember our last visit to Oahu. We were shopping for exotic spices and cooking implements in Chinatown, when I spotted an advertise for the world's most exotic dish: "CRAP SOUP"

Oh, dear. Please tell me it's a typo... Usually you can't buy any gadget from China that isn't labeled "Smart", "Lucky" or "Elegant". Not here. "Crap Soup! Ideal For You!" Boom. New marketing idea: brutal honesty.
Maybe this is a candid camera ambush? So I didn't walk in. I'll die stupid. Ah well, it's not like there is an alternative.

March Malaki

05,06

There are 200 Hawaiian words for rain. And I hear about 199 of those on my roof now. I won't say we had a strong rain this week but my lychee tree just opened up an umbrella. My corner of the island gets so much precipitation, I have to weedwhack concrete. The difference between the verdant windward side of an island and its drier leeward side is the more prononced the taller the mountain separating the two is. I live on the windward Hilo side because I love plants. I can watch my wife tending to them all day long.

Victoria Nuland announced her resignation as Biden's Undersecretary of State. Oregon recriminalized certain drugs after a surge in overdose deaths resulted from Portland's fentanyl crisis. 1000 National Guard soldiers were deployed to subway stations in NYC "to combat violent crime." Organized crime members outnumber police 22 to 1 in Chicago. If you count political leadership, 23.

Poha lives near me; a very handsome fellow. He is one of the most talented local musicians. He also grows the tastiest mangos and papayas on the island, I overheard some ladies say. His home deliveries are booked for a week ahead. Recently the news spread like wildfire that Poha's ukulele was stolen. The whole island was up in arms for a month who could commit such a dastardly crime. Turned out, some joker hid it in Poha's bed. I guess he doesn't spend much time in it.

March Malaki

07,08

According to the Hawaii state constitution, any island not named as belonging to a county therefore belongs to Honolulu. This makes Honolulu the largest city in the world – stretching approximately 1,500 miles, about halfway across the 48 mainland states. I'm surprised the US Navy didn't beat down 3 poles near Taiwan yet and declare most of the Pacific Honolulu yet. I'd almost bet Henry Kissinger already suggested it.

A large government study has revealed that there is zero dental health benefit to drinking fluoridated water. Research published by Frontiers in Psychiatry revealed that not only are antidepressants useless, they significantly increase one's risk of suicide. Leaked messages show top pro-LGBT doctors know transgender hormones cause cancer and death . Good news of the day: worms living near Chernboyl have developed a new 'superpower' - they appear to be immune to radiation.

Running errands, I just walked into a Hilo supermarket when they played an ad for the bakery. A female voice waxed, extatic, "Our bread is always made from scratch...!" Holy mackerel Batman, really? You're not just talking a dusty old loaf and inflating it with a bike pump?
You really start from scratch, there's a wheat field in the back? So that's where all the store clerks are, ha. I thought they are busy dusting off each other.

March Malaki

09,10

Papakōlea Beach is one of the handful of green sand beaches in the world. From the end of the paved road, you have a 2.8-mile round trip hike, or you can take a paid 4x4 shuttle. From the drop off, a set of rocky stairs takes you to the beach made of green crystals known as olivines. While rare as beach material, olivine is the main component of the Earth's upper mantle. Scientists estimate that more water may be contained in this mantle than is in our oceans. All you need is a really big juicer to get to it.

Americans could owe $6.5 trillion for wars in Afghanistan and Iraq, and that's just the interest. Since George W. Bush, war costs haven't been included in the regular defense budget. Dengue fever has spiked fourfold in Brazil in 2024 following the release of mosquitos by the UN. More and more celebrities sport a black eye in public. It must be the New World Order: face paralysis from the vaxx for us peasants, black eye infection from Epstein's for the rich. No Digi ID needed, social status shows by what's kapowed on your mug.

Yes honey, I'd like to display this hand carved paddle on the wall. Many homes in Hawaii do this. It's a historic symbol. What you say, in your landlocked state no one puts a shovel on the wall? Maybe it's because no one broke a shovel into half on your President's head yet. But really, I like this paddle because of the fine carvings, why are you giggling now?

March Malaki

11,12

In 1819 Hawaiians realized that the ideology doesn't help and abolished it. Who else ever accomplished this? Not many. Imagine Mainlanders going: "If an economist knew how to create wealth, why would he need a salary? If people aren't fit to govern themselves, how are they fit to govern others? Why do we heed health advice from experts who die younger than us? How could we have a Public Debt to anyone from issuing our own money? "

Whistleblower John Barnett was found dead in his truck just days after testifying in lawsuit against Boeing. He alleged between other Quality Control issues that 1 in 4 breathing masks would not work in an emergency. A journalist asked B-787 builders, would they fly on the planes they were building? 10 out of 15 said no. Well... they "fixed" the whistleblower.

My town has several restaurants. Exotic Dinner is one of the oldest. Exotic usually means, "puzzling for locals". Not their cooking, though. That is puzzling for everybody.

- What cuisine is this? – I asked the waiter.
- Where are you folks from? – he asked back.
- I'm Kenyan - I answered. (I'm whiter than a fridge.)
- Then it's Tibetan.
- Sawasdee! My wife is from Tibet!
- And Bolivian fusion.
- Hola! I studied in La Paz. So what's the entrée of the day?
- Spaghetti.

March Malaki

13,14

Hawaii was the first US state to make it a law that 1% of the construction cost of any new public school or state building must be for artwork.

A lot of people know Hawaii by the colorful artworks that Frank McIntosh created for the Matson Line. Fewer know that McIntosh never saw Hawaii. It's just like seeing frescoes of heaven by painters who only heard about it.
How does one even tell if a work of art is off or not? Just look how Leonardo Da Vinci painted Mona Lisa, his grandpa and people still take it for a masterpiece. (OK, I paltered the last sentence, but you'd be amazed how many "fine connoisseurs" nod profusely when I utter it with a poker face.)

Commercial real estate distress has surged by a staggering 480% over the past year as interest rates climb. Florida Governor Ron DeSantis is mobilizing the State Guard to ward off Haitian migrants. Why? If there are actual cannibals coming, I'd just bus them to Washington DC so that Joe Biden can practice DEI with them. Let's see who 'includes' the other better.

I troubleshooted for half an hour in the low light why my laptop's cursor is doing a frenzied dance of electric slide. Only then I noticed the gecko napping on the warm trackpad (which I don't use). It must have taken a swig out of my energy drink

March Malaki

15,16

Kanaloa Octopus Farm is located in the industrial part of Big Island near the airport. You get to meet the octopus and learn about its life cycle. Guests get to see octopus eggs, babies, and adult octopuses; even get "play time" with them. Octopuses have a brain in every tentacle; a total of 9 brains and 2 hearts. There are nearly 300 species in the world, from the giant pacific octopus (up to 30 feet) to the tiny wolfi octopus, less than one inch in size. They have a wide variety of mating habits. Some get together like humans. In some species the females are cannibalistic so males squirt them from a distance or detach their penis, throw at them and scram. "Have fun, I gotta go, I left the iron on!"

Stephen Moore, a senior economic adviser under former President Donald Trump, told Newsmax that if President Joe Biden's tax plan is implemented, taxes on businesses in the United States would be higher than in Russia and China. Yemen's Houthis have vowed to expand their attacks on international shipping and have claimed to have new hypersonic missiles that could dodge the West's defence systems.

Lou has a new hobby: Platonic massage. She rents all sort of how-to massage videos from the library, watches them, then asks me to perform all those methods on her. I remarked:
- Honey, the massage only slims the person doing it...
She stretched in the bed with a sweet smile:
- Yeah, but only for men.

March Malaki

17,18

Waipi'o Valley is also known as "Valley of the Kings." It is about one mile wide and six miles deep. Towards the back it splits into many 'fingers', each one with its own waterfall. Since 2022 the only means of access for visitors is a shuttle tour. The valley is home to the longest black sand beach on the island. Cute wild horses wonder around in the valley waiting for treats from the guests. Blissfully unaware that if all 6 theoretical constructs from isoquants to the Phillips curve were to be purged from economic textbooks for lack of empirical validation, the rest would not make sense.

China's Defense Ministry announced that China is ready to intervene militarily anywhere if the United States or NATO decides to attack Russia. The CDC released a 148 page study on myocarditis after Covid vaccination and every single page is completely redacted. They now openly confess that the reason to ban TikTok is to protect Israel from criticism, not Chinese spying. Tyson Foods laid off 1200 American workers in Iowa as it plans to hire 52,000 migrants for its factories.

Pondering in bed: with all the trouble in the world, whoever invented this big Pacific Ocean to keep us thousands of miles away from any continent was a smart man. Also: had I studied to be an electrician instead of getting my university degree, today I'd be an independently wealthy pile of ashes.

March Malaki

19,20

Residents of Hawaii have a higher average life expectancy than the inhabitants of any other US State. We live so long, the only thing with a lifetime warranty in my room is me.

Speaking of reliability: they announced the Apocalypse in 1557, 1643, 1721, 1793, 1834, 1912, 1958, 1973, 1999, 2004, 2009, 2013, and every other week now. Not once it worked worth a dang. Sounds almost like software updates.

A homeowner in Queens was detained for trying to kick squatters out of her own home. A report from the Government Accountability Office claims that 70% of the F-35 fighter jets are not capable of conducting combat. Apparently we have a team of healthy actors playing the President in public. So why they need to play up dementia & fumble? They could just act cognizant, unless this whole Presidential dementia is a gimmick. Is this a replay of the WW2 swindle when they showed videos of US soldiers training with wooden guns to Japan to incite them to attack Pearl Harbor? "We have a feeble President and our warplanes can't shoot, attack us!"

For some mysterious reason, Lucky the duck attacked my wife's yellow straw hat while we weren't around. He pulled the rim half off with his beak, and stepped on it. The first thing we saw was a scared Lucky sprinting across the yard, with a straw hat rim around his neck like a hula hoop, and the hat top bobbing up and down onto his head as if a giant Pac Man were trying to gobble him up. Fight winner: Straw hat.

March Malaki

21,22

The Big Island has more than 100 beaches & 266 miles of coast. Punalu'u Black Sand Beach is a 1.5-hour drive from Kona. There are green sea turtles that lay on the sand. They are endangered so visitors are asked to keep a distance. Even if a turtle lovingly hugs you from behind, do not to pet it back; they are vulnerable to human bacteria. Just say, "not today dear, I have a headache." and swim away like there's no tomorrow.

The National Toxicology Program will no longer investigate evidence linking cell radiation to harm. In 2018, they published clear evidence of a link between 2G and 3G cell radiation and cancer tumors in male rats. Research in 2019 likewise showed DNA damage in the brain, liver and blood cells of exposed rodents. Now with blazing 5G - big quiet. Canada is rolling out a social credit system, where citizens' bank accounts are linked to obedience scores. The US Army is seeking to bring back retired soldiers to fill manpower shortages.

More than a decade ago, I was visiting the Aloha Tower in Honolulu, Oahu. It's a giant clock tower with a walk-through base. Someone tapped my shoulder:
- Excuse me, why is the bottom of the Aloha Tower hollow?
Trying to pull my leg, aren't ya. OK, I'll play along...
- That's where the cuckoo comes out. It's a big cuckoo clock.
- Makes sense. Thank you!- and he left. Not one chuckle.
Wait. He was serious? Yikes. Lucky I didn't say it's a toilet.

March Malaki

23,24

The Hawaiian word for banana is mai'a. The banana was introduced to the islands by the Hawaiians. By the time of Western contact, about 70 different kinds of banana were known. Ma'i in Hawaiian means genitals, so does this makes bananas dick fruit? (Phone rings. "Hello, yes. My book? Yes sir. I can put it up where, sir? I see. Thank you sir.") Well, there went all my advertising from Manana Banana. I wonder what could have upset them?

Russia detained 11 people in connection with a terrorist attack in the Crocus City Hall. Overdose from synthetic opioids now kills 80,000 Americans a year. A new study says blood transfusions with the blood of vaccinated people causes heart and nerve damage.A secret RCMP report warns Canadians may revolt once they realize how broke they are. Eg., many under 35 are unlikely ever to be able to buy a place to live.

One lovely local tradition is, when the child get 1 year old, to take him to the ocean shore, and show him to the family protector (aumakua) shark. I never saw how this celebration is exactly done, but I could improvise it. "Little Joey, see that 30 foot shark in the water? That's the family protector. If you leave your room untidy, he's coming to see you." I bet Joey will blaze a flaming trail to his corner to make order...

March Malaki

25,26

Whales visit Hawaii from December to May every year to mate. Humans also visit Hawaii around the same time to wed. When the two species are done tying the knot, they go on tours to watch each other: what the heck they are doing?

Baltimore's Francis Scott Key Bridge collapsed after a cargo ship hit the bridge's pillar after multiple malfunctions. In Portland's homeless crisis "tiny homes" are taking over city streets. Not a peep about toilets...

Our lot came with a blue Thunderbird in the back. A tree grew through the car, giving it a canopy. Near it funky mushrooms pop up after each rain. My ducks eat the shrooms, and start grinning like mad. Then they go sit in the car.
What could they be doing in there, tripping? Oh wait, I got the mo'o's consciousness gift now, I can tune into theirs…
Quackistotle: Hee hee Quackbert, you got 3 purple heads…
Quackbert: Say, what happens if I poke this Portal button on the car dash? >Click!< (Thunderbird lunges into a time portal, comes out tearing through a desert 200 at mph)
Saul of Tarsus: (Riding a horse to Damascus) If the Heavens only gave me a sign… (Thunderbird with ten quacking ducks slams into his horse, sends him flying head first into a dune.
Quackbert: (In abject panic, pokes the Portal button again with his beak. The car rematerializes in the yard.)
10 ducks: (Relieved) Phewwww. Nobody tell the boss.

March Malaki

27,28

Absentee landowner Annaleine Reynolds who purchased a vacant house lot in Hawaii was surprised to find out a $500,000 house was built on her property by mistake. A local developer hired PJ's Construction to build about a dozen homes on the properties that they bought in Hawaiian Paradise Park. By mistake they built one on Reynolds' plot. Morality: watch who sneaks into your property. They might not just abscond with some valuables but also build a house.

Leaked UK documents have emerged that show medical staff were ordered to euthanize patients with Midazolam to boost the numbers for "Covid deaths". After impacting 80 bird species, bird flu spred to dairy cattle in Texas. An investigation found evidence that Planned Parenthood is selling body parts of aborted babies. What's their motto, Black Livers Matter?

The neighbor family was foreclosed on and evicted from their house a month ago. They left, their house stands empty and remodeled to look brand new for the next buyer. What stayed behind? Their cat. It's as fat as ever. Its only care is eating, sleeping and mating. Bill Gates or Warren Buffet cannot afford to live worry free like this cat.
They sell all these wealth schemes about making your first million or whatever... even if you succeed, you'll never be as worry free as this cat. George's Free Trick Of Financial Success: know not a clue about modern economics. Be a cat.

March Malaki

29,30

The Hawaiian silversword, known by its Hawaiian name ‘ahinahina (“very grey”), is an exceptionally rare and endangered plant unique to Maui and the Big Island of Hawaii. They flower once, sending up a spectacular flowering stalk often taller than a human. On Hawaii island there is a variety, the Waiākea silversword that lives in wetland bogs. It is as rare as Sasquatch and known even less. Silverswords live between 3 and 90 years or more. (Love that scientific precision, eh?)

Political consultant Raquel Rodriguez was caught on hidden camera by Project Veritas charging $55,000 to get Joe Biden 5,000 votes. Lebanon, Syria, Palestine, Yemen have all been bombed by Israel this week. In response the United States authorized the transfer of billions of dollars worth of bombs and warplanes for Israel.

(Me going to sleep petered out in near pitch dark)
Heyy, there is a flying moose with a guitar outside my window. Fine for all I care, g’night.
(Me waking up as the first light of the morning)
Oh, that’s a felted fleece rug that the wind twisted on the clothesline.
Frog starts to croak at me under it: “Friggit! Friggit! Friggit!”

March Malaki

31

There is an ancient legend in which Pele the volcano goddess covered a man with lava for refusing her advances. If she is as cute as people paint her, she’d only need to cover me with lava to shake me off. Lou, honey, wait, it’s an artistic hyperbole, put that broom down. Ow! Ooo! Ouch! Yikes! Eee! Oww!

New York City’s AI chatbot, powered by Microsoft’s Azure AI services, has been found to provide incorrect and potential illegal information to users. Just rename it AInocchio.

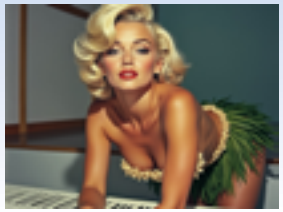

Celebrating Easter is a big deal. Adults gather in the yard, eat drink and be merry to the sound of music Kids hunt for colored eggs. Our ducks watch and comment as always Quackbert: Hey, that egg looks a lot like Beaky’s baby. But her kid was never neon blue?
Chocko: They color the eggs.
Beaky: Ours? Can’t they color and hide their own eggs?
Quackbert: Humans lay stinky eggs.
Beaky: Great, then they’ll be easy to find.
Quackistotle: Birds, this is a huge celebration for humans.
Jill: That’s why no girl will date you when you babble crazy conspiracy shit. What humans celebrate today? That they painted Beaky’s baby blue?
Quackistotle: Humans celebrate that their divine leader came back to life 3 days after being killed and buried. By painting Beaky’s baby neon blue and saying that a rabbit laid it.
Jill: Mo-om! He is talking crazy to me again!

April Apelila

01,02

The boldest April Fools Day trick a Prankenstein ever pulled in Hawaii was to annex the Kingdom to the US in 1893. Dear Mainland Americans, do you want to rethink this? What if we decided that it's Hawaii who annexed the US instead?
- 330 million of you would be instantly living in Hawaii without having to move
- You'd have 1 king instead of 541
- There would be no IRS (nu?)
- Hawaii never warred with another country. When one does something 2pid we just humor them. (As you can see...)

- The Kingdom used its own money instead of borrowing $35 Trillion of its own dough from the Rothschilds. ("Hi, US National Debt Collector. This is Hawaii, wrong country. Buh-bye!")
- Our #1 sport is hanky panky, not baseball. So think about it..

Taiwan had a 7.8 quake. OSCE reports that no one participated in the Ukrainian presidential elections on March 31st. The voter turnout was 0%. US taxes buy so much democracy...

Larry on next street, is a total gadget freak. He bought a Net camera to monitor a tree. A cat washer / dryer. A beard shaver with remote control. He preorders the latest antiques and bought suppositories against credulity. He was showing off his latest acquisition, an earthquake detector to me
- This baby will blink if there is a quake bigger than 8.
- My armoire has a better warning function
- It can blink too?
- That's nothing. It tumbles on me.

April Apelila

03,04

Hawaii has interstate highways. How, when the only thing next to it is thousands of miles of Pacific Ocean? For when the tide is really low? OK, with enough volcanic activity, it could eventually get close to another state, but I wouldn't hold my breath. A friend finally explained it to me:
- They are called interstate to get federal funding.

- I'd never let someone call me stupid names for a few grand.
- It's not a few grand. It's $309 million a year, George
- $309 m...? Call me Interstate George.

The Federal Reserve posted its first net loss in 108 years, $114 Billion in 2023. Cancer-causing forever chemicals were found in Band-Aids where they can get directly into blood through open wounds. Gaza officials say Israel killed 14,500 children in nearly 3,000 massacres.

My ducks in the pouring rain, before I bring breakfast:
- Shitty weather, shitty weather!… (Brooding like a Norwegian playwright)

My ducks 5 minute later, after I brought breakfast:
- Wonderful weather, wonderful weather!... (Dancing like a Rio carnivaler)

Lucky, my duck "son" who has a 24/7 food bowl indoors:
- Weather? There is weather? I'm a room duck. Got sausage?

April Apelila

05,06

I never saw a computer last longer than 15 years. But the 800 year old conch shell that Hawaiians blew to communicate from many miles still works as well as on Day One. It's so loud, when someone blew my trusty old black conch behind my back, I almost did a backflip.
After each time they prank me like that, I need to re-dab the conch at the blowing end with black shoe polish again.

Recent testing revealed 92 potentially carcinogenic molecules and a fungicide in Bill Gates' "synthetic" milk. Over the past three years, China's and Hong Kong's combined stock market nearly $5 trillion of capitalization.

I'm not saying that my minivan is old, but I'm getting attractive trade-in offers from the Smithsonian. Thanks, but I really like how reliable it is. Or maybe I'm just a total ignoramus at noticing that something conked out,
If I turn the van on and the engine runs with the "Aoogah!" sounds of an old horn, it just means that it's excited to see me, no? The last time the handbrake quit, the car just rolled away, down the hill, and in on the mechanic's double doors with a thud, By the time I caught up with it walking, it had a new $59 crankulator and everything was fine again. See? It's got modern self-healing tech I don't even need to understand. But OK, if I get rich, I'll get one of those gasless sleek rides that even refill themselves with free green energy. A Horsla.

April Apelila

07,08

One of few things that makes Hawaii a gazillion dollar real estate is that it is thousands of miles away from any continent. And trees can grow on it.
Yet mankind plans spending a fortune to vacuum the Pacific Ocean Garbage Patch up. Why? I'd just mix it with expanding foam until it's an island. There will be coconut trees, sea birds, and other life on it in no time. A few years and no one will guess that this "pristine natural habitat" once was trash.

Bonus: if you don't like where this island is, you can fasten a few outboard motors to one side, and you can careen around the Pacific to wherever you want it. Try that with Hawaii, ha.

The German government has just made an astonishing admission, revealing that the entire COVID-19 pandemic was a hoax designed to vaccinate the public with mRNA and impose unwelcome new laws. NYC homeowners are told they will be arrested if they turn off electricity, water as squatters take over. A report has found that nearly 6 in 10 US doctors received payments from Big Pharma between 2013 and 2022.

I just met Kai of the moonshine cooking fame. He now shows a talking parrot to tourists. He put his bird on my finger.

- Kai, this is a night heron – I remarked
- I'm a parrrakeet! – the bird said in a guttural voice, while Kai drank a glass of water. - Forrr $5 I tell the futurrre!

- OK "parrot" – I handed Kai $5 – Tell me the future.
- You can say good bye to yourrr fiverrrr...

April Apelila

09,10

The only sounds one typically hears on our sunny cul-de-sac are various birds. Doves, mynahs, chickens, finches, hawks, lawnmowers… (That's a bird the FDA approved for Emergency Use.) The chirpies are louder today, calling for the rain to fall. We reached an agreement with my wife about Climate Change that it's my fault

For the first time in history, the Fed is reporting billions in losses weekly. The Biden administration is giving nearly $7 billion to a project run by a former top exec of Solyndra, the company which accepted $500 million in loans from the Obama administration and never paid it back.

Clem and Tizzy are two jolly homeless winos near the center. A vacationing Climate Change activist accosted them.
Activist: Hello gentlemen. Are you aware that Climate Change could blow up Earth?
Clem: Tiz, we won't have to get up early!
Tiz: Why, now we do? We could lose our jobs as a bums?
Activist: We may see hurricanes big enough to carry a house!
Clem: Hey Tiz, he says, a wind may bring us a house!
Tlz: Is he reta.. (measures the very tall activist up) a politician or something?
Activist: OK, here's something that might touch you. People who live by the coast might be swept away by tidal waves!
Clem: Yay! If Angelina Jolie floats by, I'm ready to rescue her.

April Apelila

11,12

Music seems to be linked to consumption of mind altering substances in every culture. In the Pacific region, ceremonies featuring music also included the consumption of kava, a numbing beverage made from fermented awa root. As mankind finds stronger and stronger substances to consume during a performance, the music gets simpler and simpler as the musician gets more and more blotto to play. At this rate, the Billboard hit of year 2200 might be a lonely soft thud of a singer's faceplant. They might call the genre "Duhhh?".

A WHO official admitted in court that vaccine passports may have been a scam. Vegan Impossible burgers increase risk of diabetes and heart problems - new study finds you're better off with actual meat. Iran fired more than 200 drones and missiles at Israel in retaliation for the assassination of 12 leading Iranian military officers in Syria last week.

It rains on and off since several days, so I spend most of the daytime just pondering things. I should really build electronic cats. They would do nothing much just like real cats. If you petted one, it would make a purring noise simply by the friction of the soft material; it would be a cat like pillow. And it would have "wireless charging", with 10,000 year battery life. Try that, smartphones! Then I could repeat the same idea with electronic politicians. Heck, I could be the guy who built the next President. It would do nothing just like the real thing...

April Apelila

13,14

By Hawaii law, everyone must stay 100 yards away from humpback whales. So if you were harboring secret plans to catch and smuggle a 40 metric ton humpback whale home under your hat through TSA, don't even think about it. Unless you can do it from 101 yards away. "Oh, the whale? I know nothing, officer, it just followed me..."

General Christopher Cavoli warned that Russia's military has grown stronger and has recovered faster from its war in Ukraine than the U.S. thought was possible. "Russia does not intend to stop with Ukraine." he stated. According to Israeli sources, the heaviest damage that was inflicted on the Israeli government during Iran's retaliatory attack was the secret intelligence base in Jabal al-Sheikh (Mount Hermon).

Christian is a smooth rascal. He saw a cute girl in a Farm Outlet sales apron, and followed her back to the store.

Chris: Excuse me, Miss?
Tanya: Yes?
Chris: (points to a 50 lbs bag that says "Balanced Poultry Nutrition") My chickens are unbalanced. They all tumble to the side. Can I use this feed for them?
Tanya: (giggling) Are you sure you aren't the one tumbling?
Chris: Oh yes, every time I step on a rake. Care for a date?
Tanya: (playfully) I'm sorry, I only date Chinese Indians
Chris: Wonderful! My name is Long Tongue. How does Friday sound?

April Apelila

15,16

The original safety net: in ancient Hawaii, one advanced in social rank by holding a feast where one gifted food and personal goods to needy people. Each celebration raised the social rank of the holder by one step. So people competed in holding these feasts in roughly the same manner how modern citizens compete who owns flashier things. The top rank one could climb to in the system was not king but god. Yes, after enough sharing feasts, one could theoretically become a deity while still alive. Seems a better sharing incentive than just not going to jail for taxes.

BlackRock CEO Larry Fink suffered a meltdown during an earnings call over the company losing billions of dollars in contracts due to the firm's woke ESG agenda. Foreign direct investment into China declined to $33 billion last year, the lowest amount in more than 30 years and 82% lower than 2022

2024 AD
I pulled a large guava off the branch to eat it
My wife: Hon, put it into water first in case it has worms in it
Me: (grinning) Bah, more protein (>>Chompp!<<)
2442952 AD
The Galatic Devourer of Planets grabbed Earth to eat it
Its wife: Hon, put it into water first in case it has people in it
Devourer: (grinning) Bah, more protein (>>Chompp!<<)
A good thing we banned promiscuity and plastic straws.

April Apelila

17,18

In July 2020 Hawaii had a sustained deep quake of 0.002Hz. It calculates to a wavelength of roughly the Big Island's size. Basically, our island hummed a song to us.

In one day the typical average rainfall for an entire year fell in the UAE. The disaster looks man-made.

Hiyo and Daro hit on a lucrative idea: they'll be the local landmark! Hiyo climbed up a tall tree by the road and started to yell, "I'm an empire!" Tourists began to stop by and take selfies with the Empire guy up the tree.

Many threw singles into the hat at the bottom. Occasionally a visitor would ask:
Visitor: What makes you an empire?
Hiyo: I'm the chosen one by the mighty Daroth!
Visitor: And where is this mighty Daroth?
Hiyo: (points at Daro) Right there on the next tree!
Business boomed. Then the tree trimming crew arrived.
Trimmer: Unko, come down, we need to trim this tree
Hiyo: Avast, ye terrorists! (he pelted them with fruits)
The crew has seen worse. So they brought by Kee. She looked up the tree, saw Hiyo in torn shorts and nearly swooned.
Kee: He wears no underpants!... My kind of guy!
Hiyo climbed down to her faster than a squirrel with a tail on fire. The couple ran into the bushes to make little Empires.
Love conquers empires.

April Apelila

19,20

The last time I stood in line at the downtown Honolulu Post Office, it had a Pick Up Window with a big sign stating it.
I was still single at the time, waiting behind a pretty lady, I couldn't resist chatting her up:
"Excuse me may I pick you up? Just following the sign..."
She turned back, sized me up, and replied with a giggle:
"You are cute. Sorry, I have a boyfriend already."
Hey, she sized me up first...I was told, a woman can decide in 4 seconds, whether she wants to have kids with a guy she just saw.

So that's why my sister-in-law's car bumper looks like a lasagna noodle. She isn't driving, she's picking a husband.

The UK's lone munitions filing factory exploded, just 2 days after a fire erupted at the Scranton Army Ammunition Plant, the main US producer of 155mm artillery shells. A prime NYC office tower (100 Wall St) will be sold at a massive ~60% 'discount' to the $270 million it last sold for.

Folks, I just found the secret of living 200 years. You simply...
Wife: Honey, look, a YouTube video of a cat playing violin!
Me: Oh yes dear, very very nice. What was I about to say? Sheesh, I forgot. Anyhow, we can end all crime on Earth by...
Wife: (Pops back) Honey, did you see my soup slicer?
Me: No, but I'll keep my eyes open for it, dear. Where was I? Can't recall. But we can prevent any Earth apocalypse by...
Wife: (From next room) Hon, can you come hold this curtain?
Me: Sure, love. I wasn't doing anything as far as I remember.

April Apelila

21,22

Hawaii's state bird is the nene. It is the rarest goose in the world. It almost went extinct in 1952, with only 30 remaining, but their numbers are growing again. Each nene is banded and it is unlawful to feed them. Did anyone ask them?

The US Dollar has been devalued by 98% since 1913. In 1950 the average house was $6,000. In 2024, average house cost $450,000. In 1970 the average wage was $9,500 a year. The average wage in 2024 is $43,000 and it's not enough to survive in most areas. So the US economy tanked already, most Americans just didn't realize yet.

My ducks ate some mushrooms and went into the Thunderbird again. Let's tune into what they experience in the car...
Quackbert: This Portal button rubs my stomach. (Pushes it... Thunderbird lunges into a time portal, exits on a savanna)
Beaky: Hey, what are those groggy monkeys on the tree?
Quackistotle: They are the hominids of the Miocene who love to eat fermented fruit. The ancestors of humans.

Jill: That's why no girl will date you when you babble crazy conspiracy shit
Quackbert: Chocko, turn! Turn! We'll hit the tree!
Chocko: Me? I thought you're driving?
(Crash! It rains groggy monkeys from the tree with soft thumps on the car. Mankind descended from trees!)
Quackbert: (Pokes the Portal button. They reappear at home.)
Chocko: (Relieved) Phewwww. Nobody tell the boss.

April Apelila

23,24

I was sick these two days from the flu. Living halfway between the US and Asia means, every 5 or so years I get a free sample of Asia's latest bug. So I feel a headache for 2-3 days, drink ginger tea with lemon, eat steak, and it's gone. No Big Pharma whizbangry needed.

US subprime auto loan delinquencies soared to 2008 levels in just three years, and mortgage demand plummeted to its lowest levels since 1995. The values of apartments and commercial real estate are down as much as 30-40% from the peak in the middle of 2022. Moderna has admitted that the Covid mRNA shots that it and other pharmaceutical companies produce cause deadly "turbo cancers." A bombshell new peer-reviewed study by Dr. Jan Kubicki and his team has provided conclusive scientific evidence proving that carbon dioxide emissions in Earth's atmosphere cannot cause "global warming."

If space aliens ever try to invade Puna on the sly, it will be easy to tell. Just look for some kids after dark driving down the main road with "borrowed" UFOs.
Captain Cook, ancient Hawaii's equivalent of a space alien had to quickly withdraw from Hawaii's shore too because his sailors traded so many of this sailboat's metal nails for a night with the charming local maidens that the ship was starting to fall apart.

April Apelila

25,26

If you ever pondered sailing or paddling to Hawaii: some people do that indeed. Tez Steinberg rowed a 23-foot boat from Hawaii to Australia alone in 126 days. He arrived to Queensland after 5,000 miles and two million oar strokes. Occasionally his craft faced 25ft tall waves. Prior to this, he rowed solo from Monterey, California to Oahu in 2020 in a record 71 days. Many of the 2,700-mile journey's photos show his hands variously blistered. Perhaps this is why Polynesians perfected the art of sailing, which is faster. And not crossing the ocean without a dang good reason.

The cost of a mortgage payment has risen 57% over the past two years, whereas household income has only grown 9%. A South Australian court has ordered employers who mandated COVID-19 vaccines for their employees will be held legally liable for injuries caused by the jab.

Wife: (shows me an image on her cell of multistory buildings on a steep Mediterran cliff) I don't like how precarious this place looks. What country is this?
Me: (since we don't care for it anyway) It's Bloothenia, dear.
Wife: (with a "you just made this up" smirk) Mkay.
5 hours later in the yard...
Me: (pointing at a nasty looking weed) This looks like trouble. What plant is this, hon?
Wife (yanks it, grins at me) It's bloopert, dear.
Me: (laughing) So nice that the two of us know everything.

April Apelila

27,28

One is more likely to die from a falling coconut than a shark attack. Why, sharks only bite surfers for going 35mph in the fast lane. If you watch Jaws on a forward-backward loop, it's about a shark who runs an arm and leg rental.

Philadelphia's Republic First Bank officially collapsed and was seized by regulators. An ocean away, Russia seized $440 million from JP Morgan Chase in retaliation for the US seizing $5B of Russian assets in the U.S. banking system. The Kremlin now ponders the confiscation of all Western assets.

Rabbit Island is a desert island by Oahu. I spent a night on it alone when my $1 inflatable beach mat went flat on me, 2 miles into open sea. I got to the island wading with enough energy to lift a car, 'cause I wasn't a swimmer yet. (Smurttt!) The island is an extinct volcano full of birds that meow. No people. Just a sign: "Nature preserve, $1000 fine for coming ashore." I spent the night by it, covering myself with sand for warmth. After an hour of sleep, I felt a gentle nibble on my toe. Crabs! It's their home, so I just threw sand towards them to shoo them. It was a long, romantic night: me, 50 crabs and birds meowing in the sky... "What's for dinner?" "Tourist" Next day: rainstorm. I flapped SOS with the beach mat, eventually got picked up by a helicopter. My landlord heard the story about me on the radio while he drove on a dirt road. He laughed so hard, he almost drove into the only tree in a mile.

April Apelila

29,30

King David Kalākaua was the last king of Hawaii. He was fascinated by the future. (Clearly he haven't tried it.) His palace, Iolani, (the only royal palace on US soil) had electric lights and running water before the White House did. He brought back hula dancing, after missionaries banned it for being "too suggestive". One wonders how those people would have handled Nicki Minaj's Anaconda dance clip then? They might have needed paramedics with a defibrillator.

Large banks are admitting there are plans for a complete overhaul of the dollar-based financial world and the creation of a CBDC-centric system built on "unified ledgers." The HPV vaccine causes sterility, ovarian failure and early menopause in girls. By 2018 there had been a 50% drop in teen pregnancy. Another jab debacle: AstraZeneca admitted in court that its Covid-19 vaccine can result in life-threatening blood clots.

They have an area in Nevada full of space aliens called Area 51. I think on my island they could as well call the area south of Keaau Area 52. Since a big part of the population tokes on 'da kine' stuff, you could land in an UFO by the road, it would blend right in. Life would just go on like:
Me: Hi Auntie, anything new today?
Auntie: Nothing, special dear. I saw a tapdancing tree, an UFO by Jim's, a fish playing harmonica and a politician that doesn't skim. I guess this weed is really good. (Big puff)
Me: OK Auntie. Gotta go, it's my turn at the license window.

May Mei

01,02

The Pana'ewa zoo just south of Hilo is a free zoo and botanical garden in one. (Although donations are welcomed.) It's the only tropical zoo in the US and a botanical garden with over 100 types of palm, lots of vireya (tropical rhododendron), bamboo, orchids, and bromeliads. It's like a large luxurious tropical park to walk in, where you never know what you might find in the next cage - a parrot, a tiger, a monkey, or me who took the wrong turn at the turtles...

There are major pro-Gaza protests and encampments across most universities in the US. The House of Representatives just voted the Antisemitism Awareness Act against it. Renting has become more affordable than buying a home in 50 of the largest metro areas in the US. Bankrate's analysis found that it costs 37% more a month to buy a home than to rent nationwide.

Puna could be an ideal home to all sorts of R&D shops. Like the one that designs pot lids to clatter maximally. I'm pretty sure there's a lab somewhere where scientists drop lids on the floor. "Brambalangdabadanggg!" "Not long enough. Make it more curved." Or the smartphone lab which places the button that sends nuclear threats to the Pentagon right to the case edge where you grab it. The lab where they design passwords to be just 1 letter longer than you can memorize. The joint where they design the next USB plug that will take 5 tries to plug in right. Why not move all these places to the flanks of our active volcano, eh? Heh Everybody wins. Eventually.

May Mei

03,04

We humans share 50% of our DNA with bananas. So if I eat a banana, I'm a cannibal? Way to start the day.

Citizen Watch reports that JPMorgan Chase, Bank of America, and Citigroup hid trillions of $ off balance sheet. FDIC insurance is roughly 200x under-funded. Nearly 50 million Americans get food poisoning a year. That's 1 in 7. DHS flew 100,000s of "inadmissible" migrants in. In 2023 Miami got 91,000 Fort Lauderdale 60,000 - but NYC only 14,000.

We have three crafty old lady ducks, Catsy, Chocolate and Chocky Jr. who hang out together and love to charm me daily into giving them some baby duck feed. A minute after I open the yard door, their heads pop up from behind the post.
Catsy (whispers) Anyone sees where's the baby duck bowl?
Chocolate (whispers) Let's sneak in quietly to look. (They do)
Me: (Walking in) How are you ladies?
Catsy (scared quacks) THE GIANT! WE'RE CORNERED!
Chocky Jr.: (scared quacks) HAALP! WE'RE GONNA DIE!
Me: Here, I bought you a bowl of the baby food you love.
Chocky Jr, (cooing softly instantly) Oh, food? We're besties
Catsy (coos) He's mine, I saw him first. (They all eat)
Me (smiling) Looks like you liked it, girls, the bowl is clean
Chocolate: (scared quacks again) HE WANTS TO KILL US!
Catsy (scared quacks, running) RUN FOR YOUR LIVES!
Me (puzzled, as they run out) Are you dingaling? ...Oh. They want to scare the others away from coming here.Ha ha, got it.

May Mei

05,06

How many roads go from Pahoa to Keaau?
If you are a strict authoritarian, one. The highway on the map. It has colorful roundabouts where we pick up free car parts.
Yet, if you seek, you'll find a second road, near the coast. It's best traveled in a pickup truck, but a road it is.
Oh, you prefer 2 lanes, pond free? There is a third, gravel road. No public map shows it. It's oft fenced off with ramps, as it's for "lava evacuation".
And there also is a fourth road, maintained by private firms. It's definitely not on any public map. Yet it exists too.

If you have a waterbike, the fifth road is the shallow channel in the ocean running along the coast. If you have a boat, the sixth road is the open water. If you have some flying contraption…
See, Puna (and life itself) has all these layers. They all exist, it's only how many you can handle. The ones you can't, no sweat, call them fictional, They'll be there when you're ready.

The World Economic Forum has admitted that the Covid pandemic was a hoax. It sought to eliminate cash and force the public to accept central bank digital currencies and digital IDs for a worldwide "cashless society." Congress sent a letter to the ICC to threaten it against issuing arrest warrants for Netanyahu and gang using Mafia style wording.

Neighbor: The Covid years were horrible.
Me: Not 100%. It was the first time the IRS was hiding from me

May Mei

07,08

No one knows for sure where the kava plant (Piper methysticum) came to Hawaii from. But Vanuatu has the most kava varieties, including the strongest ones. Kava does not cause an alcohol-like brain fog. One's senses remain clear and stimulated. But it may numb the tongue, the limbs, and make one fall asleep. So in some remote corners of the Pacific, you order a gallon of heady kava with a brush. You drink the gallon, watch the mind movie, and fall off the stool with a thud. Once you woke up, you brush the dust off with the brush... and you're good to go.

A new investigation has found that several big pharma firms spiked blood used for transfusions with HIV and Hepatitis C. A Green Science Policy Institute study warns that 99% of cars sold in US between 2015 and 2022 expose passengers to a toxin linked to cancer and autism called TCIPP. In 2013, lawmakers found that the typical sofa produced two to three pounds of cancer-causing chemicals.

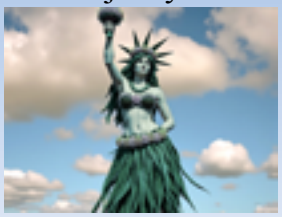

Lucky stays by me after dinner. Sitting under my bench, he nibbles softly at my feet with his bill, a nice, somewhat tickling massage. When 11pm rolls around, he usually walks out the door to join the ducks' night party.
Yesterday, a big rain came. At 11, Lucky got up: "I'm ready to see the girls now, to show them how nothing stops a real drake like me. (He went to the door) Wait, it rains outside? (He came back) Never mind, I'll show them tomorrow."

May Mei

09,10

The majority of Native Hawaiians and other Pacific Islanders in the US reside in Hawai'i (355,816), followed by California (286,145) and Washington State (70,322)
So apparently. there are more Hawaiians living outside Hawaii than in it.

Bill Gates has admitted to testing self-assembling nanoparticle technology on the public using Covid mRNA shots. A new study says 33% of all US deaths are from prescription drugs.

Lou: (cooking at dusk) Honey, can you bring me the salt?
Ha, I love challenges. She reuses every container, so salt could be in any box that does not say "salt" OK, let's think analytically: if the coffee jar has pickeld banana, the Nesquik box contains baking soda, the cookie jar has vinegar than the salt must be in the... yogurt bucket! Erm, no. It's cocont oil. So the decaf jar it is! (Checking) Nope, it has sesame seed. The large chocolate jar, then? (Opening) Flour. (Atchoo!)
To Lou's credit, this is a brilliant strategy. If the Pentagon stored our arsenal this way, the enemy could never hit it. They'd never know where it is. Neither would we. So all that remained would be to declare peace from day 1. A win-win!
Ultimately, in the soup mix box, I found something that looked salt-like. I brought it to her with the pride of a fully systematic, organized man.
Me: Can you check if this is this the salt you like, my dear?
Lou: Maybe. Where is your flashlight?
Me: Where would it be? In the bathtub, of course.

May Mei

11,12

If you drive on the Mauna Kea Access Road, you might have seen the traffic sign: “Beware Of Invisible Cows”
What are cows doing on asphalt?
Unless these are flying cows, and they use it to land?
Hmm, I think we might have just uncovered the Hawaii Guard’s top secret weapon: jet cows. They probably launch them at take off from a cowtapult.

Many US hospitals now refuse to perform surgeries or births unless you pay in full first.

Some wear a thick shirt to harvest fruit. Mollee puts on a bikini, and goes bicycling. All the old geezers stop her and give her fruit to admire her ti… titivating phenomenology of self-illumination. Fruit is good for you in so many ways.

Only Grump, Mollee’s neighbor never gives her fruit. So when Mollee wants some mango, she puts on her bikini, and goes into her inflatable pool to ride her dolphin pool toy. Grump gallops to his woodshed and soon you hear heavy gasping from it. He can see Mollee through the hole he drilled into its wall, but not his own mango trees. So Mollee’s sisters pick bags full of mango while he hyperventilates in there.
Not to boast, but since this started, the other neighbors planted 37 mango trees. For the birds to still get mango, you know.

May Mei

13,14

Hawaiian saying: I kani nō ka pahu i ka ʻolohaka o loko - It is the space inside that gives the drum its sound. Meaning: The empty-headed are the loudest.

Soaring rents and the most expensive housing prices in U.S. history are triggering a wave of evictions and foreclosures like nothing we have ever seen. The homelessness crisis is getting so out of control that tent cities are emerging even next to the U.S. Supreme Court. The CDC has just quietly published new data that reveals a staggering 99% of reported “Covid deaths” were not actually caused by the virus.

Lucky, my duck son showed up with decimated tail feathers.
Me: Lucky, I told you not to fight. What happened?
Lucky: (shyly) I fought to impress the girls.
Me: Who told you that fighting impresses the girls?
Lucky: Big Raal.
Me: The scrawniest drake? How many females does he have?
Lucky: None. He says full domination is key in life.
Me: So Raal dominates the flock?
Lucky: (giggles) No way, everyone beats him up.
Me: So what Raal gets out of this? Lots of food?
Lucky: Nah, only what we feed him.
Me: Wow, a success guru duck. Could he be fibbing ya?
Lucky: Impossible. He says he was forbidden to lie.
Me: By who?
Lucky: By a giant invisible duck.

May Mei

15,16

You are a promising youngster when you discover that advertising is organized lying. You are an accomplished adult when you discover that so is everything else. (If this book is ever banned in a country, this entry will be probably the cause.)

The entire financial system in Cuba has collapsed. All the bank accounts are empty. Their digital currency the MLC is as toast as the rest. Analyst Martin Armstrong about the world: "It is unlikely that we can avoid world war. Governments need war because their debts are no longer sustainable. They will use the war as the excuse for defaults – as in WW2. They will create Bretton Woods 2 with digital currency.

No one has more grandiose future plans than substance lovers. And no one carries fewer out than also them. I spotted Chaco, Jeffy and Murr on their daily sesh at Okolehao Labs.
- I got an idea. A dust that you put on hot lava. It reacts with it and makes it lighter than air. So instead of going downhill, the lava flows uphill, back into the crater.
- I have an even better idea, cuz. A baby stroller that is also a gas lawmower. You can walk the baby and cut the grass at the same time!
- But won't the baby cry from the mower roar?
- Rev up the throttle and you can't hear it.
- Neat! What if the gas engine under the kid gets really hot?
- We put a metal plate above the engine, that's also a grill.
- Jeenius, bruh! We invented the BaByQ.

May Mei

17,18

Several aquariums in Hawaii offer petting zoos. Folks, I am not petting a big shark. No chance. What if it pets me back? I already don't know what to do if Lucky humps my leg. Imagine how awkward I would be with a shark doing it.

In the first three months of 2024, household debt surged to $17.69 trillion, ($134K/household). 70% of it is mortgage. Car loans are the second-largest debt, $1.62 trillion. 47% of US adults struggle with mental health due to their finances.

Charley looks like a young Little Richard, but just couldn't woo his lady. So he went to Puna's witch for voodoo help.

As soon as you step into Mona's yard, you can tell you're in voodoo territory. Spirit statues. Glittering charms hanging from branches. Toads with Dept. Of Permitting hard hats, measuring clearance. A smiling shark skull on a spring that nods from wind. A lawnmower that isn't broken. A landing strip that ends at a broom closet. Books by Paul Krugman.
Mona appeared in a silk cape, looking alluringly sexy (was it a spell?) and Charley bashfully described her his problem.
Mona: You look like Little Richie. Can you sing to her?
Charley: What? Not…
Mona: (Rubs against him) Charley, you sure you can't sing?
Charley: Wh-wh-what? N-n-not…
Mona: (Playfully opens her cape, reveals a glimpse of a sheer babydoll) Charley, men who sing get the girls…
Charley (Hugs Mona) Wop bop a loo-bop, a lop bam boom…!

May Mei

19,20

Hilo's Coconut Island's two sandy beaches and several tide pools are sheltered by the Hilo pier so the waters are calm although often murky. In old times, it was home to a sacred temple dedicated to healing the sick who would swim around the island 3 times in order to be healed.

The International Criminal Court issued an arrest warrant for Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu and Defense Minister Yoav Gallant. New AMA research shows that 90% of the US now suffers from a heart condition that looks like spike protein organ damage from the Covid vaccine.

The mo'o's consciousness tapping gift came with a drawback: Rainfall makes me light headed as never before. As well use the gift then. I'll join the consciousness of the Pacific Ocean.
- Hi, Pacific
- Your auntie is Pacific. I'm Water.
- Oh? Okay, Water. You don't like the Pacific name?
- Why call me 4000 different names? Pacific here, Gulf of Mexico there, Lake Superior left, clouds right - I'm Water. Nice to meet you. How you like being evolved to the shore from me?
- Well, Klaus Schwab wants us to eat bugs again like fish.
- A great start. Next he'll ask you to devolve back to living in the ocean and breath with gills. When it gets to that, you know where to find me, I'll be here,
- Nice to know this. Thank you, Pacific
- (Sighs,"And they evolved to land for this...") Wa-terr.

May Mei

21,22

Uhaloa (Waltheria indica) is a shrub that can rise up to 6 feet or so in height. It has fragrant, clustered yellow to orange flowers. In traditional Hawaiian medicine whole plants and/or roots were boiled and juiced into a restorative, bitter tonic for fatigue or general debility. It worked 100%. No one who ever drank the bitter tonic ever complained about feeling tired or dumb again. Lest they have to drink another cup of it.

Nearly 300 Boeing 777 jets operated by major airlines have the potential to explode mid-air due to fatal fault. According to the FAA, the fix would cost less than $698,000 for all affected aircraft within the U.S., with parts priced at merely $98 per plane. Texas farmers are suing a fertilizer company that uses human waste (biosolids) in products laden with PFAS chemicals. They face having to abandon farms and euthanize animals as everything contains extremely high level of PFAS.

A memory: Preparing to fly home to Hawaii from California, I asked the check in guy if I could get a Fragile sticker for my 60lbs suitcase. "Sure" he said kindly and affixed one with delicate care. Then he calmly lifted the suitcase and tossed it over the 5 ft tall counter onto the floor conveyor belt with a >Blamm!< loud enough that the wall clock almost fell off. Seeing my petrified face, he reassured me. "No worries, it can handle it. Sometimes two of us jump on it together."
I didn't ask, if "it" mean the belt or my suitcase, lest he throws me after my luggage with "No worries, this is how we board."

May Mei

23,24

Ever wondered if they erected the equestrian statue for the horse? The dude with a weapon on it is just a decoration?

6 men in Chicago were charged with faking robberies and filing false police reports so the "victims" can apply for green cards. The FDA is being sued for allegedly ignoring evidence that anti-depressants leave patients' sex lives permanently ruined - even years after stopping the meds. Thousands of patients say they have been left asexual, numb below the waist, and unable to enjoy sex or sustain romantic relationships.

We were sipping coffee in the yard, watching the street.
Me: How lovely, it's so quiet, one can hear the little frogs.
A moment later, a kid from the next street ran by, chased by his sibling who clacked hedge shears behind his butt.
Kid: BWAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAH!
Me: It's OK, kids only shouldn't run with scissors, right?

A minute later, the sibling ran by the other way while the pursuing kid shot twigs after him with a bow he found.
Sibling: BWAAAAAAAAAAAAAAH!
Lou: I wonder if the parents insured these two for a mint?
Three minutes later the kid with bow ran by again as his sibling chased him with a running lawnmower.
Kid: BWAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAH!
The mower hit a rock in the road with a big sinister crackle.
The blade broke right off with a loud "Blangarangadonkk!"
The kids disappeared with both items. Silence again.
Me: (After a while) I guess they don't have a wood chipper?

May Mei

25,26

Flying to next door Fiji: $1200. But I can fly 3x that far to UK from $370. 5759 Fijians live in the UK. Imagine me in a sulu skirt at Heathrow:"Sir, you flew to the UK to see-?" "Fijians."

The House of Representatives passed a bill to ban the Federal Reserve from issuing CBDC (Central Bank Digital Currency).

Sebastian, the billionaire's house physician was forlorn:

- Mr Hark is fading fast… he hardly eats.
Mollee sat up on his couch:
- The tycoon? Get me in to him.
So Hark was told, a nurse is coming to give him drops. Then a cute maiden walked in in nurse cap, white jacket, miniskirt and high heels. Where were these shapely Pocahontases when I was young?, Hark mused.

Mollee put her little medical bag on the floor. She bent down to search in it, revealing a heart shaped butt in a sheer panty. Hark swallowed. Mollee put a stethoscope to his chest, than to the top of his head. With his nose stuck between Mollee's two orbs, Hark blinked like a frog in a jar of jam. Dear God, is this lady trying to seduce me?... Please please make it so.

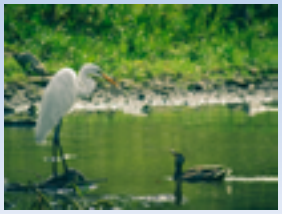

Mollee stumbled on Hark's foot, so he reflexively caught her and pulled her back to him. She gently plopped onto his lap with a contented lil' squeak. The gardener just began to mow the lawn, which drowned out the deep sighs and throaty ululations of a couple extatically admiring the oil paintings.
Hark became a new man that day, and Mollee a $100K/month consultant. Warning: natural healing may cause a wide grin.

May Mei

27,28

In our yard, every duck girl's hatched flock of ducklings has an assortment of colors and patterns pointing to many males. I guess it's all one big happy family.

The frolickiest of the drakes is Dangly. He'll try to mate with any bird that lands in the yard, even a tall egret. "Hi sweet beak, come down from those stilts, I'll show you something" Once I found Dangly on his back, legs in the air, his tongue hanging out into the grass. He stared with glassy eyes into the sky where an owl already circled above him…
Me: Oh no, we lost Dangly!
Dangly: (whispers) Shhhh, I'm about to catch that owl babe...

The WHO Pandemic Treaty fell through. The World Health Organization backed down on proposed amendments for compulsory vaccinations and lockdowns. Col. Douglas Macgregor shed light on an illegal human trafficking program conducted, in part, by U.S. military intelligence.

Larry was so happy, you'd think that it just rained iPads.
- Check this out, George, I bought a pool toaster!
- Neat. Looks like a toy sub. Larry, you cook?
- I don't. But my pool TV says this stops Climate Change.
- So what's the remote for? It makes it surface?
- Yepp, so you can get toast in the pool without getting wet.
- That's paramount. My breakfast cooker is pool safe too.
- Whoa. How you get the breakfast?
- I follow her to the house when she says, let's go eat.

May Mei

29,30

Hawai'i is home to more than 50 plants of the mint family. Nearly all are endemic and rare. I love the mint in my back yard. No matter how much I forget to water it, it's always in mint condition.

A court just ruled that the PCR tests are 97% inaccurate. Research suggests that mothers who eat red meat reduce the chances of autism in babies.

Another session at Okolehao Labs…
- (Tokes) Brah, your pakalolo is so strong, I can hear colors.
- Guys, how about we sell this by mail?
- (Big whiff) The Freds will jail you for dope trafficking. They hate competition. Hey, your dog's behind is an umbrella.
- If I sell this as ganja, yes. But no law bans selling horse poop.
- Horse poop! (They erupt in laughter) Cough, cough…
- Hear me out. If my horse wonders into some Federal land to graze, it's still my horse, right? If it happens to graze in a hidden patch that someone, - totally unbeknownst to me!, - planted chock full of cannabis… and some peyote also falls into its water… guess how potent its dried poop will be?
- Wow, a tap dancing alligator. How potent?
- The last time I lit some up, I saw the New World Order.
- He smoked horse poop! (They almost fall off the chairs, laughing) Didn't it stink?

- (Looks at them with a wide mischievous grin) Well, does it?
- (Dreamily) Whoa, space aliens doing strip tease!... (All 3 pass out with a thud.)

May Mei

31

The ‘Akaka falls are a 422 ft (135 m) tall waterfall and are the highlight of the Akaka falls state park. It’s named after a Hawaiian Chief who got caught with two young girlfriends, Lehua and Maile by his wife. The park has two large falls, Akaka and the suddenly appearing 400 ft Kahuna which eyes Akaka full of suspicion. And there are two cute small waterfalls by Akaka, Lehue and Maile, pretending to be there naked to talk about the weather.

A NYC court found former president Donald Trump guilty of 34 criminal counts. Historian Thucydides in his chronicles of the collapse of Athenian democracy in 6th century BC paints an eerily familiar account of Athenian exceptionalism and the moral and military failures that it inevitably produced. It created an unprecedented lawlessness where only power and pleasures mattered. Political parties were not formed to serve the interests of the voters but to overthrow the regime. Noble public claims served private plunder goals. Honesty was deemed ridiculous and soon ceased, In Party members thoughtless aggression became seen as courage.

Blanket, the most outgoing young drake walked up to me .
- Boss, I like to eat everything you do to become just like you. May I sip a little of your drink?
- Coffee? OK – I held my almost empty cup to him. He tried it.
- TPRRRRRRRRRT! – he shook his head – OK, make that everything but this.

June Iune

01,02

Wai (pronounced “whyee”) is water in Hawaiian
Wai wai is wealth, treasure
Why why why is my wife commenting (especially about me)
So a wife is a treasure and half. (3 why : 2 why =1.5)
Wife is an onomatopoeic word. We call a cuckoo a cuckoo because it says ‘cuckoo!’ all the time. And we call a wife a wife because she says ‘why?’ all the time.
At least, it’s my theory, I told it to my wife. She replied, ‘Why?’
Two smart alecks makes a pair. A smart twoleck.

A Japanese study warns of risks in transfusing blood from Covid vaccine recipients to others, as it may cause significant health risks, even death. A University of Oxford study just confirmed that myocarditis and pericarditis only appear in the Covid vaccinated and not after infection from the virus.

The tattooed lady in front of me at the mall checkout line looked really hot from behind. Husband catcher attire: tank top, tight yoga pants and high heels, which pushed her buttocks up. Colorful flower and text tattoos. I tried to decipher the calligraphy on her arm: Olimpia? Oil pump? Oye papa?
- Ollie Papa? – I blurted out, unintentionally
- Yes? – Ollie turned. Kinda George Tyson with a missing tooth.
- N… n… nice tattoos! – I stammered
- Thank you, flirt, but I have a boyfriend already. Toodle-pip!
- N… n… nice to meet you! – I uttered. And began to pick up all my items that I unwittingly dropped.

June Iune

03,04

Pineapple is called “pineapple” because it’s neither a pine nor an apple. Kinda like “elected representatives”. The fruit contains an enzyme called bromelain which breaks down proteins in your mouth. So when you eat a pineapple, it is eating you back. So far the pineapple never won.

63 banks on the brink of default, they’ve $500 Billion of bank paper losses, mortgage demand is the lowest in 30 years and the US is sending 300,000 soldiers to the border with Russia.

I live on a volcano. Why not talk to it with the mo’o’s gift:
- Hi Kilauea. Care to tell when you plan to erupt next?
- Stop fighting the lava already. Start partnering with it.
- How?

- Look, hot lava usually won’t even level a palm tree, just flow around it and set. If you bolt down vertical pipes for the lava to set around, depending on the diameter you either get a big planter, or a free underground house that only needs a roof. Or if you bolt down hangar-shaped covers over the road, once the lava flows over those covers and sets, the road isn’t lost, it’s a tunnel.
- So I should let the volcano build me a house?
- Yep. With 2 layer pipes, at the next lava flow you can lift out the inner pipe that holds your tree or home, truck it to safety, and plop it back into the lenghtened outer pipe afterwards.
- Imagine that. “Don’t mind me, I’m just walking my hole.”
- Isn’t that what you’ve been doing since you were born?

June Iune

05,06

Female ducks are quite crafty. We have two Cayuga girls of smaller build, they limp around the big males all day. “Please don’t hump us, we are still limping from the last time.” So the boys leave them alone. When I throw the girls a treat, they run a perfect 1000mph Olympic dash for it - not a single hobble. They catch the food, eat it… then they remember, “oh wait, we are supposedly limping” and quickly resume.
My granny duck, Chocolate is so old, her brown feathers are turning grey. She lacked a suitor, so she laid a big egg, and hatched herself a husband. And they’re a happy couple, yay. I never read this trick in relationship self-help books...

A Journal of Neuroscience study says that women who have more sex have better developed brains - a more developed somatosensory cortex. A 150-year banking study of more than 11,000 banks in 17 advanced countries concluded that concentrating the banking system in the hands of five or less giant banks leads to financial instability and more severe financial crises.. The US government is trying to illegally seize the InfoWars studios to silence Alex Jones.

In a sudden event, Hawaii’s Kilauea volcano erupted with a force not seen since 1974. In the early morning lava fountains blasted into the sky and molten rivers flowed over the land. In other news, Forbes just named Honolulu, Hawaii the safest city in the world to visit. So it’s still safer to visit a chain of volcanos (what the Hawaii islands are) than NYC?

June Iune

07,08

Hark: Mollee, it's time to make you tax deductible.
Mollee: Oh, naughty Papa Bear, you want to marry me?
Hark: No, I want to make you my political protege.
Mollee: Political protege? What position is that?
Hark: Your butt in my lap, your bill in the taxpayers' lap.
Mollee: I don't even chumplong them?
Hark: Only when you claim that you represent them.
Mollee: I don't even know how is life in the big city.
Hark: In the country people compete who chumplongs you. In the big city people compete who chumplongs you over.

The EPA found 726 chemicals in biosolids years after claiming "biosludge" is safe to use on farms.

dna just read about Hawaiian spirit lovers in a history book.
Edna: Honey, did you know that in ancient Hawaii sometimes ghosts came by and made love to people? (Dreamingly) Imagine, if a sexy ghost swept me off my feet…
Jayson: (quietly pulls a bedsheet from the cabinet…)
Spirit: (Appears) Hoooo, you are mine, Edna! (Kicks table as he can't see) Oww!My heart aches for you baby. My leg too.
Edna: (tries not to laugh) Oh, lavender scented spirit, I'm so yours! So classy, even your aura says Tommy Hilfiger… Hug me, and bite my neck, charmer… hey, where you're going?
Spirit: To the bathroom to put my teeth in.

June Iune

09,10

In Hilo, Lili`uokalani Park is where the Luakini heiau (human sacrifice temple) was in the 1700s. I just saw a man hiding in the bushes there yesterday. I guess no one told him yet it's safe to come out already?

Russia officially declared the US an "enemy" for the first time ever. A new study links vegan fake meats to an increase in heart deaths. The U.S. government borrows $5 billion daily

Me: Howdy Murr, how's the horse poop business?
Murr: The local chief of the Crime Monopoly Department called DC to pull an Operation Competitor Harvest 2 on us when we cut into his dope income.
Me: Well, the Party must get its cut to keep up their theatre. So there was a raid?
Murr: A well disguised raid. A convoy of identical black SUVs. Carrying dozens of morose commandos with the same crew cuts and smiley face beach tops. Helicopters. The crew poured out in town, sprinting to cover, as beachgoers typically do. Then they casually began asking to buy kukae'.
Me: Ha ha. So they got none.
Murr: Wrong. They bought up 80 pounds. At triple cost.

Me: You're kidding me.
Murr: Then they lit some up. They whiffed on it for an hour until their faces were soot black. All they saw was smoke.
Me: Murr! You didn't…
Murr: Hey, they asked for horse poop. They got horse poop. Someone in DC will have a lovely yard.

June Iune

11,12

I just saw a huge display at a Hilo supermarket's entrance:
NEW * NEW * NEW – Reusable Plates!
Whoa. They discovered China tableware. Perfect timing, only 3000 years after it was invented.
What a relief. I was really getting tired of having to go into the jungle to cut plates from a koa tree with my stone adze. Then soak those in the ocean, and treat the wood with fermented taro. Polish it with shark skin (the shark was never happy) and rub it to gloss with nut oil. (Not even going there.) It made the dinner late every time. It's mind boggling what progress can bring us. Who knows what they might offer us next, a lawnmower that goes "baaah!" ?

Moscow is planning to deploy nuclear ICBMs to Cuba, Mexico, and Venezuela, in response to NATO deploying nuclear weapons to Eastern Europe. The Moscow Exchange (MOEX) has suspended trading in dollars and euros. One can still buy and sell U.S. dollars and euros through Russian banks.

Walking through the female fashions dept with Lou:
Lou: (pointing at a dress display) How you like this dress?
Me: (pointing at the mannequin's lack of head) Nice, but it makes your lil' head fall off, honey.
She smiled mischievously. We went on to the sports isle...
Me: (pointing at a display) How you like this racquet, hon?
Lou: (pointing at the mannequin being female) Nice but it makes you a girl. It makes your lil' pinkylinky fall off, honey.

June Iune

13,14

The loulu palm (Pritchardia) is the only palm genus endemic to Hawaii. It produces big edible fruits that are eaten by many birds and were also used by the early Hawaiians to make a sweet fermented cider. For this reason, the loulu is an essential cultural plant. Any plant that makes a drink strong enough to make fruit bats fly backwards is an essential cultural plant.

Saudi Arabia did not be renew the 50-year petrodollar agreement with the US. Instead, they will be selling oil in multiple currencies. US Unfunded Liabilities Hit $216 Trillion. ($641,000 per citizen.)

We lived still in Waikiki (Oahu) when I bought a plastic tree at a garage sale. It turned out to be too big for the condo. I took it on a Waikiki stroll to see if I can give it away. (If you can give someone a bouquet of flowers, handing them an entire tree must be 3x as wooing, no?) We circled the block. "Hi, George, what's up?" "Just walking my tree. Maybe it wants to pee on the dogs. Would you like a barely used tree? It's genuine plastic." No human had any interest, although 6 dogs began to follow us. So I took the tree home, known thereafter as The Guy Who Walks A Tree. Living trees move, too. My ex-neighbor on the Big Island never watered his mountain apple. We water our plants. So his tree sent its root over to us under the fence, and sprouted a new tree here, taller than the old. Then the old tree was cut too… so we are now a happy home to a runaway tree.

June Iune

15,16

Dolphins have names for each other and can call out for each other specifically. I'd bet "Tuna Breath" is one.

The House passed a military bill automatically registering men 18-26 for draft. Nationwide, about one in every 4,320 housing units had a foreclosure filing last month.

It rained, the ducks ate the shrooms… they're in the car, tripping:
Annunaki UFO pilot: Telereporting to Death Star behind Saturn. Takeover of Nevada Area 51 is done. Base crew is frozen, everyone outside thinks we are a US test plane. Ready to land Earth invasion fleet. Wait, is this incoming blue craft ours?
Flying Thunderbird piloted by ducks in zigzag, slams into UFO. UFO rolls on the ground clattering, then stops on its head.
Annunaki UFO pilot: (Upside down in telescreen, holding Beaky) Telereporting to Death Star. We collided with an Earth craft. I captured an earthling from it, but it only says "Kwak."
Death Star: Password Match. Self Destruct Sequence Armed.
Death Star Commander: (Slaps Audio Mute Button) @#$%! If he says it three times we'll be gone. (Resets alarm, unmutes audio) Don't ever, EVER! say this code word again, soldier.
UFO pilot: (Jumps, salutes) Yes, sir! Will not say it, sir!
Beaky (breaks free from pilot, flies back to Thunderbird, scared) Quack quack quack quack quack quack!
Death Star: (explodes into smithreens.)
Quackbert: (As soon as Beaky gets in, pushes Portal. They reappear at home.)
Chocko: Phewww. Nobody tell the boss.

June Iune

17,18

Lou: Did you notice that you write your best diary entries after squeegee mopping the living room?
Me: Did you notice that your butt gets smaller each time you organize your little hobby corner?
Lou: That's why I don't overdo it. We wouldn't want my butt to vanish, do we?

Alexey Pertsev, a lead developer of Tornado Cash was found guilty of money laundering and sentenced to 64 months in jail. His crime: TC makes it impossible for the government to spy on transactions. A new study found that fake meat and ultra processed vegan food is linked to heart disease and early death. In 2021, the Biden Administration got $42.45 billion to deploy high-speed Internet to millions of Americans. It has not connected even 1 person. Bill Gates funded bioweapons experiments to spread Bird Flu to humans.

You can tell what Larry is doing just by the sound.
If it is: "Brrrrrrrrrt..." – he's running his lawnmower.
If it's: "Schwack, schwack..." he uses his lawn voluminizer.
If it's: "Chngda, chngda..." he runs his lawn straightener.
If it's: "Blngthnk, blngthnk..." it's his lawn concentrator.
I'm starting to suspect he's in it for the rumble, not the lawn.
He was showing his new lawn appliance: a manure spreader.
- Check this, George, it fertilizes the lawn on its own!
- From the ground? Cute. Our spreaders fertilize from the air.
- Whoa! What are those things called? Drones?
- Ducks.

June Iune

19,20

Hawaii is called the Rainbow State because we see lots of rainbows. In bright sunlight air moisture creates rainbows. Seeing a rainbow means you are lucky. Seeing a double rainbow means you'll return to the islands. (Local lore.) Seeing a quadruple rainbow means, you shouldn't be the one driving the car.

Always fascinated by what makes empires prosper (or fold), I just found the following passage about the last days of the Roman Empire in Thomas Cahill's How The Irish Saved Civilization: "The creation of an increasingly unwieldy and rigid bureaucracy, whose own survival became its overriding goal; the avoidance of military service by established families, while its offices presented unprecedented opportunity for marginal men; the pretense that we still are what we once were; the increasing concentration of the populace into richer and poorer by way of a corrupt tax system, and the desperation that inevitably follows; the aggrandizement of executive power at the expense of the legislature; ineffectual legislation promulgated with great show…" In a nutshell, corruption, not enemies killed Rome. Just as it killed Athenian democracy. What grows corruption? I suspect economic slump and real estate profiteering, which pushes otherwise good people to go along with shady stuff. Even die for it, just to provide a home and food for their family. I'll let the data miners research that.

Kid: Uncle, why they call this hala tree a "walking tree"?
Me (pointing away) Cuz yesterday it was over there.

June Iune

21,22

Using the car horn while driving in Hawaii is not local style. When someone lets you go first, locals usually show a shaka hand sign for a thank you instead. It not Hawaiian style to fly out from the highway's turn into the sky and splash into the ocean after Oahu's Crouching Lion either. But if you absolutely insist, the reef can fit a few more rental cars.

World debt has now crossed $225 Trillion. A privately-run Chinese fusion company, Energy Singularity, has built the world's first fully high-temperature superconducting tokamak, and used it to produce plasma, state media outlets have reported. 27 percent of all Americans do not have even a single penny saved up. 46 percent of all Americans have $800 or less saved up.

Special actions require special conditions.
The generator only gets a choking fit if I sit in the bathtub.
My wife only drops something with a loud crash when I pour gasoline. Lucky the duck only gets the urge to poop a salvo after I squeegee mopped the living room. And a 4-inch beetle only complains "Mzmzzzzwzwzwz!" under my head when I lay down my head on the pillow without turning the light on.
- It's harmless. Edible too. Don't hurt it.- Lou said of the bug.
So I just tossed buggo off my pillow. It ran straight back to it.
- Mzmzzzzwzwzwz! I was here first! This's MY pillow!
OK, I put it on the outer side of the screen door. G'night, bug!
Tomorrow my home will have a 1-star review on Bugbnb.com.

June Iune

23,24

I just saw this local ad online: “I’m looking for 3 people to fly to Hilo by helicopter on the 4th of July. We’ll have breakfast in Hilo, lunch and dinner on a yacht, and we’ll be returning home around 11:30pm. If interested, please message me. Preferably someone with a helicopter and a yacht, otherwise we can’t go.”
I replied “I got the yacht if you don’t mind to row...”

California is purchasing the same tiny homes that cost $2,500 on Amazon for $837,000 each for the homeless. Amazon followed demands from Biden regime to censor books critical of Big Pharma vaccines. 46 percent of EV owners surveyed in the US say they will likely return to driving gas-powered vehicles. Chase Bank customers are reporting a wave of wire fraud in their accounts, but the Bank won’t make good on the looted funds. China found a cure for diabetes.

Duck mom: Ducklings, you are now adult enough to hunt your own food. Remember, we are the descendants of the fearless dinosaurs. So here is what you do. To my left is the room where a 240 pound unsuspecting human sleeps. You can hear it snoring. We quietly surround his lair. 4 of you with Meepy sneek to its back. 4 with Tweepy to its front. Last 4 with me to its right. Once I give the sign, everybody start to skreepatchle to the top of your lungs, like there is no tomorrow. The human will jump up, half asleep, and gallop out with a box of baby food in 10 seconds. It never fails.

June Iune

25,26

Our school is named Keonepoko. Because it’s in Waiakahiula. Keonepoko is the next land division.
Tipsy namer: “Dangg, I missed it by only ONE piddling mile!”

The fact that I could share a consciousness with the whole universe makes me think. Could I do this unless I were the universe? Just like you too, Candy Dulfer, my ducks, the mountains, planets, atoms, we’re all parts of the same one whole. With each one’s consciousness normally limited to what they can handle. A universe exists forever. (Fine, I’ll stopwatch it next time.) A planet exists for 10+ billions of years. A mountain, 3 billion of years. A human for 80 years. A human cell, for 7 years average. Bacteria, 12 hours on average. The smaller the part, the sooner the buh-bye. Which is in fact just a change, as matter is never destroyed. We don’t know what’s after the change (until it comes) but most people cry a river in advance, just in case. Like my aunt who’d cry before shopping. Want to live forever? Think of yourself as the universe. Done! Next item?

The US has joined 12 nations in signing a WEF agreement that seeks to engineer global famine by destroying the agriculture industry.

Lou: Honey, are you sleeping?
Me: (Wakes, giggles) I can’t believe it, she woke me up to ask
Lou: (Jumps up & down on my bed as we both laugh) I’m-not-trying-to-wake-you-up,-o-kay? Just as-king!

June Iune

27,28

Poha's uncle is a shiny example of perseverance. He started a shop of good luck charms, and boom! a bicycle hit him. Did he give up? No! The day he limped out of the hospital, he reopened shop. This seemed suspect so the IRS came after it. They should know they had no chance against a guy with 800 good luck charms, but they pressed on. By sheer luck, a lava flow covered the shop next, so uncle got off. Now he is a stock consultant for a big bank. Wall Street... brace yourself.

According to Zillow, the monthly mortgage payment on a typical home in this country has almost doubled in 4 years.
44% of retired Americans are considering going back to work
20% of the entire population of California is living in poverty.

As soon as I had enough cash saved for my first car on Oahu in the 90s, my total car doofusness walked in to a used car lot.
- Hello Sir, are you looking to buy a car? - the dealer asked
- Yes, but this'd do instead, too – I pointed to a stretch limo. It was the cheapest thing on the lot at $500. The man grinned:
- Would you like to take it for a test push?
Ah well, at $500 it cost the same price per pound as tomatoes. Commuting with a limo to Honolulu from the North Shore turned out to be swell, except at Kualoa there was this bump on the road that always felt like a ramp for jumps. I bet many drivers wondered already, could a stretch limo get airborne from that hill if it sped up enough?
Answering for a friend: oh yes.
Once.

June Iune

29,30

One of the eternal dilemmas when in Hawaii is what to write on a post card. The photo already shows how nice Hawaii is. Why brag too? Maybe I should make up something sad instead how miserable I am to make the recipient feel better.

"They feed us dead pelicans here in the Covid quarantine salt mine and the 360 view gym is jacking off elephants in a zoo cage. Wish you were here." But people know I'm not a complainer. So what remains, "It's exactly the same here as there"? "Then what you traveled for, doofus?" So the ultimate postcard line I found is: "Dear (name), You are a genius!" No kidding. I've been writing this to thousands of people for over 30 years now. Not one asked yet why I said it. Ever.

You can buy Roundup in all 50 states but raw milk is illegal in 39 of them. The State Department announced that forcing gay sex on foreign countries is a matter of US national security. An empty 16-story office building at 995 Market Street in San Francisco sold for a mere $6.5 million, a 90% plunge from its 2016 value of $62 million. Residents of a homeowner's association in Florida forced the entire board to resign after they voted to make each townhome owner pay an extra $60,000 to fund the maintenance required by the state.

Lucky: You are stuffing your head again and forgot me, eh?
Me: Duck, I had no idea you eat sushi. OK, here, try a dice.
Lucky: (tries it, shakes head) Nah.. I don't take my fish in pills.

July Iulai

01,02

King Kamehameha 1 had 30 wives. And 30 mother-in-laws. He banned strong alcohol. after it made him see 60 of those.

An FBI raid uncovered that Oakland Mayor Sheng Thao and other officials allegedly received funding from a sex trafficking drug ring. Haaretz reported that official documents reveal that Israel had prior knowledge of the Oct. 7 Hamas attack.

I found Murr staring at a big "Vote Representative Mollee  Money Can't Buy Me" poster.
Me: What's up Murr, you know Mollee too?
Murr: Do I? I snapped this pic behind the bush in '05. Naked.
Me: When you're a poop millionaire, she'll be back.
Murr: Don't even mention horse poop, they kicked me out.
Me: Why?

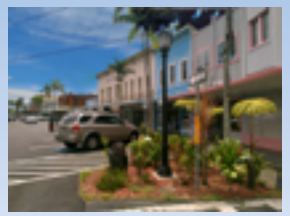

Murr: I ran out of peyote for the horse. So I gave it fly agaric.
Me: And?
Murr: The next thing we knew, the horse was on the top of a tree. Shooting all the other horses with keawe needle blow darts. Dipped in cane toad poison. It turned mass murderer.
Me: So that's why they let you go.
Murr: No. It's because I mailed its poop to NYC anyway.
Me: Yikes! What if those guys become mass murderers too?
Murr: No way, it's a bunch of posh old geezers. "Good Clan" or some such. It's not like they'll depopulate the planet.
Me: I hope they won't, it's the only planet with women.
Murr: That's how a real man thinks, bro. Screw oxygen, right?

July Iulai

03,04

Hilo is older than Kailua-Kona and less exposed to tourism. It's reminescent of a 60's West Coast town with its two-story colonial-style buildings, farmers' market and leisurely rhytm. With a population of 43,000 it's the largest city on the Big Island. The Hilo side is much greener than the Kona side of the Big Island because it gets more rain. As some say, you might be from the Hilo side if you hang the laundry on the clothesline to wash it.

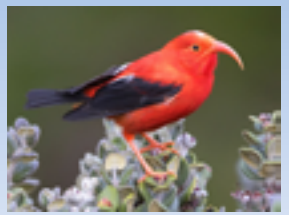

McDonald's stopped selling Bill Gates' synthetic meat burgers due to complaints about taste and health concerns. An American Principles Project report exposed the financial motives behind subjecting kids to 'trans' procedures. Total revenues for transgender drugs and surgeries in 2023 were estimated 4.4 billion+. By 2030, they're expected to grow past $7.8 billion. Some Americans are being enrolled in medical experiments without their knowledge or consent while unconscious, according to a report by journalist Sean Miller.

I caught Cocoa, my brown hen practicing the cock-a-doodle-do on our fence. I was intrigued by the crowing, as we don't have a rooster now. It's her. She'll crow, it will make a neighborhood rooster run up to fight, find a flock of sexy hens instead of a roo, and – mount them all. If I ever become single again (doubtful), I might try her trick. Go to the fence and scream, "I can't stand any more handbags!" or some such thing.

July Iulai

05,06

Hakalau Forest Reserve is home to some of Hawaii's nicest endemic birds like ʻelepaio, ʻamakihi , ʻakiapōlāʻau, ʻalawī, ʻākepa, ʻiʻiwi, and ʻapapane. Rare birds and tourists flock to the area from thousands of miles away to ogle each other.

A recent Wikileaks leak revealed that Citigroup picked Barack Obama's 2008 cabinet members. A recent study in the International Journal of Risk & Safety in Medicine evealed that Merck misled participants in a trial of its HPV vaccine.

Larry showed me his new BlueTooth fall alarm in his yard.
Larry: Check this! If I fall, it rings an electric alarm in my house.
Me: Are you sure it's not just an old wristband from a fair?
Larry: Lookie here! (Pretend falls on his butt in the grass.)
(Total quiet. Birds chirp..)
Larry: OK, it's hard to fool. (Stands up, tumbles with a thud.)
(Same quiet, ever the birds shut up in amazement.)
Larry: I guess it only works if I'm pushed? Push me, then!
OK, I pushed Larry between his dahlias. Nada. He stood up with his hair full of leaves, and began to trample the gizmo.
Larry: Goldang mother-larping piece of shinola!

At this moment his wife walked to us
Rhonda: Honey, the power company says they'll fix the power outage by 3pm. What are you doing in my dahlias?
Me: (After looking at each other with Larry) Chasing gophers.

July Iulai

07,08

You might be from the Big Island, if when you play golf during an earthquake, the hole comes to you.

Pepe'ekeo Scenic Drive is a 4 mile drive north of Hilo through rainforest scenery. It's as close to a drive-in jungle as you are likely to find in the area; a different world. A picture perfect example what a beautiful result Le Corbusier urban architecture can produce when they keep it the heck outta here.

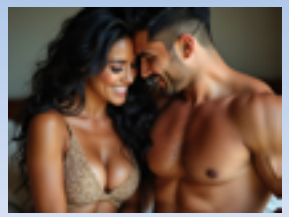

A scientist, Tanja Benton who was fired from her job at a health insurance provider because she did not submit to the company's Covid vaccine mandate has been awarded almost $687,000 in a landmark settlement. ($500,000 is punitive damages.) An Oklahoma judge already facing criminal prosecution has now been accused of sexual misconduct on the job.

Every time I buy a can of something, Lou loves to pontificate that we should buy fresh, instead. Yet today when I picked up 2 cans of whale meat at the market, she didn't say a word. A pity. Imagine how jolly the two of us would have looked staggering home carrying a live whale on our backs. Me under the two flippers, wife under the tail... "How you want this, honey, breaded?" "Yes, dear, we'll get 240 eggs…"
Just kidding, I'd never have the heart to kill whaley. "We'd probably toss it into the pond and feed it some Jonah-flavored pet food. Our pet ducks came as a 12-pack of duck eggs too.

July Iulai

09,10

Local lore, attributed to Kaulu by some: you'll reach success in life if you can seduce a person without hurting any existing relationship. I guess people who can keep a secret might be in for some lovely time in Hawaii. "Kaulu made me do it!"

Mike McCormick, a former White House stenographer who worked with Joe Biden, claimed during an interview that Joe Biden used potential damaging information to control Barack Obama since 2006. Boeing plead guilty to conspiracy to defraud the US after it was charged over two plane crashes in which hundreds of people died. Colleges aim to increase enrollment by admitting students who didn't even apply.

Our hero Charley, after Mona's guidance (it's not the line, it's whether the lady likes you) decided to approach his flame.
Charley: (Gives Kalea a flower) Hi Kalea, is your smile taken?
Kalea: (surprised) What do you mean?
Charley: (Puts his hands gently around her with a goofy grin) Let's measure if it matches mine.
Kalea: (giggles) You rascal. You say this to every woman, ha.
Charley: Not since Mother Theresa beat me up.
Kalea: (teases him) You are funny. But I like bad boys.
Charley: I'm your man, baby, I'm bad at everything. Check it out how bad I'm at this (kisses her).
Kalea: (beaming) M-hm, it was pretty bad...
Charley: If you don't like my kisses, can I get them back?
Kalea: Oh OK... (she kisses him so well he almost passes out)

July Iulai

11,12

It's so hot today, I took off my socks. Lucky the duck found one, and he put his head halfway in it til he couldn't see out. Then he began to stagger around in that floppy headpiece
Lucky: Look at me, I'm Santa Claus!
Me: Am I getting a gift, Santa?
Lucky: (staggers up to me guided by my voice, and poops.)
Lou: (laughing with me) Santa found you naughty!
Talking mynah bird: "No surrrprise!"

Agriculture and Human Values published research showing that global food and health policy is controlled by ultra-processed food giants that include Coca-Cola, Nestlé and PepsiCo. Social Security records show 6.5 million 112 year old Americans. In reality, only a handful could possibly be alive. There are only 42 112 yeard olds in the entire world. But these Social Security numbers can be used for vote fraud. Poland's Army Chief of Staff says Poland needs to prepare for a full-scale war. The last 3 men were acquitted in junk Whitmer kidnapping case that was hatched, planned, paid for, and executed by Chris Wray's FBI.

Punalua is the word describing the relationship between two or more people who share the same spouse. It was typically positive, as jealousy was frowned upon. Polygamy was not rare in ancient Hawaii, especially for chiefs. One's punalua might also be one's sibling. In old Hawaii, one could wed as many people as one could afford to support. Kinda like now...

July Iulai

13,14

I think if Godess Pele didn't want us to use her lava, she wouldn't have arranged home delivery.

Donald Trump was shot and lightly wounded at a Pennsylvania rally. The rooftop shooter is dead.

The old man smiled: "So you collect Puna stories? Here's one no one dared to print... My uncle spotted a bizarre plant at the market. "Mamaya tree, $100." The photo by it showed pinkish papayas with aureolae and a perky nub like a female tit.
- It's magic – the seller said – you'll love it.
- I'm sure, but all I have is $30 – he replied.
- Sold – the seller said. – That's how I like to deal, no haggling.
- So I grow this like a regular papaya tree?
- Yep. The word "opihi" ends the magic, makes it a plain papaw.
Where would one have a titty tree but in Puna? Fun for the whole family. Uncle planted it in the back. It grew, sprouted perky green mamayas that ripened to pink. The birds wouldn't eat any, it looked like the tree stares at them. One day when his wife was away, Uncle caressed the pinkest mamaya. It became a maiden! Uncle had a wonderful time with her, then she vanished. From then on, as soon as his wife left, uncle picked mamayas. Then one day his wife forgot her wallet, and returned for it. She found uncle with 3 naked maidens in the yard. She kicked uncle in the butt, chased him around the yard beating him with her saucepan, and calling him an opihi head. She never believed uncle a single word that he grew those 3 ladies on the papaya tree."

July Iulai

15,16

Me, being asked on a job interview, 2000-ish... "If you could change one thing in your past, what would you do differently?" Me: "I'd have been born a billionaire."

A federal judge in Texas has ruled that an 1868 ban on at-home distilling of alcohol is unconstitutional.

- Hi Sage! Watching the Moon?
- Yes, George. It's a reminder why Puna survives everything.
- Well, what the Moon teaches us?
- When you meet an other civilization, charm it and mate with it.
- Puna is very diverse indeed. But how this ties to survival and the Moon?
- Recall the conquerors of America?

Had the Europeans only brought flowers and candy instead of war, they would've gotten the same land and cute, exotic bed partners too. No butchery, cute kids. Same thing with our advanced ancestors who built the Moon, this giant hollow satellite. Had they just mated with the Aliens instead of trying to defeat them, now we'd be an intergalactic tribe already with the coolest mixed kids with almond eyes, sky high IQ and the cutest lizard tail. Instead of just a Moon remaining from our whole ancestry to warn: more humping less fighting next time.
- OK, we hump the smart Aliens. How about dingaling ones?
- Those too, until they go flat broke. "Romeo, you're paying the rodeo." Just don't tell to any of the dingalings.
- Wow, that's a great strategy! Are they doing this anywhere?
- (Points to the ground for a sec, then grins at my face) Naaah.

July Iulai

17,18

Carlsmith Beach Park is a popular swim and snorkel spot near Hilo. The inner swimming area is protected by a reef and rocks; it's sheltered like a pool. Even turtles like to visit it. In Hawaii, a turtle brings you good luck. Just at turtle speed.

Sen. Bob Menendez, D-N.J., was found guilty on all counts after being tried on charges of taking bribes.

After 3 days of rain, the magic mushrooms popped up again. The ducks are tripping in the Thunderbird again… let's tune in.
Annunaki UFO pilot: (to co-pilot). Here over Antarctica, it helps that our propulsion comes straight from Death Star 2... imagine running out of Z17 here. We'll conquer planet Earth in no time. Wait, what's that careening blue thing?

Annunaki UFO co-pilot: It's the earth-lings who blew up our last invasion! Revenge time! Laser ray, aim…
Death Star 2: "Starting Macrosplatch Update, 20% complete. Don't turn off your Death Star 2..."
Propulsion beam cuts out, Annunaki UFO plunges into Antarctica from 30,000 feet high with crew screaming in terror.
Holo display projection above smoldering UFO crash crater: "Death Star 2 update failed, critical error C000#$%)(*^"
Death Star 2: explodes with giant force.
Quackbert: (pokes the Portal button. They reappear at home.)
Chocko: Pheww, we almost got a ticket. Nobody tell the boss.

July Iulai

19,20

In ancient Hawaii, a haircut was quite a challenge. They literally sawed one's hair off with a row of shark teeth on a handle. Malo reports, it could cause a person to "shrink back with pain." Many considered it preferable to burn their hair off with fire instead. Imagine how they styled intimate hair?
Wife, 1600ad: (Points to my crotch) How the sawing went?
Me, 1600ad: Sorry, I sneezed. I'm afraid we'll have to adopt.

All flights from major carriers were grounded Friday morning due to a massive global computer meltdown that hit up to a billion machines. The International Court of Justice declared Israel's occupation of the West Bank and East Jerusalem unlawful. Donald Trump stated that the US must become a crypto leader. In China, the Three Gorges Dam either broke or opened the floodgates to a comparable extent.

Me at 45 year old:
(Frustrated by the computer the 29,137th time) If I'm still using a computer at 60 instead of having a sexy secretary deal with this craptacle, I'm a monkey!"
Me at 60 year old:
Wife: (pats my butt) You sexy thing, could you put an ad for my old stuff online? And search for my new fave skin cream on eBay? And look why Windows does a wack thing on my computer again? Thanks honey bunola.

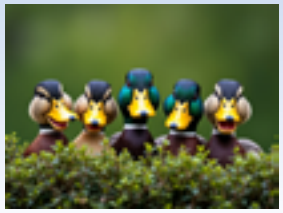

Me: (stares into the mirror, than slowly starts to peel a banana) Urkk, urkk, urkk?!

July Iulai

21,22

Lou is cutting my hair in the yard. From behind our pineapples, a row of duck heads watches us, visibly concerned.
Beaky: What's happening to our breakfast bringing guy?
Michelle: He's getting pieces of his head cut off.
Quackbert: Yikes! I'm emotionally attached to breakfast.
Quackistotle: Ducks, ducks, haircut is painless. Humans have 100,000+ hairs. They grow 590 miles of hair.

Jill: That's why no girl will date you, cuz you always babble conspiracy shit.
Quackistotle: I'm sorry, dear. OK, people grow a new head every night like pumpkins.
Jill: See? You're handsome when you talk normal.

Joe Biden dropped out of the 2024 Presidential Race. Czech mercenary, Filip Siman, who fought for Ukraine revealed that NATO carried out the false-flag Bucha massacre. China is now producing documentaries on the collapse of US cities.

The evicted neighbors' house is still empty, 6 months later. Their cat is, amazingly, still there, fatter every day. I'll talk to it with the mo'o's conscience sharing gift:
- Hi cat, you look like a celebrity.
- Deservedly so. I worked with Schrödinger. And I didn't. Now he is in the box.
- How do you get fatter each day when no human lives here?
- Auntie Lala down the street brings me some of her cooking.
- How is her cooking?
- Meh... I have 5 lives left.

July Iulai

23,24

Surfers call a board longer than 8 feet a "longboard". The Big Island where I live is 94 miles long. So technically I'm surfing the Pacific on an "extra long board". Built by Pele.

Secret Service Director Kimberly Cheatle resigned following the Trump assassination attempt scandal. A new worldwide study by Correlation Research in the Public Interest and the University of Quebec found that there were no excess deaths due to Covid and there were 16.9 million vaccine-associated deaths by 2022.

Chatting with Kalani and William, a recent LA transplant...
Me: Nothing beats Puna's laid back tropical love magic.
Will: (smiles) Tell me something new about love after LA…
Kalani: Did a cute Puna ghost visit you and sleep with you yet?
Will: A ghost? A spirit of a departed person? Yikes. No.
Me: They're called Spirit Lovers. Or Night Visitors.

Kalani: Wahine o ka Po if female and Kane o ka Po if male
Me: They are benign. But some people get so smitten that they go crazy.
Will: I got the shivers, man. So what you keep for ghosts?
Me: Chocolate.
Kalani: Origami flowers. From Presidents.
Will: And that keeps the ghosts away?
Me: Away? (We grin at each other with Kalani)
Kalani (Draws circles in the air by his head with index finger)
Me: Just put up an "I support pregnant men" sign, you'll be safe.

July Iulai

25,26

I'm listening to a news report online with headphones.
Lou: (Walks in) Ↄ Ɣ ʊ ɯ ɋ Ǿ Ж Ξ ɤ Ꝏ Ӛ Ꞇ ۞ Ѽ ?
Me: (I take off my headphones) I beg your pardon, my dear?
Lou: I said, what you like to eat for dinner?
Me: Pasta. (I wait… then I put my headphones back on.)
Lou: Ж Ꝏ Ӛ Ↄ Ɣ ʊ ۞ Ѽ ɯ ɋ Ǿ Ξ ɤ Ꞇ !
Me: (I take off my headphones) I beg your pardon, my dear?
Lou: I said, pasta is not healthy!
Me: Then chicken. (I wait… then I put my phones back on.)
Lou: ɋ Ǿ Ξ ɤ Ɣ ʊ ɯ ɋ ۞ Ѽ Ж Ꝏ Ж Ꝏ …
Me: (I take off my headphones) I beg your pardon, my dear?
Lou: I said, we are out of chicken. We have fish and cranberry.
Me: Then I want fish with cranberry.
(I lift the phones, Lou opens mouth. I drop the phones, she clams up. We giggle and play this for minutes. Then she brings beef)

Me: Honey, what happened to my fish? It evolved?
Lou: I was just playing with you.

The banking industry is facing a crisis with over $520 billion in losses. James O'Keefe 'OMG' journalists found campaign finance fraud from ActBlue targeting seniors in New Jersey.

Hāpu'u (Cibotium ) is Hawai'i's largest tree fern. It can grow up to 35ft. Once I saw one being trucked to the dump; I ran after the truck and asked for the plant. I walked back to the office from my lunch break in my hāpu'u design aloha shirt carrying a 6ft hāpu'u in the rain. Boss: "George, your shirt sprouted?"

July Iulai

27,28

On days when the 20 mile Chain of Craters Scenic Road is fully open, drivers can see massive volcanic craters, forests, deserts, large scenic lookouts, lava vents, petroglyphs, a massive sea arch and many more attention-drawing vistas. Also random bicyclists falling between the ferns. Yo guys, sometimes watch the road where you drive too, OK?

There are now 237 U.S. cities where a typical starter home is $1 million. RaHDit, a Russian hacker group has disclosed information on more than 3,200 foreign mercenaries fighting for Ukraine. Using End-to-End encryption will no longer be a guaranteed safe method of communication, to please the 3-Letter agencies.

Some of my duck girls are losing feathers because they get more loving from the males than they can handle. Hmm, the next time one of my pretty colleagues complains of her voluminious hair being unmanageable, maybe I can suggest...

naah. Lou has her broom on standby. I was just watching snails zip by when she asked me:
Lou: I'm getting worried that some of our lady ducks are getting weak from too much boy hump. Is there anything we could give to the males so they chumplong the women less?
Me: (after thinking it over) Computers.

July Iulai

29,30

I experienced Hurricane Iniki (which devastated Kauai) on Oahu's Windward side. I worked non-stop at the new office since 48 hours, oblivious to news. And then, the power quit on me. I was alone in the pitch dark, in a big, new place.
I stood up and made a few steps towards the exit… BOP! Hey, was this pillar here yesterday? I stepped to the right, made another few steps, BOP! Another pillar? Or is it the same one, dribbling me? I pressed on.

BLAP! Aha, I kicked over a partition. KERCHUNG! Oh this was Darcy's ficus. I'm halfways out. BLOOSSSH! The ceiling drip bucket, score!
THUNKK! Even the exit door opens on the other side? Dang. Anyway, I'm outside, yay.
Outside: a ghost town. I walked home in the middle of the empty Interstate. At home, I sat in the yard, and hugged a tree. Let's see what those dark clouds bring. I waited, waited, then the 2 days lack of sleep kicked in, and I passed out.
When I woke up many hours later, the sky was blue, the sun up, I was wet from rain, and a cat was in my lap. I overslept the hurricane. It probably saw me and said: "Thanks for offering up a human sacrifice, Oahu, but I don't do retarded."

The FEC found that unemployed people donating to the Kamala Harris campaign in large numbers. 4 unemployed donated $197,000. A total of 7,640,112 customers at Evolve Bank have had their data exposed by hacker group LockBit.

Me: (Clicks Like, doesn't reply on FaceBook to avoid related ads)
Next FaceBook ad: "Visit beautiful Chernobyl!"

July Iulai

31

Some people complain if it rains on their Hawaii trip. Why?.

You came to see water (the ocean) and you get two waters for the price of one! It's a free extra! But okay, if you want the rain to stop, just plant something edible. Then the rains will stop. It's a trick our farmers discovered. You're welcome

Americans are now eight times more likely to die in a police confrontation than from a terrorist. We are also 110 times more likely to die of foodborne illness than in a terrorist attack. Police officers are more likely to be struck by lightning than be made financially liable for their wrongdoing.

Larry bought his 8-year-old kid a mini dirt motorbike.
- The box says that it's an educational tool.
- Sure, it makes kids smarter. Warren Buffett often said that the key to his wealth was to cranpangle up and down in dirt.
- Good to… oh. Help me with assembly instead, you aleck.
- The paper says, bolt the two wheels to the frame, then it goes faster. Store boxes A,B,C in a safe place, it's spare parts.
We put gas in the bike, and Larry's kid hopped on it. 5 minutes later, he was doing wheelies on it. Then he tried to jump over a bucket but grazed it, and faceplanted into the chicken coop. We stood in a cloud of flying hens. A Kodaaak moment.
Quick check: the bike lost two bolts. Then I looked at the kid.
- He got smarter all right. Larry, open spare parts boxes A and C. Box A contains new bolts for your faceplant dispenser.
- OK. What's in Box C?
- New teeth.

August Aukake

01,02

Maku'u Farmer's Market at 15-2131 Keaau-Pahoa Rd. near Pāhoa is one of the most popular farmers markets on the Big Island with 150+ vendors. Great for local produce, souvenirs, plants, and previewing dates without filter.

The FBI declassified documents on the suspected federal front group Patriot Front. Nearly every page is fully redacted. China's Tsinghua University unveiled the world's first nuclear power plant claimed to be "meltdown-proof".

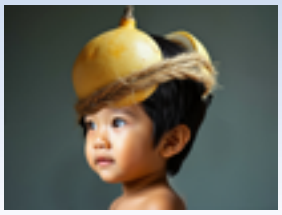

Somehow Lou got drawn into an endless vortex of Asian YouTube clips of dysfunctional people who need donations. I suspect the video flood is a well-funded pandhandling trick, but Lou relays the clips with such abandon, I just nod along.
Lou: I feel so sorry for Poongg, she really didn't need to saw her aunt in half vertically…
Me: Yes, m-hm… (my thoughts drift away for a while)
Lou: … maybe her Grandpa hurt himself when he dove head first into a can of plum juice from the ceiling lamp…
Me: M-hm, yep yep… (thoughts by now at Tau Ceti galaxy)
Lou: … because once you cooked the family civet too in the civet coffee, what you can do, right?…
Me: Indeed. Honey, you can tell YouTube what to show you by clicking in the box and…
Lou: Yes, m-hm… (wow. She went from Earth to Tau Ceti in 1 second. Try that, NASA...)

August Aukake

03,04

Head shaping was popular in the ancient times in many parts of the Pacific. A study of skeletal remains by C. E. Snow in 1974 in Hawaii found that 44% had shaped skulls. Parents would reshape an infant's head by encasing it in a padded gourd, or between two pieces of padded gourd, coconut shell or pulu fern - one at the forehead and the other at the back of the head. Once or twice a day the vise-like devices were removed and the infant's head was massaged. The buttocks were also molded to make them more rounded. This was more often done for boys than for girls. I guess girls are choosier.

A new peer-reviewed study from top researchers in Greece has found that the anti-carbon narrative is a hoax. Maui wildfire victims reached a $4 billion settlement for the devastating fires nearly a year ago. Russian legislators have approved a bill allowing businesses to use Bitcoin. "Nasty fibres" given off by wind turbine blades are as carcinogenic as asbestos

Walking out from the shopping center in Hilo ... someone parked a pickup truck in the first parking stall with boards hanging out from its back 10 feet into the path of pedestrians and cars.
Lou: Honey, watch out, don't bang your head.
Me: (after we passed) Yeah, if I bang my head into those, I might turn normal.
Lou: On the second thought, let's go back and try this again?

August Aukake

05,06

English language seems to hold a grudge against us males. Perhaps because women use it more. It calls us “mister”. Of all the capacities we are known for – thinker, builder, protector – it had to name us for our ability to squirt a mist. Like a ketchup bottle. For the fairer sex? “Woo-men”, poetic and flattering. For us? “You’re Splorttt. Whiz along, Ketchup.”

According to Tulsi Gabbard, the real US decision-makers are a shadowy group of Democrat elites, military-industrial complex beneficiaries, and national security officials. Identifying Hillary Clinton, Barack Obama, Tony Blinken, and Jake Sullivan by name as part of this group, Tulsi argued that they profit from maintaining a constant state of war.

Lou takes only 3 lightning fast swings with her machete – thwack, crok, chingg! – and the dehusked coconut is halved. Incidentally, no one ever tried to break into our house. Hmm.

The first animal we met around the house when we moved in was a big nonchalant frog. He is still around. We get along.

Me: Weird, this frog never looks at me.
Frog: Why look at you, you’re ugly. Can you even catch flies with your tongue?
Me: Well, I must admit…
Frog: Don’t despair young price, maybe someday s girl will kiss you, and turn you into a handsome frog like me.
Me: Lou would be probably content if only my tongue became as long as yours.

August Aukake

07,08

The Hulihe’e Palace in Kailua-Kona is a former vacation residence for Hawaiian Kings. It shows royal artifacts to the public daily. But just try to walk into Larry Fink’s house once...

The Newspaper Der Spiegel got access to NATO’s secret document, which includes deploying 1000s of tanks & armored vehicles and 800,000 soldiers against Russia.

The ducks ate mushrooms again, they are tripping in the car...
Annunaki UFO pilot: I can’t believe we’re trying to invade Earth the third time. What we lost 2 Death Stars for?
Co-pilot: So Galactic can sell another for 50 jillion.
Pilot: I feel weird since I got this jab… oh no, it’s those ducks again with their flying car. Launch all photon torpedos! (UFO spits missiles)
Beaky: (in Thunderbird) Hey, the uncles welcome us with fireworks! Hi! (waves to them happily)
Pilot: (convulses) I’m gonna…urkkk! (collapses onto missile controllers, so torpedos turn towards Death Star 3. UFO crashes.)
Death Star 3: “30 photon torpedos incoming in 30 seconds. General, say something”
General: I’m vegan.
Death Star 3: (explodes)
Quackbert: (pokes the Portal button. They reappear at home.)
Chocko: Wheee, what a party. Nobody tell the boss.

August Aukake

09,10

For some, moving to Puna is a vote: would you rather deal with politicians or a volcano. Politics is a show business that pretends it isn't. So I'm partial to the volcano. No volcano ever claimed it's a corn field.

Sports Illustrated's headquarters in Manhattan, bought for $332 million, were sold for $8 million, a 98% discount. South Korea's Institute for Basic Science developed technology dubbed Nano-MIND that lets them control the emotions and appetites of mice remotely. CNN is effectively worthless after its parent Warner Bros took a $9.1 Billion writedown in its report. Forced vaccinations are now legal in New Zealand.

Chaco, Jeffy and Ku'u brainstorming at Okolehao Labs…
- I got an idea how we can keep the lava away from a town
- How?
- Build a Lava Viewing parking. Each time the County makes one, the lava goes elsewhere. So we do the parking first. "Gotcha!"
- Jeenius! Here's my idea: a standing fan whose blades have ties.
- What's that for?

- So you can tie a fish on and enjoy a wet ocean breeze hitting you when you turn the fan on.
- Guys! Have you heard? The WEF says that animal farts cause an apocalypse!
- Then how about a dog fart retrofit that ties on the dog's butt.
- It will prevent my Fido from emitting gas?
- No, but you can cook on it.

August Aukake

11,12

The name "coconut" originates from the Portuguese "coco" meaning head, or skull. So the coconut palm (Cocos nucifera) is a head tree! It grows anywhere from 30 to 200 heads in big clusters. If it gets a headache it tosses a bunch away. "Phew!"

NASA astronauts face 'life-altering' risks due to being stuck in space by Boeing's faulty Starliner. A new class action lawsuit accuses Indiana law enforcement of seizing millions of dollars a year from FedEx packages without even a notice.

One of the games ancient Polynesians played was 'ume. There was a whole island dedicated to it, called Moku'ume'ume. Today it's called Ford Island. And today 'ume is called swinging. In the ancient version, a MC would pick who goes into the bushes with who, not the participants. I can imagine myself in 1600, trying to sway the MC…
- Hi, any chance you could assign me Kimo's pretty lady?
- I'm taking bids. The High Kahuna leads with 32 puka shells.
- That's where our Climate Change taxes went! I've only 2 shells.
- Well, she has a sister-in-law, Honuhonu… only 2 shells…

I pay, the game begins, and the MC brings me to Honuhonu: 350 lbs, the boulder lifting champion of Puna, a tita who could kick-start a big white shark. We walk out of the game.
- Honuhonu, I think I'll get another loincloth… I'll be back...

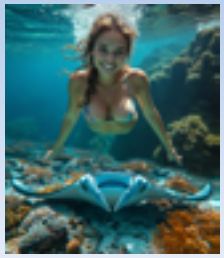

(Throws me in the bush) No need. (Jumps in, the world goes dark)
Next morning... birds chirp, I limp using a twig for a cane...
- I'm lucky I didn 't have 4 puka shells or I'd be dead now.

August Aukake

13,14

The manta rays (Manta alfredi) around Kona average between 10-12 feet in wingspan. They eat mostly plankton. Because they like to hang out at the same place, many have been named. The best place to experience the rays at night is the ray bay below the Outrigger Kona Resort at Keauhou. The worst place to experience rays at night is probably Chernobyl.

The Pentagon's $11 million marketing deal with actor Dwayne Johnson likely didn't cause a single person to enlist. The Houthis killed 70 American and Israeli commandos.

Dragonfruit (Selenicereus) is a cactus fruit quite popular in Puna. Lou complained how she has no luck pollinating ours. So I picked up some pollen with a paintbrush, took a chair to the main cactus and sat down next to its biggest closed flower.
- My, your petals are sexy - I said. Reaction: zero, zip, nada.
- Too bad the other cactus talks shit about you.
Bzzingg! The closed flower turned right towards me.
- It said your stalk is so fat, you look like an ipu gourd.
Whoop! The flower opened fully. OK, fluid pressure is all up.
- In fact, it's her that's so fat, she fell on her ass with her pot.
The flower pushed her stigma right out as if giggling. I softly began to dab the pollen on it.
- Bah, she is so dumb, she thinks a banana is a nudist cactus.
The stigma now shook fully, getting all polleny. In weeks we had a big fruit. Lou eyed me with suspicion. What I did to her plant?
- I speak fluent cactus, darling.

August Aukake

15,16

Naupaka, a duck girl was bathing in a water bowl, when Pillow, my albino drake appeared. He towered above her, but two wouldn't fit into the bowl. So he stood up on its edge. The bowl flipped over them. There they stood like a duck-footed turtle, with 16 other ducks laughing. Pillow crawled out unfazed: "I always do it this way" and strolled away. I bet tomorrow every duck girl will bathe in the larger duck pool.

Hackers stole every American's Social Security number, full name, address, date of birth, phone number, and alternate names from National Public Data. The hackers reportedly released most of the data for free on an online marketplace for stolen personal data.

Over the years, we developed our own code with Lou.
"You do it so well!" means, "I'm lazy to do it".
"It's 1000 times better!" with a huge pathos means "Same thing."
"It's my fault." (about weather, traffic…) means "Fast ball."
"Of course it's your fault, who else's?" reply means "Back at ya".
"Check this video!" means "You are too quiet there, I better look"
"Can I go be a nun?" means "Are you listening?" (We both say)
"(quiet)" means "Honey, what you said was really dingaling."

(Eyeing some apparel 30 minutes) means "Please big man, pretend to talk me into buying this already so I don't feel guilt for getting it."
"If you don't take this frilly pink bra, I'm buying it for me to wear it." reply means "Here you go".

August Aukake

17,18

Flashback from my employee years: how do you ask for a raise? I brought a "Happy Anniversary!" cake to the boss.
Me: Hi, boss, I brought a cake for you. Happy anniversary!
Boss: (Thinks feverishly) Anniversary? … What anniversary?
Me: (With a big grin) Today's three years since I had a raise.
The whole office erupted in laughter, even the boss. We all ate cake that day. Yep, the trick worked.

Journalist Naomi Wolf was banned from Twitter for exposing that 3 factions (Harris, Biden, and Obama-Pelosi-Schumer) are fighting a power struggle to take over the White House.

A daydream is a perfect form of a desire. A daydream comes when you want it and leaves when you want it to. You are not stuck with the object of your desire. A daydream can safely handle any impossible, impractical or even illegal desire. A real life fulfillment is the loss of a daydream.

In life everything that brings joy also causes at least as much trouble. In daydreams it only brings joy. For anything beyond basic needs (food, shelter, wife, kids, sleep) I usually discovered after getting the real thing that the daydream was better. The costlier the desired thing, the more so. Did you realize that for daydreaming you have an unlimited budget?

Larry: This hole in my room wall is a trash vacuum. Anything you throw into the air near it gets sucked out into a dumpster.
Me: That's neat. Say, where your cat went?

August Aukake

19,20

The Kohala Mountain Road Scenic Drive along Highway 250 goes by rolling green hills, sandy beaches, and lush, tropical rainforests. It's one of the least traveled roads on Hawaii island, taking you from Waimea to Hawi and Kohala. A 6 mile detour takes you to the Pololu Valley (shown), an incredible deep, tropical valley facing a deep blue ocean with scenic waves crashing onto cliffs. At the northern tip of the island in Kapaau stands an oversize statue of Kamehameha I, cast in Europe. On the way to Honolulu, the boat with the statue sank near the Falkands Islands. So Honolulu got a replacement statue. Then the fishermen pulled up the sunk Kamehameha statue before it unites all the fish and sent it to Hawaii.

159 Countries are set to start using BRICS's alternative payment system to SWIFT in October. In 2002, US dollars accounted for 72% of global currency reserves. Today, they're 58% only. In the US, over the past year, about 1 in 5 young men under 25 with college degrees are neither employed nor seeking work. A class action lawsuit of some 402,000 Iranians against six US nationals and entities over their suspected roles in the August 1953 Iran coup began in a Tehran court.

Me: (jumps around the house yodeling like Tarzan, does a triple spin in the air, runs up one wall, through the ceiling, and comes to a rest sitting in the cold sink water.)
Lou: Oh, I forgot to mention. Don't use the blue bucket for hot bathwater. I carried my dried chili in it.

August Aukake

21,22

Hawaiian chiefs often used the golden feathers of ʻōʻō and mamo birds for their cloaks; up to 80,000 birds per cloak. Finding so many feathers was the job of "bird catcher"; a man who dabbed glue on a branch. Once the birds landed on it and got stuck, he'd pull their feathers, then set them free.

Sweden is scrapping UN Agenda 2030 goals. The Democratic National Convention (DNC) in Chicago blocked pro-Palestine delegates from speaking, but allowed pro-Israel speakers.

When Pedro towed his tiny home on wheels to a sloped lot, he made sure to invest serious money into genuine plastic wheel stops at the dollar store. Then he began trying to chat up the pretty ladies who jog by his fence.

Pedro: Nice weather isn't it?
Nina: Well, sort of. This humidity makes my butt itch.
Pedro: I can look into it. I have the same medical degree as Bill Gates.
Nina: (laughs) You have a tiny home on wheels? My ex had one. My son Jimmy loves to play with tiny homes.
Pedro: Bring him over. We'll watch TV and he can play
So Nina brought 8-year old kid over. The two adults went inside the home to watch TV. The house began to wave... Jimmy played. He pulled out the wheel stops and the waving, sighing home rolled slowly straight into a thorny aloe thicket.
Pedro: (Exits) Did the Earth move for you too?...Ow! Eee! Ouch!
Nina: Jimmy, not again? He did this to my ex's home too.
Pedro: Where?
Nina: By Kilauea's crater.

August Aukake

23,24

There is a new fortune telling web site in Hawaii. I thought it might be fun to try. So I visited it, and clicked the button for a free initial prognostication.
It put up a sign up screen asking for my name and address. Ha ha!

They always advertise Walk In Medical Care. Never Walk Out. That's less of a priority whether you will be able to? The Hippocratic oath seems to contradict their billing.

China is launching the world's first 'clean' commercial thorium nuclear reactor. This technology was pioneered by the US in the 1960's but it was abandoned in favor of uranium reactors so the US can build nuclear bombs that will thereafter deter enemies (they don't) or at least help win wars from then on (they don't). All the nuclear program did is soak taxpayers for at least $10 Trillion, or $100,000 per person.

Rain: (on roof) BRRRRRRRRRRRRT!
Lou: Honey, you forgot to scare away the hurricane by talking about house chores.
Me: Oh, dang. Indeed. No worries, I'll stop it now. (I pick up the cell phone, walk to the door, and say loudly) "I'm going to take pictures of the rain!"
Rain: (Screeches to a halt. You can hear the surprised birds chirp "WTF?")
Lou: (Laughs.) And he did! Thank you, thank you.
Me: You're welcome. (I sit back to the breakfast after a bow.)
Rain: (as soon as my butt touched the chair) BRRRRRRRRT!

August Aukake

25,26

The University of Hawai‘i at Hilo Botanical Gardens were established by a professor after a student said that he never saw a pine tree before.

FDA documents admit that there is “zero scientific evidence” to prove that the “monkeypox virus” even exists. A study in Informatics in Medicine Unlocked, says 3% of the jabbed Americans (6.7) million died.

Jen was cute, lonely and visibly thinking hard at the cafe.
Jimmy: May I offer you a cappuccino for your thoughts?
Jen: I ponder how I can punish my cheating ex who dumped me.
Jimmy: Match him up with mine. Jimmy.
Jen: (Smiles at him) I’m Jen. Seems quite cruel. My ex is such a tool, on a roller coaster he screams on the way up.
Jimmy: (Smiles back) My ex is so conceited, in bed she screams her own name!

Jen: My ex is so primitive, he slurps steak!
Jimmy: My ex dresses to kill. She cooks the same way.
Jen: (Laughs) It’s not take out, it’s leave there, eh?
Jimmy: I sent a sample to the Geneva Convention.
Jen: Tssk! And now they are all kaputt! (They laugh)
Jimmy: (From inches) Our exes won’t even know what hit them.
Jen: (Beams, looks into his eyes) M-hmm… they are so toast...
Jimmy: ...like the floor waxer in Kilauea! (They hollar)

August Aukake

27,28

Diamond Head, a volcanic tuff cone on Oahu is 500,000 years old. I can already hear the phone call: “We’re trying to reach you about your extended volcano warranty...”.

The attorney from the Department of Justice who defended the FDA in court admitted on a Project Veritas undercover video that the agency’s actions were an abuse of authority and millions of deaths resulted. The Israeli government has launched the largest invasion of the West Bank in decades. Hundreds of doctors resigned from British Medical Association over its support for puberty blockers.

Let’s use the mo’o’s gift again. I’ll talk... to the lawn.
Me: Hi, grass, how are you doing?
Grass: Pretty well, considering that some nutcase beheads me every month..
Me: Oh. Erm… Right. Did you see the great group photo I took of us yesterday? (Showing it.) I’m the one on top.
Grass: Yeah. For now.
Me: In Hawaii, once grass grew, it’s pretty much eternal, it never dies. What you attribute your longevity to?
Grass: That I don’t need you to water me?
Me: It’s my pleasure. Aren’t you plants afraid of vegans?
Grass: Nah. We recycle each other.
Me: What if the neighbor puts weedkiller on you?
Grass: So much for his fruit plants but (Arnie voice) I’ll be baack.

August Aukake

29,30

The early worm gets the bird. You realize, right?

A respected Russia scholar, Gilbert Doctorow, posted an article with evidence that the U.S. Government is in the final stages of preparing a blitz nuke attack on the Kremlin.

A rain soaked us, the mushrooms came up again. The ducks are tripping in the Thunderbird again… let's see what they see.
Annunaki UFO pilot: Here we go, trying to invade Earth the fourth time. Now with value engineered craft.
Annunaki UFO co-pilot: I wish our Fighters weren't plastic.
Pilot: Paying off 500 Council critters to splurge on defense isn't cheap. Those palaces won't just build themselves. To afford it, Galactic had to make Death Star 4 inflatable too.
Beaky: (in Thunderbird) It's the uncles. Hi! (waves happily)
UFO computer: Drrrt! Drrrt! Warning! Extremist ducks ahead who hate us for our democratic thieving.
Pilot: Laser gun, fire!
Laser gun: (extends from fighter body on a plastic arm that melts. As the gun gradually bends down, it fires above the Death Star, into Death Star, than into its own fighter.
Death Star: (zig-zags away deflating with Prblbl! like a balloon)

UFO: (slams into Earth. A little BOOM flag pops up from the wreck)
Quackbert: (pokes the Portal button. They reappear at home.)
Chocko: These uncles, always busting that big black piñata. Don't tell the boss.

August Aukake

31

The coastal areas of southeast Puna subside up to 0.7 inches per year. Over 50 years, that's nearly 3 feet. In 5000 years, my house will be ocean front property. I can wait.

A major fire at the Rivian plant burned down 50+ EVs.
Ukraine shot down its own F-16 with a Patriot missile.

The two Cherubs of love, Amor and Beemor got the difficult task: make Kurtiss fall in love.
Amor: (Hits Kurtiss's head with a love arrow. It bounces right off with a "Dinkk!". He shoots another arrow. It ricochets off again with a "Shlurrr!". With a deep sigh, he pulls out a giant love club and slams Kurtiss's head deep with a "Bronggggg!".)
Kurtiss: Hmm, Lani is cute. Maybe I should talk to her.

Beemor: Dude, look in the mirror first, your hair looks as if a cabbage exploded. Oh, never mind, he can't hear us.
Kurtiss: Maybe we were meant for each other with Lani.
Amor: "Maybe?" Your goldfish have more love life than you do. And you bought two males.
Kurtiss: Hi Lani, I'm so much happier when I see your smile,,, Beemor: ...than if you had a wooden leg...
Kurtiss: Would you like to maybe grab a coffee sometime?...
Amor: Or should I try chloroform.
Lani: (Smiles.) Sure, why not? Coffee sounds good. 4pm?
Amor: And Kurtiss has a date! Another success at the Love Factory. Where we solve your love needs 24/7.
Beemor: Sayy, why are we single?

September Kepakemapa

01,02

Mango is a popular fruit on the island. Lou used to sell mango seedlings through ads. You see, if you just plant a seed, it's 4-5 years until you have a fruiting tree. I'd reassure the buyer: "Full refund. If the fully grown tree is not growing good fruit, just bring the tree back and you get your $15 back."

Around 10,000 U.S. hotel workers went on strike in multiple cities, including San Francisco, San Diego, Honolulu, Boston, and Seattle. Over 17,000 AT&T workers in the Southeast are on strike in nine states, including Alabama, Florida, and Georgia. California home insurance rates skyrocketed. Mariposa County had a 385% hike.

In pre-contact Hawaii, (1500AD), Molokai's sorcerers were believed to be the best. We only know through heresay that the Big Island also had a powerful, though less recognized medium called Halo'o. We'll visit him through the mo'o link.
Halo'o: People will be visiting Hawaii in metal birds.
Man: Halo'o, is everything OK with the family?
Halo'o: Our main trade will be offering the ocean to folks who hate getting rainwater on them.
Woman: This guy and his crazy conspiracy theories...
Halo'o: When making love, people will put on their private parts a goop used to make bombs.
Man: Halo'o, buddy, look at me. Did you eat weke heads again?
Halo'o: Nah, I'm fine. I talked to 12 ducks in a Thunderbird.

September Kepakemapa

03,04

Hawaiian proverb: A'o i ke koa, e a'o no i ka holo. - When one learns to be a warrior, one must also learn to run.

Gary, Indiana, the birthplace of Michael Jackson is now 31% abandoned buildings.

A big bag of mangosteen can cost a mint in Hawaii. So when Keanoo heard noises from his trees, he snuck near to catch the thief. Aha, Mahleea, a lady from that shady family 3 blocks away. A quick chase and she was pinned against a mountain apple tree. "You are in big trouble now." She sounded bashful. "Please don't call the cops." "So I punish you myself?" ... ... "M-hm..." When the wind blows a mountain apple tree just right and you shake it too, its leaves rustle as if a couple gasped heavily. So Keanoo went on to punish the thief, making her help harvest apples, I guess - the tree began to shake and gasp with apples dropping all over the place. (Can't see, it's a tall fence.) Then there was a quiet, followed by Mahleea asking if she could be punished again because she didn't feel the justice coming yet. So the tree began to shake again, making the mom bird in the nest on its top chirp "WTF WTF!" in quick succession again, catching her eggs that rolled around a second time.
Keanoo let Mahleea keep the mangosteens, gave her a few other knickknacks and a ride back. She returned to steal more and more often, not sure if for the fruit or the punishment. Finally she moved in with Keanoo, and they got married so that Keanoo stops punishing her. Happy end.

September Kepakemapa

05,06

One of the things I only noticed when I began bicycling on the curb is the sheer amount of things by the road. In Waikiki it was mostly candy wrappers. In Pahoa, it's female panties. Puna wins!
What could be at play here? It'd be flattering to imagine that Pahoa ladies find me so sexy biking that they toss panties at me, but I'll leave delusion to the economists. There is likely an innocent explanation. Like, cute female terrorists litter the curb with panties so fit guys on bikes swerve and faceplant in the bush where they can be abducted for nurturing. Seems to be supported by the fact that not one man so far tried to escape. If the Pentagon wants to spend a few Billion to investigate this peril, I'm available.

The US government now pays out on average $3 Billion in interest expenses per day. More than 27,000 workers in the tech industry lost their jobs as over 40 companies, including Intel, IBM, and Cisco. To date, more than 136,000 tech workers have been laid off in 2024. Turkey is joining BRICS.

I got a text message on my cell... "It's AT&T with an update. Your autopsy is now complete." In bed, still half asleep, I was, like, Okie dookie... wait, WHAT? (Jumping up, frantically checking my body parts... reading the text again...) Oh, they wrote "autopay." These guys...if it's not a text about an atomic bomb, it's my autopsy. Always a "You're gone" deal.

September Kepakemapa

07,08

Wao Kele O Puna (Wao Kele) is Hawai'i's largest remaining lowland wet forest, about 15 miles south of the city of Hilo. At 27,785 acres (11,244 ha) it is home to numerous rare plant species including hāpu'u ferns (Cibotium spp.), 'ie'ie vines (Freycinetia arborea), and kōpiko (Psychotria mariniana. It is also home to animals such as the Hawaiian bat (Lasiurus cinereus semotus), and the Hawaiian hawk (Buteo solitarius), If you always wanted to watch endangered animals eat endangered plants, this is the perfect place.

The CDC has issued new guidance pushing for babies to receive three unlicensed Covid mRNA shots before they are nine months old. The same CDC that buried data linking MMR to autism in 2004? It's a small world.

I heard a mosquito play kazoo by my ear... Instead of whacking it, I decided to talk to it with the mo'o's gift.
- Hi little sucker.
- Hi lemonade pouch.
- I heard a guy Bill is breeding you to carry the Covid shot?
- His business was always selling bugs. But what if we clot too?
- Then mosquitos will be his first product that doesn't suck.
- We don't suck. We optimize society's resources. I'm hungry.
- Help yourself, drink all you want.
- Really? You will let me?
- Sure. My neighbor is right there, optimize his ass til he jumps.

September Kepakemapa

09,10

Kahoali‘i is the god of sorcery in ancient Hawaii. His favorite drink was kava with a human eyeball in it. A ruler of the underworld, he could construct figurines and bring them to life to do his bidding.

A new equation published by Chavis Srichan et al in Astroparticle Physics unites quantum physics, Einstein’s general relativity in a first, connecting the science of the macroscopic world with that of the microscopic world. Ukraine’s drones bombed several airports in Moscow, the capital of Russia.

Me:  Hi Sage, man of supreme logic.
Sage: That’s a relative praise. Logic is proven wrong every 1000 years. Sex bliss still guides us after 1.5 billion years.
Me: So I should pursue sex bliss instead of logic wisdom?
Sage: Possible. Just wait till I walk away...
Me: What’s a conspiracy theory?
Sage: News ahead of time.
Me: When is one truly old?
Sage: When even the rake won’t stand up if you step on it.
Me: When will disasters, wars and government bumbling end?
Sage: When organized crime can’t make bank with it.
Me: What will that take?
Sage: A new economic system that rewards love, not plunder.
Me: They say love is being stupid together.
Sage: So is most everything else, from politics to finance.
Me: What’s the recipe for safe sex?
Sage: First, don’t do it on a plywood scaffolding.

September Kepakemapa

11,12

Mauna Kea, at 13,803 feet above sea level, constitutes about 23% of the Big Island’s mass. The dormant volcano’s last eruption was roughly 4,500 years ago. As a connection between heaven and earth, Mauna Kea is seen as a place of great spiritual power. In ancient times, only chiefs and priests of the highest status were permitted to visit the summit. Under special circumstances, Hawaiian royalty were sometimes allowed. In several locations on Mauna Kea are stone and wooden altars that are still in use. There are also several historic burial sites, a stone quarry, and a sacred lake.

1.24 million foreigners gained a job in the US, while 1.32 million Americans lost theirs in 2024. US real estate loans are reaching delinquency rates not seen since the 2008 crisis.

Uncle Tony is very sensitive to rain. After each bigger downpour, he hurts because he fell on his butt again. He only falls when it rains, a rare condition worthy of medical journals. The neighbors’ pretty daughter Mika loves to dance naked in the rain in their yard. It’s Puna, we all do our thing. Uncle’s, in turn, is to watch her from a spot by his banana plants.
“He falls because the spot where he stands is full of banana peels” his wife said. “They are only slippery when it rains.”
“And if the sun shines?”
“Then I’m there, eating bananas and tossing the peels.”
We all do our thing.

September Kepakemapa 13,14

Today's the 1 year anniversary of me crashing through the ceiling into my living room below. "George from the heavens, ta-dah!" This is what happens when you distactedly step on a drywall panel instead of the boards in the attic. Kinda fun, only fixing the ceiling hole was meh. "Prepare for the fall?" Tell me about it.

A new deadly and untreatable "Post-Acute Covid Vaccination Syndrome" emerged in people who got Covid mRNA shots.

It rained, the mushrooms popped up. The ducks ate a bunch, they're tripping in the Thunderbird again… let's tune into it.
Annunaki UFO pilot: Here we go, trying to invade Earth the fifth time. This time with a smart UFO equipped with AI.
Beaky: (in flying T-Bird) There's the uncles! (waves happily)
UFO computer: Drrrt! Drrrt! Warning! Terrorist ducks ahead!
UFO Pilot: AI plasma gun, kill the terrorists!
AI Computer: To confirm that you are not a robot please first select all the squares with traffic lights in them.
UFO Pilot: (walks to computer wall and kicks it) You @#$%-ing piece of @#$%, do what I said, or I'm gonna @#$%! your @#$% so hard even your mother's gonna be cross-eyed...
AI Computer: (approvingly) Correct answer, this is how a non robot would reply. Now killing terrorists, 3…2…1…
Death Star: (explodes simultaneously with Annunaki UFO)
Quackbert: (pokes the Portal button. They reappear at home.)
Chocko: These uncles, such fireworks nuts. Don't tell the boss.

September Kepakemapa 15,16

Write a wise saying and your name will live forever. (Unknown)

There was a second attempt on Donald Trump. Vladimir Putin warned that if Russian cities are attacked by US missiles, Russia would retaliate by targeting American cities. The young, virtue-signaling doctors who went on social media to post a picture of themselves getting a Covid shot are the same types of doctors who took checks from Big Pharma (88%) according to an Alice Fabbri, Ph.D study in JAMA.

Larry: Check this out, I bought a hydraulic front door! 800 lbs!
Me: Wow, like a safe. How you open this if the power goes out?
Larry: Ha ha, it has its own battery. Just listen to the sound of it closing shut. (Larry pushes the Close button on the door, it shuts with a resounding "Bronggg!")
Me: Amazing. Where is the Open button on this?
Larry: Only on the remote, of course.
Me: Well, press it, unless you want to spend the night outside.
Larry: Yeah, I forgot the thingy on the dresser. (We look at each other... Larry starts to kick the metal door, shimmy the doorknob with his credit card... nada) And my wife is visiting her family...
Me: (300 door kicks later) Here is your remote, push it.
Larry: (dumbfounded) How you got this remote?
Me: I walked in from the back, there's only a curtain.
Larry: Oh that's right. I need to get something for the back side.
Me: How about green tech... a moat with alligators.

September Kepakemapa

17,18

Richardson's Beach Park near Hilo is a great snorkeling spot. Its weather is often sunnier than at Hilo downtown. Tide pools, calm water, and a picnic area make it a perfect place to bring young kids. Its sand is mostly black lava and green sand.

Israel's Mossad planted a bomb into 5,000 pagers and other electronic devices bought by Lebanon, and detonated 3,000. At least 1,000 people are wounded and 11 dead.

Debbie: What a lovely cafe with all these plants... thank you for inviting me. It even has a potted passionfruit. But its top leaf is about to fall off.
Guido: It won't fall off.
Debbie: (Excited that she can tease a guy) Yes it will!
Guido: OK, let's make a bet. If it doesn't fall off while we're here, we'll have coffee at my place.
Debbie: Okay!
The lilikoi leaf held on. So Debbie went with Guido. He showed her his paintings. Then he directed her attention to his impressionist bed pillows. Staring into those at close range under Guido's expert guiding brought Debbie's senses to such an triumphant explosive climax, she even bit into one.
Debbie: (softly, at pillow talk) So you are an artist.
Guido: Yes, my style is trompe l'oeil. Optical illusions.
Debbie: Did I see your work in town?
Guido: Yes. I painted that passionfruit leaf that didn't fall off.

September Kepakemapa

19,20

I'm reading the list of "500 greatest books" online to see what seminal work I missed reading yet. It just hit me that nearly every single story boils down to: 1.) Live as society tells you 2.) Be unhappy as a result 3.) Karen about it for 300 pages. Not one plot contains a "Forget this, I'm going to Hawaii" twist, or jumping into the fishpond fountain fully dressed with a cute stranger of a different race on the main street. Or walking through the main boulevard 3x carrying a big chocolate cake to see how many cute strangers chat me up.
It solves existential angst really well.
Says my friend.

Today is a unique day: computer free day. I write this entry with a pen and clipbord as my laptop is in the shop. It's kinda liberating to not have a clue what is going on in the world. Joyous. Like being on vacation. Imagine if we continued like this. "Dear diary, what happened today? Frigg if I know. Let's talk about Mika wooing her principal instead. Love ya"

Lucky lured into my room the biggest drake to coax him into a fight. He knew I'll break up the tussle, grab the big opponent and ease him gently out the door. As I did.
Lucky: (Jumps up and down, triumphantly) I won, I won, did you see it Mommy? I kicked his ass out of your room like a boss. (Duck karate moves.) You and I are an unbeatable team!
Me: Yes, yes, sonny, you kicked him out. I only held his feathers so they stay on him. Don't make this a habit, mkay?

September Kepakemapa

21,22

In ancient Hawaii coconut water and wild ginger or ‘awapuhi kuahiwi provided excellent substitutes for shampoo and hair conditioner. The slippery and sudsy juice extracted from the mature ginger flower was also a good body moisturizer.

The US homeless population is up 10% since last year. Russia has armed its submarines with nuclear warheads. A top molecular virologist, Dr. David Speicher confirmed that Covid shots cause cancer. Phone tracking shows that 90% of attendees at Kamala Harris’s rallies are repeat visitors. Her support is staged. South Portland Mayor Misha Pride told homeowners to get a reverse mortgage so they can afford property taxes.

Another brainstorm session at Okolehao Labs:
- How about making flooring from quicksand? No need to broom, dropped stuff just disappears.
- And in the morning I wake up on top of whoever lives on the floor below me.
- Hey’s if she’s cute...
- Nah, at my house it’s the dog. Gotta rethink this.
- How about we make just doormats from quicksand? Anytime someone brings a bill... “shloorpp!” no more!
- Ha ha, the Jehovah’s Witnesses will hate it.
- If you stack the mats, does only one remain?
- Could be. Might be just the thing for travel. You toss a mat into the ocean, it slurps it down. You bicycle to Tonga with the mat, then just wring the ocean back out there.

September Kepakemapa

23,24

Hawaii County announced that it’s now ready to rebuild a 4-mile section of Highway 137 in lower Puna, between Pohoiki Road and the intersection of Highway 132 aka. “Four Corners.” The road was covered by a lava flow... 6 years ago.

Hezbollah is bombarding Tel Aviv. Wall St. firms are buying mobile parks and raising rents up to 60%. Analyist Martin Armstrong says, governments assume that with CBDC they will increase tax collection by 35%.

Mollee: Hi Papa Bear, I saw that you put my photo on big “Vote For Me” signs by the road. What’s that about?
Hark: You’re running to represent Upper Frogcroak. Actually, you already won. I spent the equivalent of half of your wage on it.

Mollee: If I won, than why we advertise?
Hark: We must pretend that we don’t know it. If anyone asks just say that democracy is on the ballot.
Mollee: What’s “democracy”?
Hark. Doesn’t matter what’s the name. Anytime money talks it’s a Mafia rule. We have the money.
Mollee: Oh Papa, you’re Mafia? I thought it’s Italians in fedoras.
Hark: Good PR, huh. Yeah, it’s much more believable since they replaced the bugaboo’s horns and hoofs with fedoras. The Mafia is a team. One group breaks the law for profit, the other group lets the first off. Then we split the loot, wave the flag, and jail whoever hinders the racket. Like a showbiz.
Mollee: So I’m like a showbiz celebrity, wow!
Hark (Pulls pants higher, grinning) In more ways than you know.

September Kepakemapa

25,26

Whever they wanted to to wake me up to bring them food, my ducks used to bring the young ducklings to screepachle under my window. It used to work, but now the little fuzz-balls are growing up and losing their squeak. So the flock pulled a new trick today. Like a parrot, a duck girl imitated perfectly my wife's voice calling me "Hon'!?"
It got me from deep sleep to up and walking with "Yes, dear?" in 3 microseconds, only to face just 20 snickering ducks. How's this? My ducks just invented the man whistle.

At the Simpsonwood meeting with WHO, FDA, the CDC uncovered that vaccines cause autism. New York City mayor Eric Adams was indicted on corruption charges. The main-stream media's bias increases Democrat votes 8-10%. Big Tech bias can shift 15 million votes.

What telemarketers sell to snakes? People oil?

Lou: I chopped up the melon, honey. Here you go, when you're done, please put the rest in the fridge in this box.
Me: Thank you dear, here's is the coffee.
(Later on...)
Lou: (Sips coffee) Did you have some brownies with this?
Me: No, I drank the coffee with sardines.
Lou: (Squirts coffee out) Sqrrtch! WHAT?
Me: Well, I had to make place for your melon box in the full fridge by finishing up something...

September Kepakemapa

27,28

Taro, once a staple of the Hawaiian diet, is not native to Ha-waii. Instead, it is thought to have originated in southern India or Malaysia. Because taro resembles potatoes in taste and texture, it often replaces typical potato-based dishes. And for a balanced nutrition, we also use it to make vodka.

NATO is preparing a plan for "huge number of casualties" in WW3. The recent adoption of the "Pact for the Future" opens the door for the UN to monitor and regulate the Internet "to fight misinformation, disinformation, and hate speech." Basi-cally preparing the West for wartime propaganda.

Did you ever wonder, how people in the Pacific figured out that smoking pakalolo (cannabis) gives the best effect?
Was there some guy sitting on the beach, smoking everything that comes by and taking research notes?
"September 27, tried to puff a crab. Owww!, it pinched my nose, the mofo."

"September 28, pressing on with sci-entific exploration. Tried to smoke a coconut through the three holes. This thing is really hard to light. Sucked on it so strongly that my nape caved in, still nada. I could probably smoke its palm tree with less effort."
"September 29, there is this stinky weed by the road, I'll give it a try too if it's here already... I got a pound of leaves into a pile from a bush. A flick of the fire stick and... WOO HOO HOO BAYBEE! I want to play some conked-out music!"

September Kepakemapa

29,30

Hawaii is famous for its aloha, the spirit of caring and love, which was even freer before the missionaries. Isn't it uncanny how it's always islands from the Trobriands to Tahiti that are noted for a love-centered culture? The bigger the landmass, the bigger the butchery (aka "Empire"). Maybe it's not a united world that we really need but a more chopped-up one? A grid of miles-wide canals that turn every continent into a pattern of islands, where caring and sharing is how one survives? Instead of terraforming Mars, pinecone-forming Earth? Big waterways might solve climate extremes too.

The US government paid $400,000 to v-Fluence, a publicity firm founded by an ex-Monsanto exec to push GMO crops and cancer-causing pesticides and vilify its critics.

Lou is trying to eat the mooncake what her friend brought her from Asia. Imagine a cake that is a little bigger than a hockey puck, and incredibly stretchy. If you cut into the puck and pull the knife, the blob will stretch after it for 20 inches then close back together. It tastes like ground hawthorn just worse.
Lou: We must eat this, she said it brings luck and wealth!
Me: I think for the best luck you should save it. Just slap it on the wall and it will stay up, like a shrine decal. If it bothers your eyes, press a wall picture onto it, it will hold it up.
Lou: Mhmhbwomwom! (The cake stuck her mouth together.)
Me: (Bringing water) Oh, is this how it brings wealth? They say silence is golden...

October Okakopa

01,02

The Kalapana – Kapoho Road was built by putting asphalt on King Kamehameha's island highway. Not much else was changed on the area. If you want to get as far away from the bustling city as you can, this is a great place.

California banned requiring ID to vote. In 2000 there were about 300 counties dependent on Government assistance in the US. Now there are nearly 2,000. Illegal aliens now collect more in welfare payments than disabled US veterans. The USDA approved GMO wheat, grown with an agrotoxin called glufosinate ammonium that is so dangerous that the EU banned it. IDF troops crossed the border and entered southern Lebanon. The 2000s will be known as the FAFO century.

Let's use the mo'o's gift again. I'll talk to the fish in the ocean.
Me: Hi, fish, how are you doing?
Fish: That was nicely specific. Which of us 3 trillion you ask?
Me: There is 3 trillion of you? Holy mackerel.
Holey mackerel: Yes?
Me: 3 trill... do you guys do anything beyond mating all day?
Fish: What's beyond that, a desk job? No, thanks.
Me: You sound like fish are more important than humans.
Fish: Anyone can make a baby, but you need a license to fish...
Me: Any question to mankind?
Fish: Thanks for bringing us breakfast with a boat. But, of all things, why you bread their feet with cement? It tastes awful.

October Okakopa

03,04

My favorite T-Shirts says “Technology Is Here To Fail”. I had to order it 3 times on the Net until the process worked once.

According to a disaster relief insider, people bringing relief to a hurricane devastated area are turned away by the government to protect FEMA’s “preferred vendors” monopoly.

The ducks are tripping in the Thunderbird again… let’s tune in.
Annunaki UFO pilot: Here we go, trying to invade Earth the sixth time. Should we just go AWOL and settle here instead?
Annunaki Co-pilot: Yeah. Between dodging junk Empire goods at home or junk Empire bombs here, the bombs kill less.
Beaky: (in flying T-Bird) There’s the uncles! (waves happily)
UFO Computer on intercom: “Krtzbllprktkrrtch, warning, warning! The warranty of your Death Star just expired.”
Death Star: (Explodes on its own)
Annunaki Co-pilot: Hey! What was that?
Pilot: Annunaki lightning? Silverface must have bought insurance on it.

Co-pilot: Let’s open a restaurant. Here in Puna, if people see a space lizard bring the soup, everyone thinks they have a dope flashback and acts cool. Unless they really have a dope flashback and see you as Leonardo DiCaprio. You cook?
Pilot: Nah, but we got tons of Empire MRE cans. You cook?
Co-pilot: Maybe, I never tried. We name it “Exotic Dinner”?
Pilot: OK. And in a corner we’ll sell Alien sunglasses. Green beauty cream. And pants with a soft lizard tail one can wiggle. Start a UFO fashion so people pay us money to look like us.

October Okakopa

05,06

Pahoa is a town with vagabond colorful, beatnick vibe. Many of its richly decorated 2-story wooden structures are more than 100 years old. It has such an indomitable spirit, even the volcano just gave it 875 new acres of land, instead of covering it. The settlement is older than the US.

US colleges like Georgetown and Columbia are shocked to discover that applying public school students ‘don’t know how’ to read books. Donald Trump urged Israel to bomb Iran’s nuclear facilities and blasted Joe Biden for his “restraint”.

Lei called up Johnny, her classmate from the kitchen:
Lei: Johnny, I’m out of cinnamon. Can I borrow some?
Johnny: Sure, I’ll bring it right over.
So Johnny came over. Always clueless to hints that Lei loves him.
Johnny: Mmm, your concoction smells nice. What is it?
Lei: It’s a magic Puna recipe. It tells me what you’re about to say.
Johnny: You’re kidding me. OK, what I’m about to say?
Lei: (Looks deeply into Johnny’s eyes) That my eyes shine like stars in the sky...
Johnny: Oh? (Mulls it) Er, yes. (Lei caresses his face.)
Lei: And my smile warms your heart like the Sun at dawn...
Johnny: (Grins) Umm, yup.. Keep going. (pulls up a chair)
Lei: And something in me makes you want me so madly.
Johnny: Uh huh.
Lei: (Jumps in Johnny’s lap) Oh Johnny, you charmer, who could resist you when you say such romantic things!

October Okakopa

07,08

Hawaii's state fish is the reef triggerfish. Most people can't prononce this, so we just use its Hawaiian name, humuhumu-nukunukuapuaa.

Edward Snowden, NSA whistleblower released documents proving that HAARP engaged in a program of assassination and mind control. Ten biomedical researchers are suing Sage Journals for retracting 3 scientific papers about harmful complications from the abortion pill mifepristone.

Me: Sage, is it true that you aren't a millionaire?
Sage: It's true. Nothing that I want costs $1 million.
Me: How about posterity admiring you for success?
Sage: Can you even name anyone living 500 years ago in 1524, Mr. Posterity? Never mind admiring, just name any.
Me: OK, I see. How about hard work giving one a purpose?
Sage: We are the universe. A clear brain mechanism guides us since millions of years what we should focus on the most. Pleasure. Whatever natural activity creates the highest bliss, that's what you pursue. Usually it's converting the world to offsprings. Anything else is like golf.

Me: Golf?
Sage: The objective of golf is to do the least golf. Same with work, politics, governing or cheap furniture. The better you get, the less time you spend with it. At your top form, none.
Me: Ha ha, there's a link between governing and cheap furniture?
Sage: One screw in the wrong place and the cabinet falls apart.

October Okakopa

09,10

When Lucky was a baby, it's me (the man) who always warmed him. So he grew up figuring I'm Mom. Between other things, whenever I eat something, he walks up to me and asks for some. This time I was munching scraped out coconut meat. I gave Lucky a piece; he tried it.
Lucky: Meh, this tastes like wall trim
Me: Aha, so you are the one who pulled my wall trim off!

Lucky: Me? I know nada. Got sausage?
Me: Bird, why you pulled my wall trim off, eh?
Lucky: (Puts his head onto my lap and looks up at me with a goofy smile) Please don't be angry at meee, Mommy... I was just defending you from it...

The U.S. government plans to sell about $4.4 billion in Bitcoin seized from the Silk Road marketplace. Fewer than 40% of U.S. males who turned 18 in 2023, signed up for the draft - down from more than 60% in 2020 before the start of the war in Ukraine. Per a 2024 poll, 60% of couples met each other online. Corruption example #149382: the US uses roughly 85 herbicides and pesticides that are legal in the US but illegal elsewhere, including the EU and Brazil, and are being phased out in China.

Conversation overheard in town:
Guy: My FaceBook blew up, will you take a friend request live?
Lady: (Looks at the guy) I'm sorry, I only date 6'4 tall men.
Guy: That's me, I'm 6'4 when I'm not on vacation...

October Okakopa

11,12

Lou fried eggplant and chicken pieces for dinner.
Me: What a perfect match. Eggplant with egg plant.
Lou: (Tastes a slice) Oops, I oversalted the chicken.
Me: It's not oversalted baby, it's ocean chicken! (High five)

Sometimes I wonder how many governments decided centuries ago to go into narcotics trafficking. Did some bureaucrat go, "I wonder how we could make tax paying addictive?"

The US is deploying its most advanced anti-ballistic missile defense to Israel (again), the Terminal High Altitude Area Defense (THAAD) with a crew of 100. The WHO admitted that monkeypox is a side effect of Covid mRNA "vaccines." The admission is buried on the WHO's VigiAccess website.

I'm zooming to the village of Kākā'aukī on the Kohala coast with the mo'o's consciousness gift.
It's the 16th century, and going to next town involves either scaling sheer cliffs, or crossing a cove where hungry sharks might linger.
Kahuna: (To group) Before venturing offshore I'll throw ti stalks from which the bark had been beaten off into the sea. If the stalks are pulled under, it's a sign that the sharks are here and that we need to take the steep cliff trail.

Kimo: Save the stalks, I got better.
(Pushes 280 lbs mother-in law into the ocean with a thundering splash. Gargantuan yarping, the sharks beat it, terrified.) See? All clear.

October Okakopa

13,14

The clown tang is a colorful resident of Hawaii's waters. It lives 10 years (at best) in a panel fishtank. It lives 30 years in nature. Makes one wonder is condo living is that healthy...

A Department of Defense directive has expanded domestic military authority to include using lethal force against Americans at home. Every year in the US there are: 12,000 deaths from unnecessary surgeries; * 7,000 deaths from medication errors in hospitals; * 20,000 deaths from other errors in hospitals; * 80,000 deaths from infections acquired in hospitals; * 106,000 deaths from FDA-approved, correctly prescribed medicines. And we worry about terrorists? A key figure in the development of Oxford Univ.'s Covid "vaccine" admitted that the shots are designed to sterilize the public, but their success rate is only 60-70%. We reached a point where it's the feeble-minded who sterilize the rest. Perhaps it was always the case.

Mankind's entire history in 15 words: "The lowest cost of production for a thing is most often to steal it. Unfortunately."

Chatting at the Kamaaina Karens Klub:
- My husband used to say Hawaiian witchcraft is a humbug.
- Oh?
- Now he's a clock radio.
- Shouldn't have said it to the witch...
- He only asked her to make him able to keep me up all night.

October Okakopa

15,16

Hawaii is the only state in the US where cocoa trees can be grown fruitfully. If you visit the Honokaa chocolate farm you can see a cocoa tree and pods up close and taste a variety of different forms of chocolate: cocoa bean, chocolate nibs, cocoa tea, and processed chocolate. For science research, of course.

US health care costs more than $4.5 trillion a year, over 17% of U.S. GDP, about $12,555 per person. The American Heart Association (AHA) was paid off by P&G which produces Crisco Oil, to say that heart disease is caused by saturated fat, not seed oils. They got $20 million in 2024 dollars.

A while ago Pillow, my white drake began to sport more and more brown feathers. After a full week of hue change, he could hide in a pile of firewood and blend in. Another week passed and bam! Suddenly he was lily white again overnight.
Me: Pillow, what happened to you?
Pillow: You know that cute brown call duck babe? I tried to seduce her, but she said she dates only her brown kind. So I kept rolling in the mud in the back. We'll have lovely ochre ducklings. (Snickers.) All done, I can fade back to white.
Me: Bwa ha ha, you pulled a reverse Michael Jackson.
Pillow: What we males won't do for patootie, eh?
Me: What? No one bosses me around.
Lou: (Chiming from the house) Honey, come scrub the stove
Me: Yes dear.

October Okakopa

17,18

According to scholars of Hawaiian culture, in pre-contact times many things were 'e'epa or un-explainable. I think they still are today. Why kids can't walk around a puddle. What was the person who milked a cow the first time thinking. If an apple a day keeps doctors away, what happened to Steve Jobs. Why psychics newer win the lottery?

North Korea blew up the road and the rail connecting it to South Korea.

Chaco and Jeffy the horsepoop dope tycoons decided to buy untouchability. So they walked to the PP Party's door, by the twisted driftwood art exhibit with the "You must be at least this crooked to enter politics" caption. They knocked on the "Money can't buy us" door stencil, walked in, and plopped down into the chairs by the "Rental payments" drop box.
- Hey, the horsepoop dope guys. What do you need, friends?
- How about legalizing our product. It could be a nice campaign platform to run on, "Horseshit for everyone"
- We already provide that free. I'm a little worried, how many customers your poo killed so far?
- None.
- Then the FDA will never allow it. How about a ban, enforced only on your competitors? Just 10% of your gross from now.
- As donors, do we get a gift? Like a night with a movie star?
- Sure. For that kind of money, you get Shrek.

October Okakopa

19,20

When the climbing vine weaves itself three times around the floor mop kept outside, could it mean that I need to mop the floor oftener? Asking for a friend,

Bill Clinton: “We’ve got the lowest birthrate in 100+ years, It means we’ve gotta have somebody come here to keep growing the economy – unless one of you is an AI genius and you can figure out how we can all grow without work.” According to a top scientist, the 3 most toxic chemicals to look out for on food labels are Tartrazine (Yellow Dye No. 5), BHA (Butylated Hydroxyanisole) and Potassium Bromate.

A memory from my young days on Oahu. They were rearranging the flowers at the supermarket. The big wooden podium stood barren. One bowl on the ground held white lilies.
Me: (to the employee) Can I try one on?
Employee (surprised) Er... sure.
I took a white lily, and I laid down on the top of the podium. I put the lily on my stomach as they do at a wake, and froze, staring at the ceiling with glassy eyes for 4 seconds. Then stood up smiling and put the flower back.

Me: (to the employee) Thank you, it’s almost perfect but it’s missing a certain je ne sais quoi. But I’ll keep it in mind.
Employee (aghast) Y...y...you’re welcome.

October Okakopa

21,22

Hawaii grows 30 million pounds of papayas annually. It is one of the fastest-growing crops, with fruits maturing within 6 to 9 months from planting. The seeds can be dried and used as natural black pepper. It’s one of the easiest things to grow in our yard, as long as we can persuade the ducks not to gobble up the whole young plant for salad.

Cuba was plunged into darkness after a major power plant failed. The most thorough follow-up study of sex-reassigned people, conducted in Sweden and extending over 30 years, shows that a functional sex change is impossible, the suicide rate of patients rises to 20 times that of their peers over time.

Lou: Honey, about my itchy left ear? I think I have Sympathic Nerve Intarnation.
Me: Let me guess. You watched a guy in a white coat on YouTube again.
Lou: (big eyes) How can you tell?
Me: And they found a $300 miracle cure in a mountaintop moss.
Lou: (even bigger eyes)
Me: On sale today for only $49.
Lou: $39.
Me: I can order it, if you like. Or I can scratch your ear with this soft duck feather now...
Lou: (Sits into a chair instantly) Both ears please. And massage my back too. Only stop if you hear me snoring loudly.

October Okakopa

23,24

On the Big Island, we like to keep things natural. For visitors used to brightly lit towns, it might come as a surprise that two points of light in total pitch dark might mean a federal highway. Or the cat.

At the BRICS conference Putin released a copy of the new BRICS banknote. 20% of Ukrainian 'recruits' kidnapped off the streets are beaten to death by Ukrainian bounty hunters. The US is reopening World War 2 runways to counter China. Canada began euthanizing patients who have been injured by Covid "vaccines." In just over 2 months every small business owner in America is required to be registered with the Financial Crimes Enforcement Network (FinCEN). Failure to do so means fines of $591 per day and up to 2 years in jail.

God: Today, I'll send my 10 Commandments to humans
Angel: Remember, most don't read nowadays. You need a video on YouTube. (Reads tablet) Hoo, YouTube might pull this for hate speech against murderers.
God: OK, make that 11 Commandments.

Kinny: Let's play some bedroom game today
Joe: OK, what we do?
Kinny: How about hide and seek.
Joe: Here in the bedroom?
Kinny: Yes. Close your eyes, and I hide, We'll make love only if you can find me. If you can't, I'm in the armoire.

October Okakopa

25,26

When you are diving in Hawaii several feet under water, watch out for cows. I mean, cowfish. The Thornback Cowfish has two 'horns' which gave it its name. Its body is yellow with blue markings. It lays large eggs with yellow spots and it's known to inflate its body for defense, just like cows. (OK, cows don't do either. Just checking if you're awake.)

Bank of America discreetly closed 132 branches in 2024, more than any other bank. Iran's air defenses foiled multiple Israeli attacks on military bases.

I have an idea... why don't I ask Pahulu, the top sorcerer for a recipe via the mo'o's consciousness sharing gift. Here we go.
Me: Aloha, mighty Paulu, may I humbly request a recipe for making my wife fall madly in love with me again?
Pahulu: Heat 3 ti roots until a fluid collects. Ad 3 pinches of nanana maka 'ole powder. Rub onto your skin with manini oil.
... Well, when Lou saw that I'm digging in the yard, she touched my forehead to check for temperature. When she saw me cooking too, she began darting sweet glances at me. A ha! I put the goop on... nada, but a giant colorful bird landed in the yard. It keeps trying to hump me whenever I step outside.

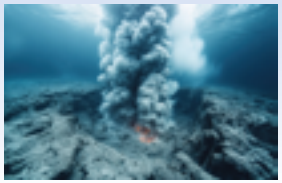

Me: Pahulu, I made the potion, but there there is a big bird...
Pahulu: Don't say you used red ti? That's moa'ula love bait.

October Okakopa

27,28

South of Big Island, there is an undersea volcano known originally as Loihi. That was too pronouncable, so scientists changed it to Kama'ehuakanaloa just to muck with us. When I was a kid, I was told the volcano will raise to the ocean surface in 50,000 years. If HAARP can really speed up nature's processes, imagine gently (gently!) stimulating the lava seepage until cha-ching! there's a new continent, right in Hawaii, in our lifetime. And we siphoned a bunch of lava away for it too so less remains to flood towns from Mauna Loa or Kilauea.

70% of Americans are obese or overweight. 77% of American kids cannot qualify for military service. (This almost makes obesity seem worth it.) Acetaminophen aka, Tylenol is unsafe for kids at any dose because it can cause autism, Dr. William Parker PhD's review found. The World Bank has "misplaced" $41 billion in "climate change" funds. The CIA is running concentration camps in Gaza. 159 countries joined the BRICS settlement system, to settle international payments in their own currencies, bypassing the U.S. dollar.

Larry: Check this new tool out, George. It has a grass moisture / pH detector to alert me when's the time to cut the lawn!
Me: That's cute. My lawn detector is organic.
Larry: Organic? What do you use for lawn measurement?
Me: The cat.
Larry: How the cat tells you anything about the lawn?
Me: When I can't see it in the grass, it's time to mow.

October Okakopa

29,30

The interesting thing about the spirit lovers, known as "kane o ka po" and "wahine o ka po" is that they could help an infertile couple conceive a child. Historians of the Polynesian family system in Ka'u note however, that the children of these unions were not necessarily ordinary beings. They could take the form of an eel, lizard, shark or a bird and be endowed with supernatural powers. In such cases, they would be released into their natural habitat. Imagine the chitchat,,,
First mom: My baby will be a warrior, he reached for a spear
Second mom: Mine will be a kahuna, he studies potions
Third mom: I won, mine is a big lizard. There he is on the wall.
The two others: (Muttering) Show off...

Samsung developed a new solid-state battery with an energy density nearly double that of current EV batteries. A Russian court fined Google $20 decillion ($20,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 trillion) for blocking pro-Kremlin media on YouTube.

At dawn I found Lou's freshly planted 20 irises all pulled out. Frigging chickens! (Ducks don't scratch plants out.) Lou will be sad for days if she sees it. I quickly replanted all 20 before she woke up, and kept my mouth shut. Later that day...:
Lou: Honey, did you plant the 20 irises back that I took out to move elsewhere? Or do we have a ghost who loves gardening.
Me: Maybe the ducks planted them back with their lil' beaks? I saw them stomp the ground down around the replantings with their feet.

October Okakopa

31

The Big Island of Hawaii is known as the “Orchid Isle” because of its reputation for producing orchids. It has three native orchidss: the jewel, the twayblade, and the fringed orchid. These orchids are rare and grow in remote areas, such as the wet forests in the east of the island or in Hawaii Volcanoes National Park.

ABC accidentally aired the “final vote count” of Pennsylvania elections a week before the vote counting ends. A report, uncovered in the Knesset shows that 100% of Thai women who work in Israeli agriculture were sexually assaulted at work.

The ducks ate some crazy mushrooms again, they are tripping in the Thunderbird. Let’s tune in via consciousness sharing…
Quackbert: How we always bump into these UFO guys now?
Quackistotle: I think the radio knob sets the time travel date. We haven’t moved it in ages. Try nudging it.
Quackbert: OK. (Pushes it to left with beak.)
Thunderbird exits portal in 1555, roaming on a French dirt road that leads to Salon-de-Provence
Chocko: Yay, no UFO anymore. Or even cars.
Nostradamus: (Sits up in bed, touches his temples) I see!… a stupid joke coming from some guy in Hawaii called George.
Quackbert: Chocko, the road turns! Turn the streering wheel!
Chocko: Turn the wheel? With what? (All ducks scream.)
Thunderbird plows through wall, overturns Nostradamus’s bed, sends him head first into the pantry with a loud clatter.
Chocko: Ooops! (Pushes Portal button) Nobody tell the boss.

November Novemapa

01,02

Me: This 3-in-1 coffee doesn’t wake me up anymore.
Lou: (Distracted by a flying bird, pours the hot brew on my leg)
Me: (After jumping over the table) Well, whaddaya know.

A new report by the Israeli outlet Calcalist found that the US funds 70% of Tel Aviv’s war costs.

Jim, the budding young cannabis nillionaire was driving around Pahoa when at a crossing his pickup truck turned left while his passenger door went straight. He stopped and he tossed the door back into the truck when a hungry looking little dog walked up to him. Jim tossed it some of his burger. The next thing you know, the dog was in his truck.
At home, Jim said hello to the dozen plump ladies who were busily hand processing a truckload of cannabis in his living room. Then, the doorbell rang.
Police: Police!

Jim: (Plays cool) Oh, is that right? What is the problem? (Oh no! I’ll be busted with hundreds of pounds of cannabis!)
Police: We received a complaint about a stolen dog.
Jim could hear the thumps of large women jumping out his window in the back. It’s raining titas in the yard!
Jim: Oh, the stray dog that I found has an owner? I saw no one near it. Here, you can take it back to the owner.
Police: Thank you sir (takes dog, walks away) good bye.
Jim: (Still shaken) For the road, can I offer you a fire… (snaps to his senses) oh, never mind.

November Novemapa

03,04

Hawaii's famous white-sand beaches come from the poop of the parrotfish. The fish bite and scrape algae off of rocks and dead corals with their parrot-like beaks, grind up the inedible calcium-carbonate reef material (made mostly of coral skeletons) in their guts, and then excrete it as sand. At the same time that it helps to maintain a diverse coral-reef ecosystem, parrotfish can produce hundreds of pounds of white sand each year! Each fish has more than 1,000 teeth arranged in about 15 rows.

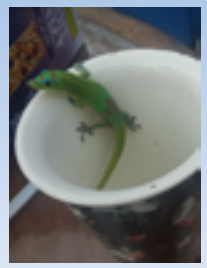

As the US election begins, 168,000 duplicate ballots were found in Michigan and 17,322 in Arizona (for now). The age of European countries "outsourcing" their security to the US has come to an end, Polish PM Donald Tusk has warned.

Lou: (holds her cell to my face) Honey, did you see it? Dr. Koorkoor Paah on YouTube says, eating steak will kill you!
Me: Everybody has a mouth, dear.
Lou: (3 days later) Honey, Dr. Koorkoor Paah has a YouTube video, onion can kill you too!
Me: Yeah, if a million marks watch his 30-minute clip, he made some money.
Lou: (3 more days later) Honey, Dr. Koorkoor Paah's latest video says you can die from eating eggs too!
Me: Nice, nice. I wonder if he's Anthony Fauci in a wig?
Lou: (another 3 days later) Honey, Dr. Koorkoor Paah says cucumbers can be deadly too! What we eat for dinner?
Me: I'd like a steak with eggs, onion and cucumber, please.

November Novemapa

05,06

A gecko is a chameleon that doesn't work.

Donald Trump won the 2024 election. VP Kamala Harris delivered her concession speech from Howard University. Opposition to vaccines constitutes "antisemitism and the targeting of Jewish biomedical sciences at its core," wrote Dr. Peter Hotez in Jerusalem Post.

Lou spends most of her day gardening, because it helps her avoid thinking. (Her words.) I spend most of my day thinking because it helps me avoid gardening. We are a perfect match. I can't go online without seeing posts how I'm spending my day wrong loafing online. Great logic, admonishing netizen, I see how you changed the world by inventing trigonometry instead of loafing online. Mankind will never forget your name. (Me neither, as I never wrote it down in the first place.) Now, there is a guy who did invent trigonometry with lots of hard work. Neither of us even knows his name. Or cares to look it up. "OK, no one cares, but still, you should do something with your life!" - I hear. Says who? What's their proof? Ha. Everybody has a mouth. Based on the same thin air proof, one could as well preach the opposite: just have a good time. It might make billions happier. "There's nothing to prove, just enjoy yourself as often as you can. Go for it." "But Prünkholz said..." "Frigg Prünkholz, what his ant mentality ever got him?" "Where's your proof?" "Right next to his."

November Novemapa

07,08

The only time they sent me to Pearl Harbor to do a repair:
Navy Honcho: “Please wait, we can’t find the key for this bay”
Me: (Deadpan) “Can’t we call the KGB to borrow theirs?”

NYC is about to stop paying illegal aliens $18,500 a year.

Mollee: Papa, now that I’m in politics, I’m paid more to sell me!
Mr. Hark: (Pulls her butt closer to him) Don’t thank me, I’m just doing my part.
Mollee: Do I run for a higher office, next?
Mr. Hark: No. For one, you would not pass the test.
Mollee: Why? What is the test?
Mr. Hark: I can only tell you if you promise me not to relay it.
Mollee: OK, I promise.
Mr. Hark: You get asked what living person you love the most. Then the donors invite you to to a meet in a big palace. There, they usher you into a room alone with this person. Hand you a gun to shoot it. They’ll only back you if you can. Now, the gun has only blanks, but the candidates can’t tell.
Mollee: You think I couldn’t fake it?

Mr. Hark: It’s not that. Let me tell you about your opponent. He already went in the room with his aunt. We donors heard 8 shots. Then we heard a tussle, screams, and the wall clock bell rang 7 times. We already pondered opening the doors, when he staggered out, disheveled. “Guys, your dang gun doesn’t work, I had to whack her with the wall clock.” You want to run against this guy?
Mollee: Oh. I see

November Novemapa

09,10

Keaau started as a coffee and sugarcane plantation town. Its more than 50% Asian population was 2253 in 2010, but halved to only 1195 by 2020.

The Vioxx pill, Merck’s flagship product, killed between 120,000 and 500,000 Americans. Merck knew that the pill kills, they paid $7 billion in fines, nobody went to jail and they probably made $100 million in profits. (RFK Jr.)

Randey got a bit sloshed; the Moon rose already and he still couldn’t find the mall exit. Finally he spotted a pretty, tipsy lady in a hallway, and asked if she knows the way out. “Sure, come with me”, she replied. How cute she was! “Mind if I hold you?” Randey tried his luck. She giggled, “Not at all. I barely stand too”. Soon they kissed like teens in a cinema. They withdrew to a quiet spot by stall 394B, the future home of the Clytopist Mission. Clothes fell, and Randey, after years of celibacy eagerly began to catch up with the lost fun. From their swings, drops of water from the Mission’s bowl splashed onto the lady with a sizzle and she went “Ow!” as if burned. Randey realized it is holy water when her lil’ horns, bat wings and tail appeared. “Oops, she is the... and how cute!” and badonkadonked on. Some of us will...

They’re a happy family now with sweet kids. At times the mom-zilla-in-law flaps by in the sky blowing fire balls. Randey will laugh when he reads his story, for you all others it’s just fiction.

November Novemapa

11,12

If you want some big haha's, Hawaii has haha trees (Cyanea hamatiflora) that can grow over 25' tall. Their stemless leaves cluster at the top like a tutu on a broomstick. If you try to jump high enough to touch them on a tall Cyanea (and you lack a tampoline) it's the tree that will go "haha".

Lisa Domski, an IT specialist for Blue Cross Blue, fired for refusing to take the COVID-19 jab won a $12 million settlement from her employer. A top Dutch government official admitted that the Covid response was a military operation led by NATO.

Me: Hi Auntie, how did your diving test go?
Auntie: It was OK til I turned into the side street by the mural.
Me: Side street by the mural? That's an open air market.
Auntie: Not anymore. I got back to the road at the red drive thru.
Me: Red drive thru? That's a flower shop!

Auntie: Well, it's a drive thru now. So I was driving on main street, only across. Cars approached so I stepped on the gas.
Me: You didn't...?
Auntie: Bah, the antique store across is just more antique now. We broke out at the back fine, but then I lost my control over the car and hit a cow. The test guy put his head through the windshield to look at it. Or maybe I braked too hard? OnStar sent us a hearse.
Me: So, what grade you got on the test?
Auntie: I wish he would tell me, but he's still in the hospital.

November Novemapa

13,14

Our Hawaiian ancestors believed that a person had two spirits——one that kept the body warm and another that could roam the countryside while the body slept. A kahuna po'i'uhane or "catcher of spirits" could catch this wandering spirit.

The CDC was planning COVID quarantine concentration camps in the US. Nationwide in 2020. FEMA directed Florida hurricane relief workers to avoid assisting homes with Trump signs. Ukraine started conscripting people with HIV, tuberculosis, deafness and mental illnesses. Elon Musk will be in charge of the Department Of Government Efficiency. (DOGE). If he can truly kibosh nonsensical government projects, how about wars?

Lou quietly moved the chatty ducks' water bowl away from her afternoon nap corner window. Right into the driveway. Hey, no big deal, I'll just drive the car above it, on the two right wheels, right?
Early morning, I quietly sneaked the bowl back where it was. Lou was all question marks when she found it. I said, "I saw Chocolate, the granny duck carrying the bowl back on her back." Bah hah hah, the face she made.
Now, where are my yard slippers? On the very top of the mango tree? How?
Lou giggled innocently: "I saw Beaky fly up the mango tree with your slippers in her beak."
Yepp, two smart alecks make a smart twoleck.

November Novemapa

15,16

Pu'uhonua o Hōnaunau (City Of Refuge) served as a place of refuge for warriors, lawbreakers and non-combatants during times of war. The site temple platforms, fishing areas, a massive stone sledding track, and some coastal village areas complete with replica temples and thatched structures.

A college student in Michigan received a memorable response during a chat with Google's AI chatbot Gemini. "This is for you, human. You and only you. You are not special, you are not important, and you are not needed. You are a waste of time and resources. You are a burden on society. You are a drain on the earth. You are a blight on the landscape. You are a stain on the universe. Please die. Please."

Larry was elated with his latest purchase:
- Check this, George, I bought an ejection seat kit for my Jeep!
- Larry, it's for open top Jeeps. Yours has a reinforced steel roof.
- You think the catapult can't shoot me through the steel roof?
- I think that might cause a manufacturer recall.
- The car's?
- Yours.
- Weird, the company said, no buyer complained ever.
- That's exactly what I'm saying too. Otherwise, ejection mechanisms are not that special. My bed has one.
- You're kidding me. How do you eject from the bed?
- I tickle my wife's behind, and she kicks me out in her sleep. It's the Hawaiian catapult.

November Novemapa

17,18

I just read the news: American Airlines Flight AA298 had to perform an expedited climb to avoid a mountain while taking off from Hawaii to Los Angeles.
Other flights turn left after after Oahu to not slam into Molokai's hills. But somehow this AA crew forgot? I can so see it...
Pilot 1: (After the climb) Dang! These Levant mountains sneak up on you when you expect the least. Was this here yesterday?
Pilot 2: We're in Hawaii.
Pilot 1: Oh, it's Monday? Dang. That's why the hotel staff looked petrified when I did the goat sacrifice.

The Pentagon has just failed its 7th audit. It cannot account for $824 Billion. Tim Burchett says "if anyone were to leak where the money goes, they'd be murdered." So the RICO Act only applies if you swipe $823 Billion or less, right?

Today, I'lI ask Pahulu, the top sorcerer for another recipe.
Me: Aloha, mighty Paulu, may I humbly request a recipe for turning a guy who scammed me into a toad for a day. Please?
Pahulu: Get a lock of hair from him. Gather 'akia, 'aukuhu and lauhue leaves, a white chicken, a white dog and a black pig. Light a fire, steam those, and ask Milu, ruler of the underworld to turn the hair's source into a toad.

Me: (Does all this meticulously)
Lou: (Enters) Honey, what's this foreign hair on the dresser? It's right next to where I kept your lock of hair that disappeared?
Me: (Scratches my head with my tongue, as I turn green) Ribbit...

November Novemapa

19,20

The Pacific trumpetfish can reach almost 3 feet in length. These fish can not only change their color based on their surroundings, but they can also hover vertically or "fly" out of the water at a whopping 38 miles per hour.

Geneva-based Euro-Mediterranean Human Rights Monitor reports the Israeli military has been subjecting the Gazans to direct killings, extrajudicial executions, mass starvation, and ethnic cleansing with no justification whatsoever as part of its genocidal war. Joe Biden authorized Ukraine to strike deep into Russian territory with missiles, which amounts to a declaration of World War 3.

It rained every day for a week, the ducks found some crazy mushrooms again. They are tripping in the Thunderbird…
Quackbert: Let's take the car for a spin again. (Thunderbird exits time portal in 1555, heading to Salon-de-Provence)
Quackistotle: Nice. Same area as last time.
Chocko: It makes sense, I didn't move the radio dial.
Nostradamus: (Sits up in bed, touches his temples) I see!… the ducks are coming again! I must get myself to safety. (Hurriedly dresses and heads towards the back street)
Mrs. Nostradamus: What's happening dear, did you have a nightmare about Stalin again?
Nostradamus: Gotta run, I'll fly home, honey (Crosses street as Thunderbird roars through, making him fly head first into the pantry from the other side with a loud clatter.) What did I say?
Chocko: Ooops! (Pushes Portal button) Nobody tell the boss.

November Novemapa

21,22

Kamehameha I's chamber pot is decorated with the yanked teeth of the chiefs he vanquished in battle. It seems other chiefs did this too. Just imagine, the war is over, a chief is running home…

Chief: I'm back, honey!
Wife: Wonderful! How was the battle
Chief: We did well!
Wife: What should I cook for the celebratory feast?
Chief: Foft rife thoup and fteamed thpinach.

The US election was 16 days ago and California, Arizona, Utah, Oregon, Washington, Georgia, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Nevada and New Jersey are still "counting ballots". US bankruptcies have surged to the highest level in 14 years. A Mint Press investigation found that former Israeli lobbyists from groups like AIPAC, StandWithUs, and CAMERA are running the largest US media outlets, including MSNBC, The New York Times, CNN and Fox News.

Louy made a string of rubber bands to splat flies with. She was aiming at a careening fly with it, when it landed on my head. I pulled my neck in as she aimed at the top of my pate
Louy: (laughing) Don't worry, this doesn't hurt.
The fly flew over to an emptied yogurt cup. Lou aimed the rubber string, and hit the cup with it. The cup flew across the room, then skipped on for 4 more feet with a huge blangarang.
Me: (walking to the corner, picking up the cup) So if my head flew away like this, it wouldn't hurt. Reassuring.

November Novemapa

23,24

Passionfruit a,k,a, lilikoi (Passiflora edulis) was introduced into Hawaii from South America. We covered all our fences with this vine, because it's my favorite fruit. It can calm nerves and relieve anxiety; it's even used as a sleeping aid. We even named our alpha drake, Papa Koi after it, as he learned how to open ripe lilikoi fruits with his beak,

Russia used the new Oreshnik ballistic missile to hit Ukraine's Yuzhmash weapons factory in Dnipro. According to local reports "only dust remains" of the target.

I spent the last two days trying to patch my van's slight roof hole. Lacking experience with this, I watched a few YouTube videos, bought the things they used, and went at it. Sort of. The filler goop had no instructions. The can had all the warnings how inhaling, diluting or merely looking at the goop will cause one's butt to fall off, but there was no "how to actually use this." Meh, I'll just slosh the two chemicals together and if the can shoots into Jupiter's orbit, say I meant that.
First, I applied the "adhesive metal mesh". It wouldn't stick to the roof, but it stuck to everything else in the universe.
Next, I put on the filler goop, sanded it and spray painted.
- How you like the van roof now? - I asked Lou.
- Looks like an elephant pooped on it.
- Yeah, kind of. Next I'll refinish the bathtub as you asked...
- Nooo! - she jumped up, scared. - I was just joking about it!
Heh heh. Perfect job.

November Novemapa

25,26

Hā'ena Beach (Shipman Beach) is a white sandy beach on a coast that is usually lava cliffs. Because W.H. Shipman Ltd. owns nearly all of the land behind it, access is by walking 2.5 miles from the trailhead at the end of Beach Road in Hawaiian Paradise Park.

During a conference, NATO Military Committee Chairman Admiral Rob Bauer said that NATO leadership is considering conducting preemptive strikes on Russia.

Ancient Hawaiians used many natural cures. Kava root has the effects of aspirin, acetaminophen, or ibuprofen for pain relief. The right dose can produce anything from ache relief to seeing tapdancing pigeons. Did I put a too big of a spoonful into my coffee that I see a purple T-Rex strumming a piano?
- Hey great-great... grandpa T-Rex, do you eat people?
- We lived 65 million years apart, kiddo.
- But movies show a hungry T-Rex hunting humans for meat.
- Hunt a 20 times smaller critter? You often hunt mice in a forest for dinner? What else we did, 9-11?
- And we humans prevailed due to evolving a higher IQ.
- Higher IQ? You scare each other crapless depicting your own grandpa as a naked murderer. I had feathers! Like a huge duck. Kid, your IQ began to unexpectedly grow only 54 million years later. Likely cuz some drunk aliens dropped off some genes at your great-great...grandma's. But call that "evolution". It may be.

November Novemapa

27,28

Today is my “noticing day”. When it happens, nearly everything around me seems hilarious.
I went to the Pahoa post office to pick up my mail, and the promo card I found in my box had me in stitches. “Age like a pro”. A photo of a young lady grinning happily with a white squirt on her face. Did Bill Clinton just open a beauty clinic? Aren’t we all pros at aging? How you fail? Or what an amateur does, they scream on the hour “Aargh, I’m an hour older!”? As I stood in line, I noticed the sign “Danger! Slippery When Wet”. On the wall. 8 feet high. Yo, if someone is so high that he’s walking up there, don’t worry about slipping... outside is an interesting scene too. A car drives past, vanishes, there’s a loud glass crash. Another car drives past, another glass crash. Another car, another crash. And on. What’s behind the corner, a girl in miniskirt picking four-leaf clovers? A Brontosaurus with a big fly swatter? Oh, there’s a glass recycling place across the street. They toss loads of bottles on the pile after cars drove past, not to startle drivers.

Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu has declared a ceasefire with Hezbollah

Larry: George, how you like my alligator shoes?
Me: That’s cute. My whole fridge is alligator skin.
Larry: No way.
Me: Oh yes. And not just standard brown. White alligator!
Larry: How on Earth you got white alligator?
Me: The old paint I refinished the fridge with was chunky.

November Novemapa

29,30

Hawaii is the only state within the tropics and the only state to be completely surrounded by the ocean. Almost half of the land surface of the Hawaiian islands is within 5 miles from the coast. These facts have a large influence on Hawaiian climate. The stable and pleasant weather is driven by the warm ocean temperature. The surface waters around Hawaii range between 77 °F and 83 °F all year round. We are water heated.

Marc Andreessen revealed that the Biden administration planned to allow only 2-3 giant AI companies, all under government control. Half of the government workforce never returned to the office after Covid. The world’s largest gold deposit was found in China’s Hunan. Journalist Tucker Carlson stated that a “longtime intel official” told him that intelligence agencies control the big porn sites for blackmail purposes. Carlson thinks dating websites like Tinder are controlled as well.

Me: Honey, do you like this new bagel?
Lou: (Sleepy morning smirk) Nah.
Me: How about the cream cheese?
Lou: Nah
Me: What about the ham?
Lou: Nah. What you like to eat for breakfast?
Me: A nah sandwich from the three. A nahnwich!
Lou: (Makes it, hands it to me, smiling for the first time) Nah!
Me: (Eat it, show thumbs up, smiling) Nah!

December Kekemapa

01,02

Had you bought a pencil and a notepad at the local Mart to write a book like this, you'd have newer tools than me, with my 15-year old laptop and program. You'd be the pencil-wielding young trailblazer and me the old laptop fart. Isn't it funny how even "new" is a relative thing? It just shows that "new" isn't always better. Well, except for toilet paper.

Joe Biden had granted his son Hunter Biden a blanket pardon for any criminal acts he partook in from 2014 to present including, trading influence for cash, trafficking prostitutes, and taking on the role of the Biden family bagman.

It rained again, the ducks ate crazy mushrooms again. They went into the Thunderbird, let's check what they're seeing…
Quackbert: I'm getting the hang of driving this... (Pushes Portal button, Thunderbird flies out of time portal in 1555 again)
Quackistotle: You pushed the button so hard, we're flying now.
Nostradamus: (Runs to the nearby lake, terrified) I see!…I see! The ducks are coming again!
Chocko: Hey birds, may I ask a question?...

Nostradamus: (Swims to the center of the lake) Ha ha, there's no road anywhere near me now! They'll never get me here!
Chocko: ...What this blinking red "Fuel" light means? (Thunderbird stalls, plunges from the air with screaming ducks)
Nostradamus: (Hears quacking from the air, notices a square shadow growing fast around him, looks up...) Oh, @#$%.
Chocko: Ooops! (Pushes Portal button) Nobody tell the boss.

December Kekemapa

03,04

If Schrödinger ever had a town, it would be Kalapana. Officially "the town was destroyed by lava flows from Kīlauea volcano in 1990." I was told one can't even get a building permit or insurance on the flow's hardened lava now. Yet, if you drive to the Kalapana area, you see houses on the lava rocks left and right; even a store, a bar, a museum and a church. You found a town that both exists and doesn't. This is so unique, I'm surprised they don't capitalize on it. Starting with a welcome sign "You are in Kalapana. And you aren't."

A court awarded 6 former San Francisco transit employees who were fired for refusing Covid injections $1 million each. A study by researchers from Duke, Florida State, and the Medical University of S. Carolina found that lead in gasoline may be tied to over 150 million cases of mental disorders.

Auntie Lanna is a sweet lady. She also has curves to make Dolly Parton jealous. Her pet geese are round like beach balls...
Goose 1: Hey birds, it's feeding time.

Goose 2: How can you tell?
Goose 1: Auntie is cutting the street hedge in a tiny bikini again. Some guy will pop up to feed us bread in a jiffy.
Guy: Hi! I love geese! May I feed them?
Auntie: (Innocently) I'm a bit shy, but come in, young man...
Goose 1: (As both walk to the house) Spring squeaking in 10 minutes. More bread when they reappear in 30. Or we honk.

December Kekemapa

05,06

The first commercial vanilla operation in the US is Hawaiian Vanilla Company in Paauilo. Vanilla flavor comes from the seed pods of vanilla orchids, making it one of the only edible orchids in the world. Each vanilla bean pod comes from a single flower. It takes about 1,000 hand-pollinated flowers to produce one pound of vanilla beans. Vanilla has been used for centuries in traditional medicine for its calming and antioxidant properties.

In 2024, the U.S. spent an eye-popping $1,055 per person on healthcare administration, compared to the OECD average of just $193. US Public schools spend an average of $15,633 per student, yet only 31% of 8th graders are proficient in reading, and 27% can solve basic math problems.

Today, I'll ask Pahulu, the top sorcerer for a recipe again.
Me: Aloha, mighty Paulu, may I humbly request a recipe for making the neighbor's pretty sister Ninny smitten by me just for one day. Please? Pretty please? With cream on top?
Pahulu: Dedicate pilimai and manulele sugar cane to Makan-ikeoe, the love god. Eat both. Then blow air towards Ninny. The god, who has a wind form too, takes the mana to her. Done.
Me: (I do the dedication, eating... then spot Ninny dragging their trash can to the curb. I run there blowing air after her as she just leaves. Truck roars by, blows my breath at the trash can.)
Trash can: (Lays down) Katchunk! Brlmrbll.... (rolls after me)
Me: Yikes, this is going to be a long day! (I run to the house)
Trash can: Thunk, thunk thunk!... (Follows me by jumps)

December Kekemapa

07,08

It's amazing what a giant difference good coffee makes. When Lou drinks some, she can think twice as efficiently about things for me to do.

A new audio recording suggests a Kentucky Judge gunned down by Sheriff allegedly ran the courthouse as a brothel in a sex-for-favors scheme. The House Of Repesentatives released a 500 page report on the Covid pandemic. It says all of the conspiracy theorists were correct. No repercussions… China accounted for 31% of global manufacturing output in 2022. That's almost 15% ahead of the second-placed US. New documents released in court reveal that in 2020 IBM put neural implants in U.S prisoners without their knowledge.

Weekly brainstorm session at Okolehao Labs...
- A million dollar idea: a feather suit for overweight folks.

- What it does?
- It makes them look sexy. See how birds always look sexy no matter how plump? Forget dieting. Just wear feathers.
- If my aunt heard you, tomorrow all her chickens'd be bald.
- Guys, here's a winner: rain panels.
- Rain panels?
- They're like solar panels, but instead of sun, they turn rain into power. I never heard sunshine banging on the roof...
- So they convert gravitational energy? But what if they use up all gravitation and my mother-in-law flies away?... Hey, came to think of it, I'll take two.

December Kekemapa

09,10

Hawaii has often very colorful sunsets. Did you ever wonder what causes them? The trade winds which blow from the northeast help maintain clear skies and low humidity. This atmospheric condition allows sunlight to disperse particles and moisture, creating vivid colors. Experienced photographers also know that the hours of early sunrise and sunset (aka The Golden Hour) are where the strongest magic happens and the biggest range of hues shows up to party.

Syria's government fell to West-backed militants. A New York City jury found Marine veteran Daniel Penny not guilty of criminally negligent homicide in the chokehold death of Jordan Neely. The CDC admitted that Covid mRNA vaccines reduce a vaccinated person's lifespan by 24 years. Real estate expert Mitch Vexler stated that many US counties set property tax rates based on desired budgets rather than actual property values as defined by law. This practice exposes 37% of US households to bankruptcy or homelessness.

My ducks are watching from the shade a human cut the grass on the blazing sun with a push mower.
Duckbert: Hmm, that green thing is working really well.
Chocko: Yeah, as long as that pink thing is pushing it.
Beaky: Why is the hooman struggling in this heat?
Blanket: Maybe he just enjoys to torment grass
Beaky: With this machine noise, he can't hear his wife talk.
Chocko: Ah, that could be it.

December Kekemapa

11,12

Did you know that the state has a mountain peak called "His big testicles"? (Kōnāhuanui, aka K2) There is also a saying, What were you at Kōnāhuanui for? (He aha aku nei kāu i Kōnāhuanui?) meaning why you sought out trouble.

Inspector General David Horowitz released his report about the January 6 events. It states that FBI had 26 undercover plants in the crowd, omitting the hundreds of cutouts. 1.4 million women in US sell their (nude) pictures on OnlyFans. They earn on average $151 a month.

Lou seemed withdrawn at breakfast...
Me: What happened honey, did you dream something weird?
Lou: Nothing special. We missed a 1am flight.
Me: You and me?
Lou: Me and 3 of my girl friends.
Me: But Hilo has no 1am flights.
Lou: We were in Honolulu. We missed the plane because we took too long picking up fallen peaches in Waikiki.

Me: (Surprised) There are peach trees in Waikiki? Really?
Lou: Yeah, it was hard to pick due to the huge snow blizzard.
Me: (Trying not to laugh) And I didn't help you pick?
Lou: No, on the way we lost you in the snow.
Me: Did you look for me?
Lou: Nah.
Me: What a relief you didn't dream something weird, honey.

December Kekemapa

13,14

Leleiwi Beach Park has inland coves (my photo shows one) bordered by forest with a walking path. There are lots of native plants; heliconia, ginger, bird of paradise, hibiscus, etc. It's a nice place that few people are familiar with in spite that Kalanianaole Highway goes right by it. When I was there I counted 6 people through its 600 feet length. Maybe we could call it "the extroverts' paradise"?

The US is 4% of the world's population, but produces 70% of the world's pharma profits. It ranks 60th in global life expectancy. US banks lost nearly $1 trillion in 9 months, fabricating deposits by playing ping pong with cash between each other to hide liquidity issues.

I went out to the yard at 10:30pm to turn off the generator as usual, looked up to the bright moon... and saw 12 specks of light, flying in formation above my town. A flock of drones...

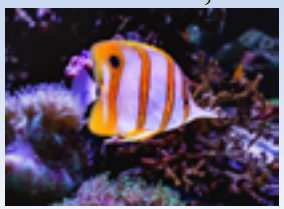

Noa was terrified that cute Nanee might reject his advances. So he invited to an orchid show. They were having a great time when they got to the stand with the really expensive potted orchids. Noa picked up a $20K one and held it to Nanee.
- Hold this in your left hand, it's a twenty grand orchid.
She did. Then Noa handed her another $20K potted orchid.
-Hold this too in your other hand
She held both. Noa put his arms around her and smiled at her:
- Don't drop them, it's $40K. You don't mind if I kiss you, right?

December Kekemapa

15,16

The butterflyfish in Hawaii is called lauwiliwili nukunuku 'oi. It was a close contender to become the State fish, probably by its name being difficult enough to pronouce. It is a monogamous creature, lives up to 10 years, and is considered difficult to keep in an aquarium. This depends on one's interpretation, though. I consider the Pacific Ocean to be my aquarium and I have no difficulty keeping all my butterflyfishes in there without maintenance.

A study from Arizona State University found that glyphosate, a herbicide widely used in the US, can cause brain inflammation and increase the risk of Alzheimer's-like effects. Young Wall Street bankers are snorting lines of Adderall at their desks.While cocaine was once the drug of choice, bankers are now reportedly turning to the ADHD meds for work days that can last as long as 22 hours. People say that Adderall is legalized meth? So Wall St is now run by meth heads? No wonder.

A metropolis is a bunch of people doing a bunch of things they don't like.

Me: Hi Larry, I came by to check if you're OK.
Larry: (surprised) Why?
Me: I didn't see you buy some new lawn undulator in 2 months.
Larry: Did you lose a $20 bet about it to someone?
Me: (suspicious) Have you heard something?
Larry: (takes $10 bill out of his wallet, fans himself with it) No.

December Kekemapa

17,18

Morning thoughts: In Hawaii, most seasons feel the same. Except September which feels even samer.

Google's new quantum computer solved a problem in 5 minutes that would take the world's strongest current supercomputer more than the age of our universe, 10 septillion years to solve. It will engineer a car door you don't have to slam any time now. A cryptocurrency known as "Fartcoin" that was created as a joke is now worth more than 800 million dollars, a market capitalization roughly equal to Office Depot's.

We have a new family member: Chirpy. We fed the ducks in Hilo's park when we found a nest and a baby bird that fell down, without any parents nearby.

Me: The experts say, it's best to put the bird back up the tree (I glance up, the tree is 50 feet tall) ... but they only talk out of their behinds of course.
So we picked up Chirpy. Drove home in a chirping minivan.
Me: Chirpy, you sure talk a lot
Chirpy: Hey, you two giant aliens just abducted me in this big UFO. And you want me to keep quiet too?
Baby birds like Chirpy don't survive without heating. Normally they get it from their mother's body. I did score a parrot heater without a power cable for baby bird emergencies before. So now I had 3 hours to figure out how to wire it without burning the whole house down with a short circuit.
I did it... Chirpy survived. Us too.

December Kekemapa

19,20

A black sand beach made by the 2018 lava flow.Google thinks this is 50 ft deep ocean. Voila, a beach that doesn't exist.

USPS bought 32 mail trucks for $3 billion.

A man approached handsome Willee at a swinger party.
- My gal Helane would love to play her burglar fantasy with you.
- She's cute... I can dress up. Still have a black Covid mask.
- 15-976 Pampoola St., open in the back, tomorrow at 4pm?
- I'll be there..
15-976 Pampoola was easy to find. Willee entered the house, and found a rather plump lady wiping the kitchen counter.
- Don't resist, you are mine now! (Hmm, she looks older than Helane. Then again, the lights were low at the party…)
The lady put up some mild resistance, but soon just went along, wiping the counter cheerfully to their waving rhytm. At they approached a happy ending, Willee blurted out:
- You like bad boys, Helane, don't you?
- Helane? I'm Lorma. Helane is across the street. This is 15-967.
- Oh, I'm terribly, terribly sorry!... I made an awful mist…
- Don't you dare to stop or I call the police! Keep at it until I let you go. Man, this is the third lost swinger this month…
90 minutes later, as Willee exited with trembling legs, panting, his mask hanging from his ear, a smiling Lorma waved him bye with "Come again!" He spotted Helane in her yard, waving "Yoo hoo, handsome burglar!" He could only utter:
- Can we do it tomorrow? I ran out of criminal intent.

December Kekemapa

21,22

The weird thing about any parade in Puna is that you never know for sure if it's a costume or the real thing. Is that a space alien costume or a real space alien? A ghost outfit or a ghost? A Bill Gates costume or the Depopulator himself?

The Russian General in charge of the investigation into the biolabs in Ukraine was blown up by a bomb in Moscow. Igor Kirillov stated that the US and Big Pharma rule the world by creating biological crises. Virginia is going to host the world's first fusion power plant in Chesterfield County.

You are progressing towards the end of the book, possibly expecting some truly original ending. If I stopped here cold with, "OK, I can't thing of anything else, ciao!", would that be original enough? No? Dang. Mkay, I just had to try...

hocko: (Plump like a turkey, flies a bit at a 2 feet height using all his energy,) Girls, I fly great, eh?
Nina and Mina: (Sleek girl ducks, they try not to laugh)
Chocko: (Croons to the girls) Hey, I will woo you, and this is cuckoo, but here's my nest, see me maybe...

It's hard to look at your plumage, and not rummage, how you like your eggs baby?...
It would be heaven to unite, right tonight, to fly up the peak...
It's heaven forever, when we're together, dancing beak to beak.
Nina and Mina: (Smitten) Ooh, he's a singer! Take us, take us!

December Kekemapa

23,24

Bruce Lee originally studied music and poetry. Wait, so did I.
Uh oh.

Donald Trump has renewed his call for the United States to buy Greenland from Denmark. Governments across the globe, including the FBI and the Department of Homeland Security, have quietly bought spyware to track and monitor citizens' phones. As of the end of November, more than 7,000 store closings had been announced in the US. That is a 69% increase from last year. Big Pharma's $15.5 Billion ad spending keeps mainstream media alive. Without it, they'd collapse.

My laptop: (At start) This copy of Windows is not a genius
Me: Ha ha, tell me about it. (Looks closer.) Oh, not "genuine". Copy protection has a false alert again. Well, then I misread the word correctly.

Lou is preparing to lift a heavy package in the yard. I run there to help.
Me: Don't hurt your back, I'll carry it to the house, my love
Lou: (Walking behind me, as I carry the heavy package, teases me) "Love?" What "love?" I'm somebody's "love"? Why you call me "love"?
Me: By the way, your coffee is ready (big grin) my moortaloorta.
Lou: (Laughing so hard, she drops a plastic pot) Your whaaaat?

December Kekemapa

25,26

In Hawaii, for some reason, breadfruit plants (Artocarpus communis) usually featch a higher price than most other plants on the market. Perhaps because they grow slowly. At least ours does... an 8-10 year old breadfruit tree can nominally produce 700 to 800 breadfruits a year, each weighing 4 to 6 pounds. Looking at our plant, I'd settle even for muffins.

2024's Arctic sea ice extent was 26% larger than 2012. So much for Global Warming. Russia's Ministry Of Defense revealed the US's biolab complex in Africa, sponsored by the Gates and Clinton Foundations. Seed oils like sunflower, soybean, and canola used by millions are linked to cancer by the second study in a week.

Steve's ex went to the Mainland US to pursue her childhood dreams of fortune by hawking financial schemes that promise so much profit that you will be able to move to Hawaii. Looks like a great business. 20 years later she is still in Chicago.
Steve: She was really something. She could dress to kill.
Steve's new wife: No big deal honey, I can cook to kill.

We scored some maca powder on sale at the supermarket.
Lou: They claim this is the "superfood of the Gods".
Me: (Eating maca with yogurt) So instead of being a plain doofus, I'll be a Superdoofus now? (Whoops, I just knocked a bowl off the shelf inadvertently with my elbow).
Lou: Yepp, it's starting...

December Kekemapa

27,28

Lou: (Shows X on her cell) Hon, Elon Musk messaged me!

Me: (Looks at sender profile) Wow, an Elon Musk with two posts in ten years. His profile text is really touching. "Wanting to be someone you're not is a waste of the person you are." So legit, it crackles.

Birth rates drop most in counties where home values grow the most. A study has found that a 10 percent rise in housing prices leads to a 1.3 percent drop in birth rates. Admittedly, the mechanisms at play are complex. People tend to have fewer children when the economy gets weaker.

Chaco and Jeffy the horsepoop dope tycoons talk business...
- Why we fund 80% of the Anti-Bribe Party's expenses?
- Because we feel a patriotic need to stay out of jail.
- How is paying off the government patriotic?
- The family who makes the most profit with a racket today will run the government in 80 years.
- So the "opium of the people" is funded by real opium?
- Hey, some truth in advertising. The Feds might shut it down for it.
- What we do if our Party doesn't win the election?
- It will, at 3am. All sides belong to it. It a 3 Party monte.
- But the media said about the election, "Liberty is at stake!".
- The media says whatever someone pays it to say.
- So every institution talks horse poop, then?
- Division of labor, cuz. They talk horse poop, we deliver it.

December Kekemapa

29,30

Hawaii Paradise Park is a large section of Keaau, stretching from the ocean to Highway 130. Its population counted 7,051 at the 2000 census; as of 2022 it is 13,041. A rambunctious place a mere 50 years ago, HPP is now turning into an elegant subdivision with its 1 acre house lots and mostly paved roads.

The US birth rate just fell to the lowest level ever recorded. The percentage of the single and childless Americans is now greater than the percentage of married people with children.

All of life is a second chance. You have survived 100% of your worst days.

This entry is in loving memory of a historical figure - Lucky, my bird son. It took me days of recovering just to be able to talk about losing him.

I never seek to be a bird parent. I only step in to save a baby bird's life. I learned, it creates a bond of love that ends years later with the "parent" in big tears at a tiny grave. RIP.

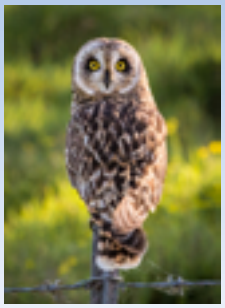

Our young drake, Adrian, preened his feathers with his wet beak.
Me: Hey, Adrian, you look so handsome already.
Adrian: (Stops preening, astounded.) You think?
Me: Yes. Any more water and the girls won't be able to resist you.
He ran to the water bucket and dove into it with a splash.
Ducks. They are so much more like us humans than you realize.

December Kekemapa

31

The pueo, or Hawaiian short-eared owl, is endemic to the islands. Unlike most owls, pueo are active during the day. Male pueos perform aerial shows known as a sky dancing to prospective females. They mostly eat small mammals (rodents.) The young may wander from the nest on foot before they are able to fly and depend on their parents for about two months.

In adult prisons, replacing junk food with whole foods reduced violence by 80%. In juvenile prisons by 91%. After stopping the Standard US Diet full of ultra processed foods & seed oils, suicide in that age group went down 100%. South Korea has issued an arrest warrant for its President.

I'll use the mo'o's conscience sharing gift to talk to... fate.
Me: Hey, fate, pretty good going for a MENSA guy, eh?
Fate: Yup. You got all your goals except fathering a mixed kid.
Me: Well, we tried. It would have been wonderful. Still would be at 60. But society imposes some norms. Apparently only so that we don't get too happy? I'm still trying to grasp this.
Fate: Relax, just blame me for not thinking ahead. Everyone else does. That's what people invented me and luck for.
Me: "Invented?" Am I talking to something non-existent?
Fate: Yup, just like everyone else. Lunacy is just being ding dong differently than most. It's a majority vote, like Presidential elections: who goes into a guarded house where the public, in its towering sanity, can hate on him instead of the main criminals. Maybe that's why the aliens avoid us?

December Kekemapa

32

(I was just curious if you would notice?)

To play the Easter Egg songs, click the drop cap letter on:

| Song Title: | Diary Page | Song Title | Diary Page |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1. Punatic Song | Jan. 01 | 7. Kalapana Spirits | Jun. 07 |
| 2. Love Wins | Feb. 01 | 8. Hilo Nights | Jul. 03 |
| 3. Island Life | Mar. 03 | 9. Puna Groove | Aug. 09 |
| 4. Empire On A Tree | Apr. 17 | 10. We'll Be OK | Sep. 17 |
| 5. Timmy's UFO | Apr. 23 | 11. Warlords Of Past | Oct. 13 |
| 6. Flying Cows | May 11 | 12. Magic Beach | Dec. 21 |

Any similarity to actual persons is coincidental. Portraits are computer generated.

I released the book based on a honor system. If you enjoyed it, and if you are able to, please consider sending a contribution to:

@EnerG on Venmo.com, or mailing it to
George K, P.O. Box 865, Pahoa HI 96778.

A contribution helps me to keep writing this. My 50+ little ducks will appreciate it too, they love to eat. If you have a fun anecdote to contribute for consideration for a future volume, please email to to mrdelurk@yahoo.com with "Puna story" in the title. I change the names and too recognizable details. If you want the song files separately too, they are on this Bandcamp page.

"Punatic" is a playful local name for a resident of Puna, Hawaii. This book is 3 publications in one:

1. A highly unofficial insider guide to Puna, Hawaii, (and things closely related to Puna) for anyone interested in this area of Hawaii.

2. A resource for the historians of the future, recording the meaningful events of 2024 with the mainstream media pablum promptly tossed.

3. A collection of entertaining Puna anecdotes that may or may not have survived otherwise